<sup>6</sup> 5. To recover by diligence fomething loft by our own floth. Eph. 5. 16. Redeem the time. It is a Metaphor or Speech borrowed from worldly Merchants, who diligently obferve their occasions and seasons, buying their Commodities whilst the Mart and Market holdeth, preferring a little gain before great Delights and Delicacies: So godly Christians (like wife Merchants) do prefer a little increase in godlines, before all worldly Profits and Pleasures. Contrary to this redeeming of the time it is to let time and opportunities flip and flide away, either without doing any thing (like Unthrifts ) or not doing our own things, but the things of other men (like busie-bodies.) Whereas provident men will not let flip feafons, though it be with some loss. This Phrase also signifieth to gain time by wasting it till occasions be paft. Dan. 2.8.

Scripture speaks of a two-fold Redemption or Deliverance. One whereby the Elect of God are freed from Bondage of Sin and Death by the Price of Christs Blood payed to the righteous Judgment of God; hercof Paul in Eph 1. 7. Another whereby the same Elect are put in full possession of their Redemption at the last and great day, when they shall be wholly freed from all remainder of Sin and Corruption of the Grave. The former Redemption is past, as toucking the actual payment of the Ransom, and the unperfect application of it here unto Believers; the latter being to come ' is yet hoped for, and when it cometh it shall be the con-6 fummation of the former. 'Beformarion | Framing again, or bringing back of persons and things disordered and out of course unto their first form and flate wherein they were fet, either by Gods Creation, or Institution, and Ordinance. Psal. 50. 17. Seeing thou hatest to be reformed. Heb. 9. 10. until the time of reformation. This time of reformation ( or correction ) is the time when legal Ceremonies and shadows were to cease and fade; it took the beginning upon Christ his first shewing himself in the flesh, and had further progress by his Death and Resurrection. but through perfection, when he ascended to Heaven, which was the confummation of the Old Testament, and the full initiation of the New.

"Beformation Direction, leading aright, ( not by windings and turnings, as under the Law ) and directly to Chrift the mark and scope of our Faith, Heb. 9. 10. Until the time of reformation. That is, of Christs coming, who should and did reform the carnal Rites or Ceremonies, and Services of the Law by fulfilling them; exhibiting the truth and those spiritual Bleffings typified and fignified by them; and by instituting a more simple and spiritual worship. This is that which is meant when God promifes to create new Heavens and a new Earth, Ifa. 65. 17. and when St. Paul faith, all things are made new, 2 Cor. 5. 17. Annot.

Greek, the time of correction; that is, the time of Christs rerealing, who was the Body of all these Shadows. Leighs An-

Of Correction, not as if any thing were amis, simply evil in the Ceremonial Law. A reformation, properly to speak, is of Abuses: there was no fault, no abuses in the Law it self, it was a good and holy thing for the time: but it is faid to be reformed by Christ, because he did persed that which was wanting in the ceremonial Law: He actually introduced the Justification and Sanctification of the Faithful, which the Ceremonial Law could not effect, of and by it felf. And it may be termed the time of Reformation, because Christ abolished those old Ceremonies and Sacrifices, and brought better in their room, namely the Sacrifice of his own Eody once offered, which was a thousand times more effectual for the Redemption of mankind than all the Sacrifices of the Law. The Gospel is a time of Reformatton; and shall we our selves remain unreformed ? Jones.

Regeneration is commonly put and used by Divines, for Sanctification and Renovation; and then it imports and fignifies as much as the Reformation of a man, which confiits in the Mortification of Sin, and Newness of Life. Whereas if we speak exactly, and as the thing is, this renewing of our Nature is but an effect and fruit of our Regeneration, which properly is our incorporation and ingraffing into Jefus Christ by Faith, whereby we have our Spiritual Being of Children in the Kingdom of Grace, as by carnal generation we have natural being in the Kingdom of this World. See Joh. 1. 12, 13, 14. Regeneration may therefore thus be Bemission | Heb. 9. 22. And without shedding of blood is no remission. If Christs blood had not been shed for us we could never have had remission of Sins. Then how are we beholding to the Lord Jesus; And as by Christ alone we have the forgiveness of our fins, which all the Sacrifices in the Law could not purchase, nor any thing that we can do under the Gospel: Solet the love of Christ in dying for our Sins, cause us to dye to Sin daily more and more: And as he in wonderful love offered up himself as a Sacrifice for the putting away of our fins; fo let us offer up our felves, our Souls and Bodies. as a holy, living, and acceptable Sacrifice to him all the day of our lives; that the power of Christs Passion appearing in us in this World, we may reign with him in the World to come.

Remission of fins is sometimes in Scripture placed after Ree pentance, as Luk. 24. 47. Act. 3. 19. & 26. 18. because it followeth not in nature but in our fense. For we first feel in 'us a contrite heart, afflicted with grief for the offence of 'God, and then are erected and comforted with the sense of Gods merciful Pardon by Christ. Secondly, because Repentance must be taught before Remission of fins, which men thirst not for, nor eagerly defire it till their hearts be penitent and wounded with the sense of fin, Act. 2. 37. And this is e reason also why Repentance is sometime mentioned before ' Faith ( the Root and Fountain of Repentance ) namely, for that the preaching of the Law goeth before to humble Sinners; and prepare them to the defire of Grace and to Repentance, Mar. 1. 15.

This person was after worshipped as a God, for having preserved Agypt, and accordingly placed among the Stahs, and so the Image of one of the Planets here called acros, a Star, fet to fignifie him. This Star it seems was Saturn, for so an old Agyptian Alphabet which sets down the Names of the Plants, for Saturn hath Pipager, Pipager. To be of a contrite and humble spirit, Ifa. 57. 15. not to walk any more after the imagination of our evil heart, Jer. 2. 17. to break up the fallow ground, and circumcife our felves to the Lord, Jer. 4. 3, 4. to wash our heart from fin, Ib. 14. to be ashamed that we have committed abomination, Jer. 6. 15. to be made clean, Jer. 13. 27 to fearch and try our ways, and turn again unto the Lord, Lam. 3. 40. to loath our felves for the evils which we have committed, Ezek. 6. 9. to be ashamed and consounded for our own ways, Ezek. 36. 32. to return to our first Husband, Hos. 2. 7. to prepare our selves to meet God, Amos 4. 12. to rent our hearts, and not our garments, and turn unto the Lord our God, Joel 2. 13. to confider our ways, Hag. 1. 7. to be pricked in our hearts, Acts 2. 27. to come to our felves. Luk 15. 17. to cleanse our selves from all filthiness, 2 Cor. 7. 1. to arife from the dead, Eph. 5. 14. to cleanfe our hands, and purific our hearts, Jam. 4. 8. to be affilicted, and mourn, and weep, 1b. 9. In Act. 17. 30. there's this duty required, to repent, the persons charged herewith, all men; the place where it is charged on them, and ought to be performed by them, every where; the manner how it's prescribed, by way of commandment; the person commanding it, God; the time, now. Now God commandeth all men every where to repent.

Referred to God | 1. To alter ones purpose and counsel. Thus God is faid not to repent. I Sam. 15. 29. The Eternity of Israel cannot repent; for God never alters his purpose.

2. To undoe that which is once done. Thus is God faid to repent after the manner of men, who repenting themselves of what was done they do undoe, and afterward overthrow their first work. Gen. 6.6. God repented that he had made man.

He is faid to repent, when he doth not what he threatneth, Exod. 32. 12. Jonah 3. 9, 10. Amos 7. 3. or what he promierth, Jer. 18. 10. Where note, that such his threatnings and promises are conditional, and so upon the non-performance of the condition, alterable.

'Bepentante' Any change of mind or purpose in any matter whatsoever. Heb. 12. 17, Esau sound no place for repentance; that is, could not move Isaac to change his mind touching the blefling given away to Jacob, Rom. 11. 29. without Repentance; that is, without change and alteration, God fill continuing his faving gifts to the elect, even for ever.

2. A great grief of mind, through the sense of Gods wrath threatned to fin, without any true hatred of fin. This is a Legal repentance, Mar. 27, 3.

(3. The whole change of a finner in mind, will, and actions, from evil to good, at his farst conversion. Act. 11. 18. Hath God given the Gentiles repentance to life? This is an Evangeli-cal repentance, and comprehends faith under it, Matt. 3.8,11. This repentance is wholly the work of Gods grace: for in that we are willing to turn to God, it is because grace of unwilling hath made us willing.

4. A reparation of our spiritual decays by a running from fome particular fins, after our first conversion. 2 Cor. 7. 10. Godly forrow brings forth repentance, not to be repented of. This is the progress of Evangelical repentance.

Repetator is a very fore dipleafore which man hath in his heart for his fins (even because they are the breach of Gods holy Laws, and the offence of God his most merciful Father) which ingendreth in him a true hatred against fin, and a fetled defire to live better in time to come, ordering his fife by the will of God revealed in his Word.

There are several sorts of repentance.

1. A laterepentance, such as that's of most on their death-bed or bed of fickness, which for the most part is unsound.

2. A desperate repentance, Such as that of Judas, Cain, Pharach, Ahab, which is not with any true hatred or detestation of their fins, but only in regard of the punishment due thereunto. 3. A feigned repentance, such as that's of those who outward-Iv make shew of their sorrow for fin, &c. but secretly continue therein.

4. A compelled repentance, fuch as that's of malefactors, who at their deaths being called upon by the company then prefent to repent, acknowledge their fault, like unto Simon of Cyrene, who against his will bare the Cross of Christ.

5. An indiscreet repentance, such as that's of the superflirious, which conceit that by much watching, faling, going on long pilgrimages, scourging their naked bodies, &c. they shall be acceptable to God, their fins so purged and done away, as if they had never been committed.

6. An inconstant repentance, such as that's of those, who notwithstanding their pretending repentance, and abstinence from fin for a time, will not forfake their evil courses, but with the dog return unto their vomit, and with the fow that was washed to their wallowing in the mire.

7. An imperfect repentance, fuch as that's of those which haply are grieved for some one or more fins by them committed. who in the mean time give themselves over to others as bad.

8. An Evangelical repentance, already described. Of all those this only is acceptable, being a repentance unto life, repentance not to be repented of.

I am wearp with repenting ] Ifa. 15. 6. Or, of repenting, as Ila. 1. 14. I am weary of reverfing or flaying the execution of fuch dooms and denunciations, as from time to time have been past upon thee for thy wicked courses; and reprieving thee, from the destruction pronounced against thee, upon thy formal reformation and fained repentance. which need no repentance, Luke 15. 7. The difference of used spota change of mind, from Adam grief or forrow for fins or dislike of what a man hath done, is sufficiently known, and as it hath place in many other passages, so eminently in this. For as he that lives a godly life, may and doth often fall into fuch fins as deferve his forrow and displeasure at himself, and so cannot be faid not to want that forrow; fo it is certain, that. that man continuing all his life fo, without any eminent fall into wilful fin, may be faid not to need that premivera, that change which is here spoken of, and is required to bringing home of a lost sheep, a prodigat to his Fathers house. 11. A rebuke, taunt, railing, scoffing, Rom. 15. 3: Bep:oach ] I have roked away the reproach of Ægypt, Jofh. 25.9. i.e. I have rount away on reproach of expyr, John. 5.9. i.e. I have freed you from that shame and dishonout which did lye upon you whilest ye were Bond-slaves in the Land of Agypt, by receiving you into covenant with me, acknowledging you for my peculiar people, and admitting you to have this priviledge, fealed unto you by this feal of Circumcifion. Some understand hereby the Agyptians reproaches, which they cast upon them whilest they were in the Wilderness, as though God had not out of his love delivered them out of Agypt, but rather to wear and waste them in the Wilderexercise, our rainer to wear and water them in the winder-nefs, even unto utter ruin, feeing they remained there fill, after fo many years spent, till they were almost consumed, and were not brought into the Promised land. See Deut. 8. 28. Numb. 14. 16. The which report was now taken away, by their entring into the Land, which was unto them an earnest of all the rest, and now further secured by Gods renewing his Covenant with them, concerning their full poleffion of it, and confirming their faith in full affurance of it, by Circumcifion and the Passeover, which were as seals added to the promife. Some understand hereby, the wicked religion of Agypt, with which they were infected and corrupted by living and converting with them; from which he now delivered them by his covenant with them, and confirming it unto them by his feals, The Sacraments. Others, by this reproach understand the reproach which did lye upon the Agyptians themfelves as upon all other Nations, in that being out of cove-nant with God, and not parrakers of the feals of it, they were aliens and strangers from God, in an Heathenish and damnable condition, and were fo reputed and had in abomination with the Church and the people of God, Gen. 34. 16. I Sam. 17. 26. From which reproach they were now freed by receiving the Sacrament of Circumcifion. Others understand, and that very probably, the reproach which the Israelites themfelves had contracted in Agypt, when as living among them for above two hundred years, they imitated their evil manners, and were tainted with their superstitious and false wor-

again. It is derived of Battus a Poet, an egregious babler. fhip, Exod. 32. r. neglecting Gods fincere worship and service; and hereby, as also by their late rebellion, had left this reproach upon their children, through the just judgment of God, that they had not the Sacrament of Gods covenant, but had their foreskin still upon them all the while they lived in the Wilderness, Num. 14. 34, 35. From which wicked Nation they were now differenced, in that they did by Circumcifion take upon them, and wear Gods livery and cognizance. Annot. See Roll, where this is more briefly fer down.

"Beprobate 7 r. A refused one, or one cast out and rejected: also one, not being found such a one as he ought to be, I Cor. 9. 27. Lest I be found a reprobate, or be reproved; that is, not fuch as I should be, by living otherwise then I teach and profess.

' Reprobation is the most wise purpose of God, whereby he hath before all eternity (for his own Wills fake) confiantly decreed without any injustice, not to have mercy on those Angels and men whom he hath not loved but hath passed them over when he did chuse others; that by their just condemnation he might declare his wrath towards fin, to the glory of his justice, Rom. 9. 10, 11, 18, 22. 23.

'In the decree of Reprobation, there be two asts to be confidered by us; viz A purpose of not shewing mercy, and of not cursing, of not calling, justifying, &c. This is privative, or negative, or absolute reprobation, having no cause inpul-five without God, Eph. 1. 11. Prov. 16. 4. Jeremiah 6. 30. The second act is a purpose of condemning, or an ordination to pain, even eternal and most just damnation. This is posi-tive, assirmative, or respective reprobation, which respectes fin original or actual (as the meritorious cause of destruction.) But note further, that this ordination to pain (which is the fecond act of Reprobation ) is either fimple, whereby this or that man (as Cain or Fudas) were ordained to pain: or comparative, whereby Cain rather than Abil, and fudas rather than Peter, be ordained: of this latter the Will of God is the fole cause, but the sovereign cause of both; yet in the former not without relation to fin as a mean of the pain. Note yet further, that what place Christ in whose obedience and suffering we are choien, (Eph. 1.4.) hath in the election of faved person; that place sin hath in the reproduction of the wicked; in which it is no efficient, that is Gods will, but a material cause of their condemnation

2. Unapproved, or without proof; unfound, not found or approved Christians, but hypocrites, 2 Cor. 12. 5. 3. Vain, void of judgment to discern, Rom. 1. 28.

. Altogether unfashionable, and fitless, Tit. 1. 16.

Note: this word in 1 Cor. 9. 27. doth not figuific repro-bate, as the word is opposed to the eleft; for Paul was eleft, and knew himself so to be, and therefore could not become a reprobate, but reproved, reprovable, or unapproved. So the word is taken, 2 Cor. 13. 7. Heb. 6. 8. for it is opposed to the word βκιμΦ, which fignifieth approved, and therefore not fo much to be referred to the person of Paul, as to his Ministry, left his Ministry should be rejected, and himself be worthy to be reproved. ineffore ] Gal. 6. 1. The word restaurated which we render reflore, fignifies properly to put in joint any member of a body which is diflocated, and so fitly belongs to the restoring an excommunicate person to the society and peace of the Church. Dr. Him. Annot a.

And restore all things, Mat. 17. 11. 'Among rushous, the word here used is rendred by Helychius and Phavorinus, to finish or perfect. According to this notation of the word, this would be the importance of the place, he shall finish or perform, establish, lettle all things; both perform all that was prophefied of Elias, at his coming, and close and shut up the first state of the world, that of the Mosaical oconomy, making entrance as an harbinger; on the second, that of the Messias. In this sense it is faid, that the Law and the Prophets were until John, noting him to be the conclusion and shutting up, finishing and closing that state, and that was to be the office of Elias, under whose name John was prefigured. And thus the word amorani sams clearly fignifics, Act. 3. 21. But it's also certain that this word hath another fignification belonging to it, to reftere or reduce, Acts 1. 7. So for this place in St. Mathtem, it must be observed, that Mal. 4. 8. where Elias is coming it's there added in the Septuagint, in flead of I) Inon, he shall turn the heart of the but rather enforceth the enlarging of it, in like manner as Fathers (not to, but) with the children, snowgrashore raediav (the word here used) he shall reduce or restore the heart. And it's evident, that this place refers to that, though it repeat not the remainder of that verse, but only mirra in stead of it; and doing so, it must then fignific John Baptis's preaching of repentance (which is the fignification of nature), and the importance of that verse in Malachi) and by that means, converting them to the faith of Christ, i. e. by his preaching, endeavouring, though not very successfully, to do so. This then being the meaning of that prophese in Malachi, of a spirituil restoring, bringing them to repentance or preaching the doctrine of repentance to the fews, they understood it in a more carnal sense of restoring them to their splendid state again, which they enjoyed before their captivities, and late conquests of the Romans over them. Dr. Ham. Annot. b.

There's a spiritual refurrection, Rev. 20. 6, and a corporal refurrection, Act. 24. 15. Spicial, of some raised from death, both in the Old and New Testament. General at the last day, which shall be both of the just and unjust, Act. 24. 15. This resurrection of the body was denyed by the Sadduces, Mat. 22.

22. denyed also by some Christians, I Cor. 15. 12. It was defined the state of the sta rided by the Athenian Philosopher, Acts 17. 32. and some in the same moment.

rided by the Athenian Philosopher, Acts 17. 32. and some taught, that it is 19.18 already, 2 Tim. 2. 8.

Refuretion | Mat. 22. 3.1. And saus, of which the Sadduces ask, v. 23. and and and and and and saus fifty veration, which Chrift undertakes here to demonstrates, doth not peculiarly fignise the refureelition of the body, but denotes another life ( befides this, and after this) a continuing or being kept alize by God after departure out of this life; as that which is called, Rom. 9. 17. Raising up (and in Luke the phrase is exceptral the same that there) is in ful effects thereof in life and conversation. Bernard, the Hebr. from whence it's circa, Exod. 9. 16. to make to stand, Sefurrection and life. Christ to be the author a and is rendred by the Septuagint, beeping alive, or fafe. And the literal notation of the word aya cans goes no farther; for sans interial notation of the word and easily goes not attack; in easily is fluxiding, or substituting, and aya in composition fignifies re, or again. So avalents rexports the resubstitute, or second state of men, that after this life, confishing first of the immortality and continuance of the soul in state of separation, and at length in the reunion of the body to it, whereby it becomes perfect. It's true, it sometimes signifies the resurrection of the body distinctly, but that is, when it's joyned with the word onexo's of the flelb, or owned G of the body, or vexen of the dead, in the neuter, (as veneg tignifies cadavera, or dead bodies) or when without any of these, the context of the Author doth appear to reftrain it to that lenfe; but here of yezow, is the malculine (as appears by comparing it with the flory in St. Lube diffinally vexesi in the parallel) and the context doth not fo reftrain it, la ftong hand, John 20. 23.

λέρντες μη εί) ανάσαση, verse 22. may be the character of the Sadduces, who denyed all future life, or sublistence of foul or body after death. And thus avasans of Sirgion feems to note, Luke 14. 14. the reward there upoken of, being that which is opposed to our rewarding one another in this life; and so the phrase denoting all, which is not of this life, i. e. that blifs which the just enjoy after this life. And the phrase which the Jews used to fignific this, is the age or world to come, which these Sadduces diffinitly denyed, and the Pharifees believed and affirmed. And fure St. Paul, one of those Pharilees Christianized, did reckon of this continued life of the foul, contrary to the mertality or fleeping of it, when, Phil. 1. 23. he faith, that de defires arahusai (which fure is a phrase to express the separation of Jour and body) and to be with Christ, which I suppose must conclude a being of the foul, and that a hippy one, unless Christ be imagined full to be afterp, and so again, when he calls travelling out of the body, a travelling to the Lord. 1 Cor. 5.8 D. 'The Resurrection of Christ from the dead, is not only a witness of our being justified by Christ the Conqueror of fin and death; but through faith it is the real cause of our Justification, as his death was the cause of the remission of fins,

Rom. 4. 25. Resurrection from the dead, Rom. 1. 4. Avasaois vengov, is the general word which contains under it the rifing again of every dead body, and is applyable to every fuch particular that rifeth, and so here denotes the resurrection of Cirilt, being by the context particularly determined to that, as in other places it may denote the refurrettion of any one or more men, as the context shall enforce. Dr. Ham. Annot. a.

This is the first resurrection, Rev. 20. 5, 6. At Luthers time, or after the coming in of the fews, and Antichrists destruction, there shall be such a new face of the Church, as if the Saints were all raised up again, John 5. 25, 28. This resurrestion is not of particular persons, but of whole Churches and Nations, as Rom. 11. 15. alluded to in the raising of dead bones, Ezek. 37. 1, &c. in which they are said to have part, who by the means then publickly and plentifully afforded, are spiritually quickned; that is, raised from the death of fin, to the life of grace, John 5. 24, 25. Acts 8. 21. Eph. 2. 1, 5. Annot.

Some understand the first reservation from the death of sin;

3. To propound and hold forth a thing to be feen and looked upon clearly and manifeltly. Thus is righteonfacts and falvation revealed in the Golpel. Rom. 1. 17. Threby is revealed the righteo/fulls of God. Hereby is discerned and severed the Gospel from Philosophy, which teacheth things known by nature, or comprehensible by reason: Also from the Law and Eooks of Moses, which taught this righteousness darkly and afar off, in shews and shadows, not plainly, as the Gospel doth: which so manifestern this righteousness, as it giveth and exhibiteth it to the Believers, to whom it is fo made known by the Gospel, as it is hid from such as perish, Cor. 4. 3.

'Two ways is the Justice of God revealed by the Gospel.

1. Because it effectually teacheth, that that righteousness whereby the finner is made able to stand before the judgment of the most righteous God, is not a performance and observance of the Law, of Works, of Ceremonies, but a free acceptation of a finner to mercy, and an imputation of righteouincis through Christ his merit.

2. Because it sheweth the way and mean how this righteouincis is obtained, to wit, only by Faith.

13 cheal when the Lord Jef w hall be revealed from Heaven, 2 Thest. 1. 7. The Revelation of Christ, as the coming of Christ, is a phrase of a doubtful fignification; sometimes fignifying the coming to the final doom; fometimes also that coming that was described, Mat. 24. and was to be within that generation. And so sure it signifies in several places of St. Peter, 1 Pet. 1.7, 13. & chap. 4. 13. and the deliverance ready to be revealed in the last time, chap. 1. 5. The desiruction of the fews being the time of the deliverance and escaping to the Christians that were perfecuted by them (See Rom. 13. 11.) So again, 1 Pet. 5.1. where of christ, addeth, he was also partaker of the glory that should be revealed, i. e. present at the transfiguration, where by Moses and Elias were represented and declared the glorious consequents of his crucifixion, i. e. the deftruction of his crucifiers, and deliverance of his faithful disciples. And so here it most probably fignifies, where the vengeance on the Oppressors, i. e. the crucifiers of Chrift, and persecutors of Christians is described, and an Appendix of that rest and release to the oppressed, which is the deliverance to oft promised to them that persevere and endure, and outlast those persecutions, and that verse 1 o in that day, which s the notation of that time of vengeance upon the Jews, Dr. Ham. 'Benefation ] An uncovering or opening fomething that is hid, and secret. Rev. 1. The Revelation of John the Divine; that is, which was shewed to him. How do some teach, that this Book is so hard that it cannot be understood? if the holy Spirit have entitled it the Revelation, that is a Declaration, or a thing revealed, immediately from Christ, as to Paul, Eph. 3. 3. or mediately by others, as to John by an Angel,

2. Manifestation or opening, Rom. 16. 25.

3. The gift of interpretation, 1 Cor. 14. 6. 26.

4. An extraordinary information, either by Gods immediace voyce, or by Vision or Dream, or inward infpiration, Gal. 1. 12. & 2. 2. Eph. 3. 3.

5. An ordinary teaching by the Spirit in the preaching of the Word, Eph. 1. 17.

6. Appearing, Tit. 1, 13. 1 Pet. 1, 13. 18 ebelation ] Hath a revelation, 1 Cor. 14. 26. That Army Avalus doch not always fignific a Vision; or passively a receiving a revelation by extaste or dream from God, but only a lense or notion, a meaning or interpretation of a piece of Scripture, that through some figure (or the like) hath much difficulty in in it, may appear by vers. 6. where in opposition to the miracultus peaking of tongues, those four ways of expounding in the Church are set down; and the first of them smydoulis, revelation or expounding of sacred signifes, Sec. So vers. 26 smydoulis Exes, bath a revelation, as hath an interpretation, is of him that can expound any such figure; as the other is he that can interpret a strange language; and so here in this verse, that which is here hath a revelation, must be expounded by the Prophets speaking, verf. 29. For thus it lyes, Let the Prophet speak two or three, i. e. fo many in a meeting, If another that fitteth by have any Revelation; i. e. if whilest one is speaking, another be, or conceive himself able to expound the difficulty, then let the first, i.e. the Prophet, then a fpeaking, held his peace, give way to him; whereas the Prophets speaking, is all one with baving a revelation; to the thing thus delivered being to be judged of by others, whether it ought not to be subject to others judging of it. wit, as the knowledge of things to come till they be opened; I that both inwardly and outwardly, which the Jews should or things hidden, till they be uncovered; or dark Riddles till they be declared. But if this Book be a Revelation, how do they well which terrifie Christians from reading and fludying it?

The former Books for the most part are either Historical, or Doctrinal; This is for the main matter of it, Symbolical and Prophetical, containing predictions of many things to come, both in the Church, and without it, in the world, Symbolically represented. It is called a Revelation, because it was revealed by God, and the things therein contained, are fuch, as no wisdome of man, without some such special Re-relation, could have manifested or foreseen. So 2 Cor. 12. 1. 7. Mat. 11. 25. & 16, 17. 1 Cor. 2. 9, 10. And, of Fesus Christ, because John had it from him, as Paul his Revelations. 2 Cor. 12. 1, 2. and his Gospel. Gal. 1. 1, 2. Annot. Revelation, that is, a discovery or manifestation of things which before were hidden, and fecret, for the common good of the Church. 'Beward A just recompense given unto Labourers at the end of their work, as the Labourers. Matth. 20. 8. Received their mages in the even.

'2. A free recompense, given of mercy unto the godly after all their labours and travels in the service of God (as Labourers use to be rewarded at the end of the day, when their work is done ) Matthew 6. 6. Shall reward thee openly. Matth. 10. 41. This is far from Popish merit and deferving, by worthiness of the work done. We teach reward by favour from God, not by defert of our own work. That which Chrift in Matth. 6. 1. calls reward, in Luke 6. 32. is called in the Greek charis, that is, Grace, which we translate Thanks.

'3. An evil done of ones own accord, Gen. 50. 15. 4. A free gift, 1 King. 13. 7. tearmed, a Fee, Dan. 2. 6.

cour whole Justification, which is our deliverance from guilt and punishment of all fin; and our being accounted righteous by the righteousness of Christ imputed to us, I Cor. 1.30

Chrift is made unto us righteoufness. 'There is a glorifying righteousness of men in the world to come, and it is both perfect and inherent. In this life there is a justifying righteousness, which is not had but by faith, (such as Abraham had: ) it is perfect, but not inherent in us; it flicketh in Christs Manhood (as the subject) and is ours by imputation, Rom 4.4,5,6, 7, &c. Lastly, there is a righte-outness of sanctification, or sanctifying righteousness in this world also, which cannot be had, except we work (as Abra-' ham did:) this is inherent, but not perfect, growing daily by degrees unto perfection, Jam. 2. 21, 22. More briefly thus there is a righteousness in heaven, both perfect and inherent: a righteousness on earth, either persect, but not inherent, 'which is Justification; or inherent, but not perfect, which is Sanctification.

'2. The fidelity or truth of God, in keeping his promife · Pfalm 4. 1. O God of my righteousness, & 15. 14. My tongue shall fing of thy righteousness, 2 Pet. 1. 1. Ifa. 45.19. Psalm 36.7.

4. The benefits and protections of God, which declare him to be righteous and just of his word, Psalm 24.5. He shall receive righteousness from the God of his salvation. Here it may 'fignifie the reward and fruit of righteoufness, even eternal in heaven. Also the mercy, goodness, grace, and clemency of God, pardoning of fins, justifying, regenerating, saving, and procuring other benefits, as effects of his mercy, Pfalm 31.2 6 & 71. 35. 2;. I Sam. 7. 12.

'5. The perfect conformity of Christ his humane nature and life unto the will of his Father, which is called the ' righteoulnels of Christ, because it was in him as the proper ' subject : and the righteousness of Faith, because Faith is the only inftrument to apprehend and receive it; and the righteousness of God, because only it can satisfie and answer the rigor of Gods righteous Law, Rom. 3.21, 22. The righteouf-nels of God is manifelt without the Law, and it is our justification before God.

6. The through conformity and agreement (in some part and measure) of our will and actions, unto the whole just Law of God, Rom. 6. 18, 19. Being free from fin, ye are made the fervants of righteoufnels, &c.

7. That just and upright dealing which is between man and man, Luke 1. 75. To serve God in righteousness and true holinels. And in all places where the word righteoufnels is joyned with holiness and godliness. Also it figuifies Alms-deeds a chief part of righteousness, as Isa, 58. 8. Dan. 4. 24. 2 Cor.

'9. 9. 8. Righteoutness of Works and Faith, Rom. 9. 30. They followed not righteousness, yet attained righteousness; that is, the blind Ethnicks and Gentiles were far from feeking or once defiring the righteousness of works, for their life was ungodly and unrighteous, as Paul chargeth them, Rom. I. 20, 21, 000. Yea, and that in an high degree, as he accused them, Rom. 1. 25, 26, &c. Even so extremely evil and lewd were they, as to patronize and favor evil doers, Rom. 1. 32. against the light of conscience; and yet like hypocrites affected praise of honesty, by condemning others for such faults as they were guilty of, Rom. 2. 1. Nevertheless these unlust and wicked Gentiles, that lacked the righteousness of Moses Law, which flands in working, they did get a righteousness before God, by believing in Jesus Christ, who was made Justice to them of God his Father, accounting his Justice theirs by Faith.

9. The just and right distribution of punishment and rewards, by publick Governors, as also by God himself, Rom. 1. 23. 2 Thef. 1. 5. Pfal 72, 2. Then Shall be judge thy people with righteoujness, Acts. 17. 3 I. He will judge the world with righteoujness; that is, most righteously punishing the wicked, and rewarding the godly.

10. All righteous persons, 2 Pet. 3. 13. and all righteous or lawful Ordinances, Mar. 3. 15. 11. The manifestation of our righteousness. Deuteronomy

12. Any thing within or without man, that may be liked of, or commended, Deut. 9. 4, 5. 13. A work of mercy, and Alms-deeds, Deut. 24. 13. Ifa.

14. Harmless and innocent dealing, 1 Sam, 26. 33

15. The state of a Common-wealth rightly constituted, Isa. 48. 18.

16. The equity of his cause, 1 Kings 8. 32. 17. Just dealing, Job 27.6. and a just action, Psalm 106.

18. All duties of the fecond Table, Luke 1. 75. Eph. 4. 24. 19. That which is opposite to all finful courses, 1 Cor. 15.34. 20. Christ, or doctrine of the Gospel, reaching righteousness by Chrift, Heb. 5. 13.

21. Eternal life, Gal. 4. 5.

There's a Civil, a Legal, and an Evangelical righteoniness. This last being inherent in Christ through imputation, becometh ours, and manifesteth its fruit in our Sanctification.

Bigbreouinels ] Rom. 1. 17. The righteouinels of Gon | Rom. 1. 17. It's thus named. either because it is wrought and given by God in Christ Jesus; or, because he giveth it to shew himself righteous and true of his word: or, because we must refer it altogether unto God. there being in Man nothing whereby he may be justified: Or. for that we are thereby made righteous, not before men, but in the fight of God; or, because it's that righteousness alone which God in his most strict and exact justice approveth, or finally, because it is opposite to the righteousness of works,

Bope of righteouinels | Eternal life by the promise of God offered to the righteous, and given only to fuch as be justified by faith, Gal. 5. 5. Wait for the hope of righteoufness. Here is a double Metonymie :

First, of the Adjunct, hope being put for the thing hoped for; as Rom. 8. 24.

Secondly, of the efficient cause; for hope as an effect springeth out of the righteousness of faith, as the cause, which is here termed the hope of righteourners.

"To jubge in rightequinels | To govern in righteousnels, when God frameth his own to a rightness in all their life. as it is written, Pfal. 96. 10, 13. whereunto this Text alludeth, Rev. 19. 11. And he judgeth in righteousness.

*Righteounnels of the Shafite The washing away of fins, by the Blood of Christ, with the imputation of his perfect obedience, to be our righteounels; whereof seeing we give Solution to the world, by finch good works as come from Sanctification, as we have an inward reftimony of it before God by faith; therefore it is in the plural number (aid, righteousnesses or justifications of the Saints, Rev. 19. 8. For the fine linnen is the righteousness of the Saints. See Rev. 7. 13. These places evidently shew, that the justification of the Elect is not from within themselves, but sticketh without in that external 'garment, Christ Jesus, whom they put on by faith, whereof their good works be fruits.

Gr. Righteon fneffes, that is, Good works which adorn Gods Servants, as much as fine linnen, or glistering garments do great men, Mat. 5.16 and do as conspicuously appear in their lives, as gorgeous apparel on the back or body of those that wear it, Rom. 13. 12, 14. Col. 3, 12. 1 Pet. 3. 3, 4. & 5. 5. Phil. 4. 5, 8.

Annot. This (fay fome) fignifieth a double righteousness given unto us.

1. The righteousness of Justification, whereby we are juflified before God.

2. The righteousness of Sanctification, by which we evidence our justification to men : Others say, it is an Hebraifm rather, by the plural righteousness, noting the most absolute righteousness which we have in Christ. So the Hebrew word is used. Ifa. 45. 24. Leigh's Annot.

(15 ock ) A ftrong defenced place of ftone, ferving for fafety against Enemies and Dangers. I Sam. 14. 4. There was a (harp Rock on the one side. Also, a firm and safe estate, Pfal.

40. 3. art my Rock; that is, fuccor and defence. In common dangers men did fly unto Rocks for fafety.

3. Chrift Jeius, who is called a Rock in two respects:
1. Because we have from him our Soul-refreshing; as water gusht out in the Wilderness, to refresh the People being thirsty. 1 Cor. 10. 4. The Rock that followed them was Christ.

2. Because he alone strongly sustains and beareth up his Church, built upon him by Faith, as a House upon a Rock.
Mat. 16. 18, upon this Rock will I build my Church. The Papists which expound this not of Christ, believed on and confessed by Peter, but of the person of Peter, they deal reproachfully by Peter, but of the person of Peter, they deal reproachfully with Christ by lifting the Creature and Servant of Christ, into the room and place of his Creator and Lord. Also salf-ly with the Text, which saith not [upon this Peter] but [upon this Rock] that is, not upon thee Peter, but upon my self (as a Magustine expoundeth it.) Lastly, they offer wrong, and deal injuriously with the Church, to build it upon so feeble, deal injuntoully with the Church, to build it upon so feeble, frail, and weak a Rock as Peter, who failed more often than any of his Fellow-Aposses

 Add unro all this, that the Gates of Hell prevailed against the particular Faith of Peter, and that there was a Church tefore Peter either was born, or did believe; and that sundry Popes, (Peter Successes, as Romaniss say) were Apostates from the Faith, and Atheifts; therefore unfit to be the Head and Rock of the Church. Wherefore by the Rock must be meant, either Chrift, or the general Faith which Peter confessed, as the Scriptures, Fathers, Greek, and Latine, yea and the Populh Writers, even Bellarmine and Baronius are forced to affirm. Finally, whereas there is no Argument to be drawn from Metaphors and Allegories, except the Scriptures elsewhere speak the same thing in plain words; and the Scripture no where plainly writeth that Peter is Head of the Church, therefore it is not to be concluded from this Metaphor.

So the Church in their extream distress, should feel the same vertue for their deliverance and fafety. See vers. 2, 3. thus expounding it.

Christ is here as a goodly young man, as in an Image purtrayed, by his vifible qualities, his colours white and ruddy, as they shew the best temperature of man, so here they may fignifie in Christ,

His God-he ad and Manhood; for God in vision hath appeared all white as from and as pure wool, Dan. 7. 9. and Christ in his glory had his face (hining as the Sun, and his raiment white as the light, Mat. 17. 2. and in him dwelleth all the fulnefs of the God-head bodily, Col. 2. 9. Man had his name Adam. of Adamab, the red mould of the earth, out of which he was taken, Gen. 2. 7. and Christ (who is here Adam red) is the last Adam, I Cor. 15.45. and was partaker with his children of flesh and blood, Heb. 2. 14.

2. White, denoteth his innocency in himself without spot of fin : red, his finful case by imputation , 2 Cor. 5. 21. and so these two colours are used to fignific finfulness and innocency. Ma. 1. 18. and confequently red betokeneth his sufferings to the shedding of his blood, as white doth his victory, peace, joy, and comfort in God, Rev. 7, 9, 13, 17. Eccles. 9. 8. And in respect of his administration, white setteth forth his grace and mercy to repentant and believing finners, whom he justifieth. fanctifieth, and will bring into glory . 'The whole Law of Moles (especially the ceremonial) hath ' thereby to call the world to a more full knowledge of himfelf. as by beginnings and principles we are brought to more exact knowledge of Arts and Sciences. For the promifes under the Law were very dark, covered with Ceremonies, (as with a veil or curtain drawn before them) fnewing and pointing at Christ afar off. In a word, the whole discipline and government of the Mosaical Law, was very rude, agreeing to such as were rude, until the time that the Holy Spirit should be ' poured out with full horn (as it were) upon the body of the 'Church, gathered of Jews and Gentiles, as was promifed,

'Joel 2. 28, 29, and promifed by Chrift, John 7. 39.
'Mofaical or Legal Ceremonies are termed weak and begegerly, being confidered in themselves apart from Christ, and by the falle opinion of the feduced Galatians, who by attri-buting grace, holiness, and merit unto them, shewed plainly how poor and needy they were. For to turn and fall from ' Christ to any Ceremonies, or to any good works whatsoever, though proceeding from faith, as if any falvation in whole or 'in part, were derived from them, it is to follow emptiness ' and beggery instead of the fulness of Christ riches, in whom 'all the treasures of life be hid.

Dabbath A day of reft, or a time fet apart for holy reft, Exod. 20. 10. Remember the Sabbath day to keep it holy. Mark 2. 27. The Sabbath was made for man. The feventh day from the Creation was the Sabbath of the Jews, as a type and token of piritual reft. But Jewish Rites being abolished in the death of Christ, which brake down the partition wall : now we 'Christians have the first day of the week for our Sabbath, in remembrance of Christ his Resurrection that day, Acts 20.7. Cor. 16.2. The Jewish Sabbath was abrogate by the Authority of God, and not of the Church, without Scripture, as Papifts feign and imagin,

*2. The whole week, by a Synecdoche of a part for the whole, Luke 24. 1. In the first day of the Sabbath. Also 18. 12. 12 will fall twice terry Sabbath, that is, every week. So our Translation reads it, but the Greek word signifies Sabbath.

* Note, Sabbath is a word in the Hebrew, which fignifieth, to rest, not for idleness or any worse employments, but because of the vacation to Divine and Religiohs Duties, for practife whereof, the feventh day was fequestred from the reft, and fanctified to God, as our Lords day now is.

Besides this day, the Jews had sundry Feasts, as Easter, Pentecost, &c. whereon because they ceased from their servile works, and kept an holy convocation the first day, and the last; hence they were called Sabbaths: as Lev. 26.2. No ground for Popish Feasts. The seventh year also was Sabbati-'cal, because of rest from tillage, Lev. 25. 2.

The Sabbath is diffinguished from all other Sabbaths by [He] demonstrative Hasabbath; and it's called a Sabbath of Sabbaths, Exod. 31. 15 an excellent Sabbath. The Jews comparing this with other Sabbaths, call it the Queen, and the other Sabbath, as Pascha, Peniecost and seast of Tabernacies, but Concubines; and the days between the first great day of the feaft, and the last day of it, they compare them to Hand-maids. This Sabbath exceeds all other Sabbaths, and they take their denomination from it, as the Feaft of Expiation, Lev. 16.21. So the seventh year rest, and the Jubilee, the fifty years reft are called Sabbaths; and the whole week is fo called, Lev. 22.15. Luk.18.12. The Sabbath unto the Jews was a pledge of all the benefits which they were to receive from Christ to come. In the Allegorical fignification, their Sabbath fignified to them Christ resting in the Grave; in the Tropological, it fignified their resting from their servile works, and the works of the flesh; and in the Anagogical, it fignified to them their eternal rest; but unto us under the Gospel, it is an arbitrary not a destinate type, for all types are ceased now to us.

The Sabbath differed from all other Feasts and Sabbaths.

1. It had still a preparation going before it, called accords. Barroy, or pervigilium Sabbathi, the watch before the Sabbath and albeit mention be made of the preparation to the Passeover, Joh. 19.14. yet it was because the Sabbath and Passeover fell both together, and the preparation was in respect of the Sabbath, not the Festival day, this was called a great Sabbath.

2. They used to transfer the Festival days to the Sabbath, but it flood immovable.

3. The Sacrifices of all their Feafts gave way to the Sabbath. 4. The Sabbath had a double Sacrifice appointed for it whereas the Feaft days had their own particular Sacrifices.

5. The Sabbath was kept in the Wilderness, Num. 9. 5. but Sacrament ] is a visible fign and seal of an invisible grace.

Or more largely thus:

'It is an ordinance of God, in the right use whereof, the partaker hath affurance of his being in the Covenant of grace. and falvation by Christ.

Of fuch Sacraments there be two only under the New Testament. Baptism and the Lords Supper. The former be-'ing a Seal of our entrance into the Covenant; the other a Seal of our continuance in the Covenant, Mat. 26. 26, 27. Alfo chap. 28. 18, 19. 1 Cor. 10. 1, 2, 3. 1 Cor. 12. 13. The feven Sacraments of Papilts are too many by five, which either lack an outward fign, or inftitution by Chrift, or be no Seals of faving grace.

* Touching the true Sacraments instituted by Christ himfelf, this is to be observed, that a lively Faith saveth with-'hut them, ( so there be no contempt and careless neglect : ) but the Sacrament cannot fave without faith, Mark 16. 16. · For that which begetteth anew, and justifieth, is not the Sacrament of Faith, (which is common to Reprobates and unbelievers, with the elect and believing Christians) but the faith of the Sacrament apprehending Christ, the thing represented, that is, the Sacrament; not because it is done, bnt because it is believed, therefore it regenerateth and 'ftrengtheneth.

Sacrament is confidered, 1. In the abstract only, as figns. In this sense the reprobate do receive holy Seals and Sacraments; otherwise they could not be said to profane the holy things of God; and so they may be Sacraments and work no grace either by themselves, or from God.

2. They are confidered in concreto, according to all which they include in their use, viz. as they consist of the fign and the thing fignified, the institution of God, and the promise of grace; in this sense the Sacraments are not efficient causes of grace, but only material causes containing grace, as the vessel doth the physick : So I Pet. 3. 19. Baptifm is faid to fave as the physicians glass cureth diseases, they have a power to obtain grace, being used in faith and fincere prayer; this to speak accurately, is rather about the Sacrament, than from it.

Again, Sacraments are confidered.

1. As Signs.

2. As religious Seals.

3. As instruments by which faith works.

. As means used by us out of conscience and obedience to God, who hath commanded us to use them.

1. As Signs they are objective and moral causes, exciting the mind, as the Word doth in a moral way. They reprefent Christ and him crucified; and this they have common with the Word, Gal. 3. 1.

.2. As Seals, Rom. 4. 11. they have no real or physical action in or from them, only they declare that the grace fignified doth belong to the worthy receiver but add nothing to him. Yet they so declare as that the Receiver is assured of the grace fignified.

3. As Instruments, faith is stirred up and wakened to lay hold upon Christ, and the benefits of his death and passion; and for this cause there is a real exhibition of the thing fignified and the Sacrament is an Exhibitive feal.

4. As they are used in obedience to God; they profit if we believe and not otherwise; and this way used, our affurance groweth, faith increaseth, and a further degree of communion with Christ is confirmed. Rutherford Due right of Presb. p. 111, The use of them is threefold.

1. To represent and seal up our communion with Christ and his Church, 1 Cor. 12. 13. & 10. 16. Gal. 3. 27.

2. To diffinguish us from Infidels, Turks, and Jews, 1 Cor. 11. As often as we eat the flesh of Christ, and drink his blood in the Sacrament, we should shew forth his death till he come, both in outward action, and inward thoughts; hence Circumcifion and consequently Baptiste, is called a Seal of the righteousness of faith, Rom. 4. 11. The use of a Seal being not onely to certifie and confirm our felves in the assurance of the benefit sealed, but also that others seeing the Seal, may know what benefits we enjoy.

3. To be monuments to put us in mind of our duty; as Baptism, that we ought to die to sin, and live to righteousness, Rom. 6. The Lords Supper, that we might remember and shew forth the Lords death, 1 Cor. 11.24, 25.

Detritte ] A facred Action, wherein the faithful Jews ' did violently worship God by offering some outward thing 'unto his glory, thereby to testifie his chief dignity and do-' minion over them, and their servitude and submission unto 'him. Such facrifices were either Propitiatory, to procure favour and pardon after some sin; or Gratulatory, to give thanks and praise after some benefit. Pfal. 50. 8. I will not reprove thee for thy Sacrifices. and 51. 16. Lev. 3. 4.84. 2. This is Legal facrifice and typical; Christ Jesus being the truth and fubstance, who in the offering of himself once upon the Cross, hath fully appealed Gods wrath. The word [Sacrifice] fignifieth flaughtering and killing, as cattle were killed for facrifice to God, figuring mans mortification or dying to fin, Pfal.

2. The whole Legal worship, Eccles.
3. Our whole spiritual service, and Christian duties of all forts within our general and special calling. Plal. 51. 17. The Sacrifices of God are a contribe spirit, &c. 1 Pet. 2.5.
Heb. 13. 15. This is Evangelical sacrifices. But touching Papistical sacrifice of the Mass, wherein Christ is said to be corporally offered by the Priests, for the fins both of quick and dead the Scripture is altogether mute and dumb, fave to cry out against it.

" 4. The thing it felf that by the Jews, or by the Priefts, for them was offered up to God, as Beafts, Birds, &c. not themselves, Heb. 9. 9.

"5. The thing it self, or matter offered up by Christians as an Eucharistical or Gratulatory sacrifice; these sacrifices are Men themselves not Beafts, &c. Rom. 12. 1.

"6. The thing it self which Christ offered to God his Father for us. This was no creature, but himself concerning his humanity, Heb. 9. 12, 14, 23, 26. & 10. 10, 12, 26.

Sacrifices of the Law (not Sacraments of the Gospel) were never appointed of God to any such end, as to take sin away, ( which is the peculiar office of Christ, John 1. 29. away, (which is the peculiar onice of Chirit, John 1. 29. I Tim. 1. 15.) but partly to differ the people of whom Christ must come from all other. 2. To try their obedience, and keep them from will-worship. 3. To be representations to remember them of redemption to come, by that only true meritorious facrifice of Christ himself, and to nourish their faith in the promise of that redemption of his. There be two main causes why the Sacrifices which God himself commanded, are so often by the Prophets condemned in the Tews. ' First, because they performed their outward unreasonable oblations, without the inward and reasonable, as we may see in Isa. 1.8 58 & Psal. 50.

The second cause is for that they did think by their Sacrifices, not only to cloak and hide their hypocrifie and wickedness, as Jer. 7. 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, &c. but also to give a price to God for their fins, Mat. 6.6.

The Jews in their Sacrifice offered Beafts and Birds; the Beafts were the Ram, the Lamb, the Bullock and the Goat; the Birds were the Turtle, the Pigeon, and the Sparrow. In the Sacrifice of Leprofie, the beafts were to be without blemish, as it must not be lame, blind, nor sick, Lev. 26. 16. They might offer nothing that was defective, or redundant in any member, Lev. 21. 25. & 22. 23. The beaft might not be factificed until it was eight days old, Lev. 22. 27. nor if it had lien with one of another kind, Lev. 19. 19. nor if it had killed a man, Exod. 20. 28. or if it were the price of a Whore, or of a Dog, Deut. 23. Every Sacrifice when it was offered to the Lord, was changed from the use in which it was before; and there was a destruction of the thing offered. living things were killed, liquid things were poured out, and folid things were bruifed and burnt, as corn. That which was living was cut down through the chine-bone of the back; whereunto the Apofile alludes, Heb. 4. 13. and Chrift, Mat. 24. 51. Every Sacrifice was faired with fair, Lev. 2. 13. 50 Mark 9. 49. every Sacrifice must be faired with fire; the comparison betwixt the fire and the salt, is in eating out the corruption; and if they will not be this way salted, the Lord will falt them with another fort of fire, even the fire of his wrath. They might have no leaven in their Sacrifices, Lev. 2. 11. except in some sew offerings of Thanksgiving, Lev. 7. 13. but in all other Sacrifices, he forbiddeth both honey and leaven, because honey fermenteth as leaven. This leaven figured fin of all forts, both in doctrine and manners. Luke 12.1. Mat. 16.6. 1 Cor. 5. 8.

2. Christ Jesus, the substance and truth of all Legal Sacrifices, Heb. 9. 26. & 10. 26.

'3. Prayer, alms, works of piety and mercy, which are as 'a pleasant Sacrifice to God, Heb. 13. 15.
'Sactifite of the Gentites The conversion of the Gen-preaching of the Gospel, Rom. 15.16.

Ministers have a Priesthood, and offer Sacrifices, but im properly, by a Metaphor or fimilitude to the Legal oblations where bodies of beafts were offered, here in the Gospel the fouls of Christians, by killing of their inward vices; there in the Law the knife was material, here the knife is foiritu al, the Gospel and the preaching of it is the Oblation.

Let not the Papifts complain of us, that we lack Sacrifices and Oblations, for we have such as Scripture every where commendeth, and God himself hath prescribed whereby God is truly wor!hipped, and men faved; whereas their Sacrifice of the Mass is not once mentioned in Scriprure, and is joyned with horrible Idolatry, and cruel murthering of fouls.

Safety is either of the bedy or the foul.

That of the body confifts in three things: 1. Integrity. The loss of a member is contrary to it.

2. In the safety of the sense, when we are at ease; striking and wounding is contrary to it.

3. In fafety and freedom from fear; as on the contrary, to bind one, or shut him up is prejudicial to safety; so that the body is safe when it receiveth no dammage.

The fafety of the Soul likewise confists in three things : 1. Lovingness; contrary to this is Hatred, with all his crue and retinue. 2. Joy; against which cometh that, as when a man is so dealt with, that he falleth in annotay, in torporem anima, into a drowfiness of the soul, that he taketh no delight in any good thing; or if he fall into Envy.

3. Peace, Gal.5.22. and that either :

1. Within himself, in his thoughts; this safety is prejudged by Scandals.

2. Or outward, between him and others; and this is broken or prejudged by contention and strife, This safety of the Soul is called ວັນຈາມຂ່ອ, tranquillity, and he that cometh against this tranquillity, is an enemy to the safety thereof: Whereas Esas marcheth himself against the consent of his Parents; Rebekah faith, I am weary of my life. Gen.27.

Beceffitp of the Daints | The ules of poor believers, Rom. 12.13. Communicate to the necessity of the Saints. The meaning is not, that we should stay from giving till extreme want of the poor do urge us unto it; but our love is to prevent that, by communicating to their behoveful uses. This communicating implieth these things.

'1. That the needy Saints have a fellowship and interest both in our goods, as touching the use, (every mans property referved intire ) and also in our affections, because we are bound to relieve them with a fellow-feeling of their wants.

2. That the rich givers are reciprocally and mutually to be made partakers of the fruit which cometh through the prayers of the faithful poor, as they are partakers of the goods of their Brethren.

' Again, the former words have three special motives unto Christian liberality toward the poor Saints.

First, the compassion of necessity.

' Secondly, the love of fanctity, or holinefs.

Thirdly, the fruit and benefit of the communion of Saints. 'To which if we add three more:

1. The firaight commandment of God, often repeated. 2. The precious and manifold promises made unto mercifulness in alms-giving.

3. The examples of the godly which have shewed themfelves liberal, yea, bountiful even beyond ability fometime, Acts 2. & 4. 2 Cor. 8.3. Then you have a fixfold cord to draw you to this duty. feithe perfetting of the Sainte ] Their reftoring to that happiness by the Word of grace, being before out of happiness by corruption of nature, Eph.4.10,11. The Greek word in the Text fignifies two things:

f. To reftore and fet things fallen in the proper place, as Gal. 1.16.

2. To be more and more perfect and stablished in that estate, Cor. 1.10-

The words za raprizer and za rapros us, fignifie,
1. To mend or few that which is rent, Mar. 1.19.

2. To restore and make whole, and to set in it's own place. A Metaphor taken from Physicians, who set members out of joynt into their natural place, whereunto the Apostle alludes,

3. To form and joyn in one body, thus that the Apostle speaks of the reprobate, Rom.9.22. A Metaphor taken from Potters, who use to frame their pots into divers forms, according to their several uses appointed by them; thus the Apostle, I Cor.
I-10-while he exhorts the Saints unto concord and unity, earnestly beseeches them that they would all speak the same thing, and that there be no divisions among them, but that they be nativenouse, i.e. perfettly joyned together, and united in the same mind, like the whole confishing of several parts, fitly agreeing among themselves. Unto this last fignification the perfection of the Saints is most agreeable. So that it is nothing else but their spiritual compaction and conjunction both with Christ by faith. and their conformity unto his Image, being joyned among themselves mutually, by the bond of love not only in affection, but likewise judgment, concerning things especially belonging to faith, and religion, whereby true peace is entertained and nourished among them,

This perfection is brought to pass two ways:

I. By the accession of new members unto the head by faith, and unto the body by love.

2. By the progress and growth in grace, of these who are already joyned to the head and the rest of the body, Eph.2. 21. Bodius on the Eph. p. 511. 2. 512. 1.

This is a large fignification; as Pfal. 12.1. & 98. 1. & 118.15. Gen.49.18. The Tribe of Ban in two respects had need of Gods deliverance.

1. For their inheritance, Judg.1.34. Josh.19.47.

62. For religion, Judg 18.
62. The flate of bleffed and happy life, as touching the entrance into it, when we begin first to believe and repent, Luke 19.9. This day salvation is come to thine house. Eph. 2.8. Luke 1.77. As there is no other Saviour but Jefus, fo our falvation in whole, and every part is from the merit of his own fufferings and works, done in his own felf.

'2. The perfection of bleffed and happy life, as our glorifi-cation in heaven. Hereof there are two degrees: 'The first is, at the time of our death, when the foul being loosed from the body is carried by elect Angels into the third heavens, Luk, 16. 2.

The second degree is at the day of the resurrection, when our whole person body and soul shall be received up into heaven with Christ, into everlasting blis, Heb.1.14. Which shall be the heirs of falvation. Rom. 5.10. & 13. 11.

4. Our bleffed life, both as touching the entrance and perfection, the beginning and end of it (even our full happiness ) Heb 2. 3. If we neglett so great salvation, Rom. 5. 10.
2 These 2. 15. No part of this salvation is merited by Works of grace, which we do, but from Christs works in his own perfon.

5. The author of salvation, Psal. 27.1. The Lord is my salvation. Ifa. 12.2. & 17.10.

6. The person of him who is our alone Saviour. Luke 2. 30. Mine eye hath feen thy falvation; that is, him which by thy decree bringeth, worketh, and giveth falvation, or the person appointed to be our Saviour.

Salvation taken spiritually, is more than life simply, for God liveth, yet he is not faved: It is then such a life as miserable forlorn man obtaineth; therefore the Holy Ghest calleth that happiness that a man should have obtained by keeping the Law, life, not fatuation; but the happiness we get by the Gospel, salvation; it is called both Gods and Ours; Gods, Pal.

Papifts do think to have help from this Text, to uphold their rotten building of Freewill in matters of falvation, as if it were a forcible efficient cause of salvation. or a partner of it felf with the Holy Ghoft in doing good works. Whereas this is but an exhortation to shew what we ought to do, not to declare what we are able to do. Moreover, albeit it is we which will, when we do will; and we which do, when we do do, yet feeing it is written in ver.13.
that God worketh both will and deed, therefore Free-will of its own force worketh nothing, willeth nothing toward the e pleasing of God, and attaining of salvation, but so far as God doth make it able to will, and to work.

Note. There be fundry things which accompany falvation. Heb. 6. to witness it to us: As suffering of afflictions, and ogood works, which be not grounds and caufes of our falvation, as the free promife of God, the merit of Christs Passion and Death, the Spirit of Faith. The Papists do unskilfully confound these things. Also we are further to note that Salva-rion, when it fignifieth the first entry thereunto, namely, the remission of sins, and justification, with newness of · life, then good works are not necessarily required thereunto; because ones sins must be forgiven ere good works can be done: But when Salvation is put for Eternal life hereafter to be possessed in heaven, then good works are needful (not as a e meritorious cause, but ) as a mean and way wherein to walk fhither.

This Sanctification hath two parts, Mortification of fin and vivification of the spirit, or new man, Col. 3. 5, 11. Eph. 2. 4. 'Rom. 8. 12, 13, 14. It is begun here, and perfected in 6 heaven.

· In holy Scripture divers names be given to Sanctification; it is named, Sanctification of the Spirit, 1 Pet. 1. 2. <sup>6</sup> 2 Theff. 2. 13. Regeneration and renewing of the holy Ghoft, John 3. 3. Tit. 3. 5. in respect of God the efficient and chief worker, but in respect of cleat finners, in whom 'this grace is wrought, it is named, Repentance, Newness of Life, Obedience, Righteousness, Holiness, Acts 26. 18, 30. Luke 24. 47. Rom. 6. 16, 18, 22. Lastly in respect of God and men together, it is styled, Conversion, Acts 15. 3. Being converted of God, we are also commanded and said in Scripture to convert our felves, and to fanctifie our felves, Jerem. "35. 13. 1 John 3. 3.

Sanctification is so necessarily joyned unto Justification, as 'yet it is a grace diverse from the grace of Justification.

1. Justification is an absolution of a sinner from the guilt of fin and death; whereas Sanctification is an alteration of qualities from evil to good.

2 Justification confuls in remission of fins and imputation of justice for the obedience of Christ; Sanctification is renovarion of nature.

'3. Justification is perfect in this life, so is not fanctification. 4. Justification is in nature before fanctification, but not in '5. The perfect purity of Christs humane nature, reckoned unto believers by free imputation of faith, I Cor. 1. 30. Chrift is made unto us fantification. This is fandification imputed. 6. The work of general Illumination and Reformation.

Heb. 10. 29. Wherewith he was fantlified. This is external Sanctification, common to Reprobation.

'Spirit of Sand: fication ] Both the work of killing our corrupt Nature, and raifing it up to holines; and the auunto Santlification of the Spirit; that is, unto that Santlifica-tion which the Spirit worketh, fetting us apart from the 'tion which the Spirit worketh, setting us apart from the wicked world, and dedicating us to God, which is one end of election, as touching us, but not the last, which is our salevation in heaven, and Gods glory, Eph. 1. 12.
'Snantise] Neh. 12. 47. That is, to set apart, marg. 'Sold 3.9. Prepare. Comp. the text with the marg.
'A commission of the control of the co thing from a common to an holy or religious use. Com. 4. Exod. 20. 11. Ged sanctified the Sabbath. Thus Priests under the Law, Ceremonies, Temple and Vessels were sanctified, Mat. 23. 17.

"Note: To give these graces to men, whereby they may be made holy: this is to sanctifie men.

*2. To make holy, by putting holiness moral into one: of unclean making us clean. I Thess. 5 verse 23. The God of peace sanctifie you throughout. But ye are sanctified. 1 Cor. 6. 11. lude v. 1. John 17. 19. Eph. 5. 26.

3. To blefs fomething to us in the ordinary use, 1 Tim.4.4. 4. To cleanse and purific both ceremonially and spiritu-'ally. Exod. 19. 10. Goto the people and fandifife them to day and to morrow; that is, let them perform outward and cere'monial pureness to admonish and stir up to inward use.

God is said to sanctifie himself, when he will declare his gloy and vindicate his honour from the blasphemies of the wicked, Numb. 20. 13. Ezek. 26. 23.

He fanctifieth himself in the Wicked by pouring his heavy iudgments upon them for their fins, Lev. 10. 3. Ifa. 5. 16. Ezek. 28. 22. And in the Elect, by restoring his worship unto them, Ezek. 20. 41. or by his gracious deliverances, Ezek. 28. 25. & 39. 27.

Referred to men To acknowledge holy. Mat. 6. 9. Sanctified be thy name, or hallowed; when we acknowledge something to be holy which before was fo in it felf, Lev. 10. 2.

'2. To apply to such holy and divine use as God appointed. Command. 4. Exod. 20. 8. Santtifie ye my Sabbath ; that is, imploy it to the holy uses for which I have ordained it.

' 3. To separate and set apart one to do the office of Mediator, and to endow him with sufficient anthority and gifts, John 10. 36.

4. To offer himself freely unto his Father, an holy and expiatory facrifice; by merit thereof to purchase for his elect people remission of fins, perfect righteousness, and the holy Ghost that they might become holy both by imputing to them his holy oblation and by fanctification or holieness infused into their hearts, to will and work things pleasing to God, John 17. 29. For their sakes do I sanctifie my self. '5. To procure, offer, and give glory to the holy name of God, Numb. 20. 12. Deut. 32. 51.

6. To be acknowledged and worshipped as one most holy. Lev. 10. > 22. 32, '7. To perfect holiness begun, more and more renewing unto holiness such as be already cleansed by the Spirit. John 17. 17. Sanstiffe them with thy truth.

To sanstifie, four manner of ways (for the most part) is used in Scripture.

'I. To confess and celebrate that to be holy, which in it felf is first holy, Mat. 6, 9. and wheresoever God is said to be sanctified.

'2. To make holy some persons, being impure before, I Pet. 1. 2. and wheresoever the elect is said to be sanctified. 'a. To separate and elect some things or persons from a common use, unto an holy use; as the Tabernacle, Temple,

Priests, Altars, Sacrifices, &c. under the Law of Moses. 4. To intend and apply a thing to divine and facred works, or to keep an holy vacation and reft. In this and the former fense is the seventh day said to be sandified, as Gen. 2.3. Com.:. Co fantifie the Loza 7 To worship and glorifie the holy God by filial fear and confidence in his promises, Isa. 8. 13.

So Luke 19, 9, 10, 1 Cor. 7.16. & Rom. 11. 14. And to here the and topology that be those especially the Jews that believed in Chrift, and adhered to him; according to the importance of that, Acts 11. 17. And then the clear meaning of this uncertain mans question will be this, Whether this doctrine or faith of Christ, to contrary to the humor and passions of the world, should be able to propagate it self, and prove so successful as to be received by many, or whether it should be contained and inclosed within a narrow pale, that so he might either refult Christ with the many, or have the honour of being one of the few fingular persons that received him. Dr. Ham. Annot. b.

He Shall be faved, yet so as by fire, I Cor. 3. I 5. He Shall escape as one escapes out of the fire; i.e. as one that, when in the midnight his house is set on fire, wakes and leaps out of the bed. and runs naked out of doors, taking nothing that is within along with him, taking care only that he may fnatch his one body out of the flame; and it's a common observation, that to be saved as by fire, is a proverbial speech for those that get hardly out of a great danger, as a brand snatcht out of the fire, Amos 4. 11. and so Jude v. 23. Idem. Annot. b.

s o be tabes by grace ] To be delivered from guilt and punishment of fin, both temporal and eternal, by the free gift of God, freely giving his Son to be our Saviour, freely accounting his merits unto believers, and freely working 'faith, by which the promise of salvation is received and retained. Ephel. 2. 8. For by grace are ye faved.

'Note here, that to be faved by Grace, by Christ, by Faith. are well coherent together: also to be faved by the Gospel, by Preaching; for the former declare foveraign and main, 'and these are the instrumental means, and subordinate causes of falvation: but to be faved by our works, or of our felves, 'is so contrary to Grace, Christ, Faith, as to joyn them together in causes of our salvation is most absurd.

Note further, that to be faved by Grace, and by Faith, do imply two things.

. That we do embrace Christ unto salvation, cometh not from our felves, or by our working; but by believing, which we have of Gods free gift.

'2. Such as once embrace Christ by faith, are thereby fully ' justified in him; therefore have gotten full right unto the heavenly inheritance, although as yet they want the full possession. The end of Gods counsel in this free salvation of the elect, is to strip them wholly of all matter of boasting and ' glorying in themselves, that the whole praise and honour ' might remain intire to himself, alone, Eph. 2. 9. Therefore ' Popilb Sophisters, which say that no works are excluded from Justification, but either Ceremonial or Civil, such as be done before faith; and do in part attribute salvation unto 'the merits of works done after grace, shew themselves igno-'rantly inconfiderate, and defirous of vain-glory; enemies also 'unto Gods grace and glory, and far from being the true Catholick Church: denying fuch a fundamental Catholick Doctrine, as free falvation, by the alone merit of lefus Christ, through Faith, without our own works done, exher before or after Grace.

"To the understanding of this question, Whether we be 'faved by Grace? The answer must be affirmative: but we must first consider two sorts of matters from which we are faved by Christ.

" I. Malum culpe, or fin. " 2. Malum pæne, or mifery.

"Secondly, we must consider two forts of grace, according to those marters.

4 1. Of regeneration, Mat. 21. 2 Tim. 1.9. Tit. 3.5. " 2. Of Remittion, or Justification, Ads 4. 12.

"To be faved by Works, how far to be denyed, and how far granted. See Works, and Justice, Grace, Freely.

"We are faved by Grace, as many as be faved at all:

"1. The outward means are freely ours, and given us. Ephef. 4. 8, &c. Rom 10. 15.

"2. The inward motions of godliness, and outward work thereof, is freely wrought for us and in us by the Spirit of God, Rom. 12. 3. Eph. 2 10. & 4. 7. Phil. 2. 13. 2 Pet. 1. 3.4. Tit. 2. 11, 12.

" 3. The price of our Redemption was freely bestowed on us, John 3. 16.1 Pet. 1. 18, 19.

"4. The Kingdom of heaven is freely prepared and fitted for us, John 14. 2.

"But yet not fo faved freely, or by grace, but that,

" 1. Being called and spoken to, we must hear. " 2. Hearing we must come.

 3. Being come, we must work both against all fins, and the causes of them, and also do many great and hard duties. " 4. And fuffer much evil for his fake that fuffered for us.

A Saviour is he, which not only hath perfectly deserved falvation by his blood-shed, and given it effectually, by shedding his holy Spirit into the hearts of the Elect; but doth 'also for time to come, constantly maintain, and for ever continue and preserve it, as the natural head doth distil and derive until death, sense, motion, and life into the natural body. A Saviour by merit, and a Saviour by efficacy, is Jesus Christ, hence called an eternal Redeemer, Heb. 9. 12. and Author of everlasting life, or eternal salvation, Heb. 5. 9.

'This Title is attributed to God the Father:

. Because he hath sent his son for our salvation.

To which end it was, that after his exaltation and instalment to his Regal Office, the first thing was his fending of his Spirit, thereby giving them (as here it follows) place of repentance, if upon the preaching of the Apoftles, they will come in, and believe on him. In this sense is it that Heb. 2. 10. Christ is called the Captain of Salvation, or deliverance; i. e. a Captain defigued on purpose to save or deliver them, to lead them (as it's there) through sufferings to blis, through the Wildernels, and the Land of the Anakims, to Canaan, as Mofes and Joihua, the Captains and the Saviours of the Tewsdid. 'Scandal Every occasion of fin, taken or given. See Of-fence. Whatsoever hindereth us in our Christian course, is a ' scandal or stone to stumble at.

A scandal is either passive, which is called a scandal taken, (acceptum Scandalum) when one by his own fault stumbleth Divines do call (Scandalum datum) an offence given, when by fome evil example in word or deed, or by indifcreet and uncharitable use of things indifferent, a Christian is either quite turned from the Faith, or hath his Conscience much troubled, and is much hurt as touching his salvation. Scandalum (saith 'Tertuliian) non est bona rei, sed rei mala exemplum, adificans ad e delictum, bona autem res neminem scandalizant prater malas mentes. Good things offend none but such as have ill minds; but things which be evil, because they build up and provoke to 'fin, therefore they give a just offence.

'Sin, when it appears in word or act, is a flumbling block,or an offence. Their wicked imaginations are not fcandalous, for they appear not as stones and blocks do, at which men flumble.

'They be weak Christians only which properly take hurt by offences, as weak men, which have feeble legs, stumble and solip at stones or blocks. Therefore as care must be had, not to put a stone before such to cause them to fall, and a curse belongs to fuch as do it by Moses Law, Deut. 27. so there is great respect to be had of weak Christians, not to minister to them an offence; and wo to him who doth it, Mat. 18. Strong ' Christians are not otherwise scandalized and offended, then because they be vexed and grieved with the unrighteous conversation of the wicked.

Between Offence and Scandal there may feem to be this difference, that the former fignifies a leffer hurt, when one 'fumbles but falls not, is grieved and troubled, but not utter-'Iy discouraged: the latter fignifies a greater hurt, when one fo stumbleth as he takes a fall, and halts upon it, being quite discouraged in the way of godliness.

Scandal is that whereby one is violently forced forward, and overturned; which cometh to pass divers ways: as either by striking the foot ignorantly against a stone, or some such thing, or if the foot be taken in a gin or net; or if it be pierced and thrust through, either with thorn, or sharp instrument; therefore it hath divers words to express it : sometimes it is expresfed by occorouse, i. e. any thing against which the foot striketh and itumbleth; fometimes it is expressed by mayis, a grin, or snare; sometimes by sundor, which signifieth a ttake sharpened at the end: Therefore it is not feandal wherewith any one is hurt, but hurt ignorantly; and it is twofold.

thus Chrift was a feandal to the Tems, who believed Chrift fhould be an earthly King in great pomp and glory. Sometime it comes from his fault who objects the scandal, and then it is a scandal given; which coment to pais, by exhoration unto fin, 2. by evil example, 3. by abusing Christian liberty; and this is that whereof the Apostle so much speaks of in his Epistles.

Moreover, Scandal is either in it self so, whether fins follow or not : or, 2. such as whereupon fin followeth: for the godly have often scandal given, when yet they fin not, but there is hardly any given to the wicked, whereupon they fin not; as Balak by the counsel of Balaam cast a sumbling block before the If actives, yet Phinebas did not fin upon it, but upon it followed the ruine of many Hypocrites. The scandal whereupon fin folthe functor many rypocation.

The control with the forther in the first forther in the first forther in the first forther in the first forther we must not shun, believed the first forther we must not shun, believed to the first forther we must not shun, believed to the first forther we must not shun, believed to the first forther we must not shun. cause we must not do evil that good may come of it; and there is nothing in it self necessary, but it is also in it self good, and it is evil to leave a good thing undone: wherefore al-though the world should perish, yet must we leave nothing undone that may advance Gods glory. But in things lawful yet not necessary the case is otherwise; for if by the using of such either the glory of God be impaired, or the peace of the Church or Commonwealth be diffurbed, we ought to abstain from them. Cameron Com.2. 335, 336, 337.

The efficient cause of Scandal in general is Satan; and in particular, both of Scandal taken by the wicked, who take all things in the worst part; and of scandal given, for he occupies the hearts of the wicked, that they will not believe, Gal. 3. 1.

The instrumental causes are, 1. Men raifed up by Satan, who either hinder the piety of others, or are offended at it.

42. Kingdom or Government. Gen. 49. 10.

Scepter | Administration or Government, Heb. 1. 9. The Scepter Shall not depart from Judah. Pfal. 45. 9. A Metonymie of the fign put for the thing fignified. It fignifies cruel and hard Government, Ifa. 14. 5. Also chastisement, 6 lob. 21. 9.

Note. By Scepter in this place of Genefis, two things be implyed: one is the Tribe of Judah, that it shall continue diffinct till Christs coming, the other ten being scattered and confused by the Captivity, 2 Kings 17. The other thing is the power of Government, which should be in this Tribe; for Scepter sometime so meaneth, it is manifest by the sacred Story, that after the coming of Christ even till his death, and *preaching of him by the Apostles, some power in civil and religious causes remained in Judah, howsoever supreme power in capital matters were taken away, John 18.31. See Zanchy Orat Solving Jett in order. A few, whole seven Sons were Exorcists, and wounded by Satan, Acts 19. 14.

Debt m A rent, division, breach or cutting off.
A division in the Church, or a rent amongst Christians, 'I Cor. 1. 10, 11, 12. That there be no diffensions among you. In the original Greek text, the word [[his] is exprelt; which imports a separation from the society of the Church, about external things. Schism is a diffension or separation, when one or more separate and rent themselves from the outward fellowship of the faithful cutting asunder the peace and unity of the Church,

'upon some dislike of some Rites and Orders therein lawfully received and observed; or else upon different opinions about 'their Teachers. As Herefie is a departing from the Com-' munion of the Church in respect of Doctrine; so Schism is 'a cutting off one felf for external things. An example hereof we have, 1 Cor. 1. 10, 11, 12. Every one of you fays, I am Pauls, I am Apollo's, I am Ceiphas's, and I am Corif's, Note. Schism is affirmed of division in Doctrine.

John 7. 43. Schismis an unjust and rash division made in the Church.

It hath its beginning from Satan, the first schismatick, Jude verse 6. who by his temprations often prevails with men to depart from God, as with Adam in Paradife.

2. From the members of Satan, who love to fifth in troubled waters, although all be not by the fame reasons; for some make rents and divisions in the Church through hatred, as the Donatifts; some through ambition and defire of rule, thus the Papacie increased by great Schisms, the Bishops of Rome threw down them of Alexandria, Ferusalem, and Constantinople; and the Romanists themselves raised many Schisms about the Popedome, as between Gregorie the twelfth and Beneditt: others separate out of ignorance, as the multitude, concerning Christrasse a division, John 7.43, 52. others out of a vainadmiration of their own worth, and perswasion of holiness, as the Anabaptifts and Brownifts.

Soctool 7 The place were Scholars are raught, such places the Jews had different from their Synagogues, Acts 19. 8, 9, 10. & 22.3. These Schools were in every City and Province, and were built upon hills, Judges 7. 1. There is mention of the Hill Moreh, i. e. the Hill of the Teacher: when the Mafters taught, they were said to give, Prov. 9. 9. The Scholars when they learned any thing were faid to receive, Prov. 4. 10. Hence that of the Apostle, I Tim. 1.15. This is a true saying, and by all means worthy to be received, (i. e.) learned. " $ sthool maffet ] The Ceremonial Law of Mofes to be an instructer of Gods people, teaching by the death of the Sacrifices, their own guilt and defert : Also that their whole Justification did lie in the obedience of Christ unto the death of the Cross, whereof the Legal Sacrifices were types and figns. Gal. 3. 24. The Law was our School-mafter to bring us to Christ. These last words [of bringing to Christ] confirm our fignification of School-mafters to be good and fit. Ceremonial Law bringeth to Christ by figure and representation; The Moral Law doth the same by condemnation (known experimentally) even as a difease found and felt driveth to the Phylician

I. The Ministers of the Gospel are the School-masters and Instructers of the Church, 1 Cor. 4. 15.

2. The Law is our School-mafter, leading to Christ, Gal.

1. Because it points out and shadows forth unto us Christ, by bodily rudiments of Ceremonies and Sacrifices.

2. Because the Law, especially Moral, urgeth and compelleth us to go to Christ; for it shews us our fins and that without remedy it shews that damnation that is due unto us; and by this means it makes us despair; of salvation in respect of our selves, and to seek it in Christ It is then our Schoolmaster not by plain teaching, but by stripes and correction.

Touching the scourging of Jesus, mentioned, Mat. 27. 26. Mark 15. 15. John 19. 1. To what the infliction of this fort of punishment on him belonged is matter of question.

I. That which is ordinarily faid, is that flagellation was among the Romans a folemn preparative to crucifixion; but this is not the notion that here we must have of the scourging of chrift, for then it must be part of his sentence of death, which by John 19. 1--6, 9, 12--16. it appears it was not.

2. The learned H. Grotius applyes this (courging to that other ordinary use of it, for examination, such as Acts 22. 24. But there is no ground in any of the Gospels for this conjecture.

3. A third fort of scourging there was for capital crimes, whipping to death, with the head fastened to the furca, which was the old Roman punishment, but this belongeth not to this

4. That which will reconcile all the difficulty, and it felf be subject to none, is that Pilate willing to deliver Jesus from capital fentence, appointed this of scourging to be inflicted on him. He proposed to the Jews the scourging of him as a lighter punishment, propor ionable to his crimes, and then that he may release him. So that the notion of his scourging was that of a lighter punishment, to release him from a greater, though when that was done, he was fain to gratifie them by delivering him up to their fury to be crucified also. 3. Every one that expoundeth or declareth the will of God; whether Apostle, Evangelist, Prophet, &c. Matth. 13. 526. Every Scribe taught to the Kingdom of Heaven. The Secretaries of Princes and publick Notaries were of old called Scribes, 2 Kings 12. 17

Scribe is a name of Office, not a Sect, There are divers forts

1. Such as were occupyed in making contracts, and writing Deeds and Instruments: whereof mention seems to be made, Ezek. 9. 2, 3. Jer. 32. 11. 1 Chr. 2. 55. Whereunto the Pfalmift alludeth, Pfal. 45. 2.

2. Such as attended the King as his Secretaries, called the Kings Scribes, 2 Sam. 8. 17. & 20. 25. 2 Kings 18. 18. & 12. 10. Of these there were two sorts, one daily attending the King, the other took an account of the Army, 2 Chron. 26. 11.

The third fort were fuch as belong to the Church, and were Expounders of the Law, Luke 7. 30. called Dottors of the Law, Ibid. 5.17. and they might be indifferently of any Tribe; they clave to the written Word, and when they accuse Christ, it is with a breach of the Law, whereas the Pharifees was with a breach of Tradition.

The yeauuates, Scribes, were they that had been taught vegunata, John 7. 15. the books or writings of the Law, iseg. γεάμματα, 2 Tim. 3. 15. the boly writings, or Scriptures, and infructed in the meaning of them; those that had been the Sons of the Prophets, i. e. brought up in their Schools, but having not obtained the spirit or mission of Prophets at Gods hands, were sometimes thought fit to be chosen into the Sanbedrim. These (I say ) are called Scribes, and wife men; and accordingly the Fews have an ancient saying, that After the age of the Prophets (i. e. when the spirit of Prophesie was no more given) succeeds the age of the Scribes. Though of these some only did keep schools, and teach the Law; and then are styled simply resuprates, Scribes; whereas the others that were taken into the great Sanbedrim, are called Scribes of the People,

2. The Word, inspired of God, written for the perfect and perpetual instruction of the Church, in godliness, by the Prophets and Apostles, the Pen-men of the Holy-Ghost, 2 Tim. 3. 16, 17. The whole Scripture is given by inspiration of God, and is profitable to teach, &c.

1. Doctrine is of all truth pertaining to falvation.

2. Reproof is a confutation of errors. 2. Correction, is a reprehension of vices, and a dehortation from them.

4. Infraction, is exhortation to all virtues, with the sweet promises of God, the better to allure thereunto.
Whatsoever belongs to Faith or Manners, is sufficiently staught in holy Canonical Scripture, where all things be plain which be necessary.

Papists do wrongfully charge Scripture with imperfection and darkness, to make way for their unwritten Verities and Traditions, and to drive the people from it. All divine faving truth is sufficiently taught in the Scriptures of the Old and New Testament. I adore the fulness of Scripture, faith one elearned Father. Scriptures were given the Church, not only for sufficiency unto salvarion, but for the sulness of faith,

(C) f the Scripture, there is a fourfold use mentioned in behalf of the Christian hearer, Rom. 15, 4, whereof one is con-templative, as a fountain and foundation of the rest, to wit, Doctrine the mother of Faith; the other three uses be o practick, tending to life and manners, to wit,

1. Patience. 42. Confolation

'3. Hope; which is named last, because though it immediately spring out of faith, yet in endureth last, even till salvation loped for, be attained. Let all Chriftians fludy thus to use Scrippure. But in 2 Tim. 3, 16, 17, in behalf of the *Christian Teachers there be four other uses reckoned up.

'1. Teaching the truth of the Word-*2. Reproving or conviction of herefies.

'3. Correction of vices. 4. Instruction in a righteous life.

It doth also belong to a Preacher to strengthen the hope of Gods children, touching happiness in heaven, by the con-folation of Scriptures. Let all Gods Ministers study to put the Seriptures to these uses in their Sermons, as the nature of their Text will bear.

Scriptures are necessary for the Church two ways:

1. Absolutely unto the being of the Church, as daily bread, which our life cannot lack; or as Instruments which the Gold-smith must needs have.

'2. They are necessary, that is, profitable and commodious for well-being (as riches to our life) for they are exceedingly behooveful unto faith, John 20. 31. Mat. 22. 29. unto doctrine, Rom. 15. 4. unto patience, comfort, hope, Rom. 15. 5. Also to those other four purposes mentioned, 2 Tim.

Scripture. The Books of the Old and New Testament are so called by an excellency which they have above all other Books : For,

1. They contain the whole Will of God necessary to be known for our falvation.

2. They were impired by the Holy Ghoft, 2 Tim. 3. 17. 2 Pet. 1. 21. 3. They contain a wisdom far above all the wisdom of the world, 1 Cor. 6. 7.

4. They were penned by the most excellent of men, for wildom and holiness, as Moses, David, Solomon, the Prophets, Aposties, and Evangelists.

5. They are most perfect, pure, deep, and immutable, containing all things necessary for faith and good manners, 2 Tim. 3. 17, 18. Matt. 5. 24. 1 Pet. 1. 23.

Monsters are properly such as either have some strange deformity, besides the natural and ordinary course of their kind; or grow to such an enormous bigness and stature, as far exceedeth the common proportion of others of the same kind; but no kind of creature simply confidered can properly be termed a Monfter; nor can it be faid, that God made any Monsters in his first work of Creation : Sea-monsters therefore is not proper here, and Sea-calves feems too narrow: Seals might do well; if that particular kind were aimed at, which would include as well Sea-horfes and Sea-bounds, as Sea-calves, all covered with rough and hairy skin: But I fee not why the word should not here be rendred as in the story of the Creation it is, Gen. 1. 21. & Job 7. 12. and as it would be, Pfalm 44. 19. & 74. 13. Such of the Jews, as until the death and refurrection of our Lord, did use Circumcision as a Seal of the righteousness of faith, are never reproved therefore in the Apoftolical writings, (for this use was appointed of God:) but when the lews after the institution of Baptism and Ascension of our Lord, would ftill continue circumcifion as not abolished. attributing to it power of Justifying, joyning it with Christ in the cause and merit of salvation, and thereby binding themselves for attainment of eternal life unto the observation of the whole moral Law; they were worthily taxed by Paul, for abolishers and makers void of the grace of God, and of the death and righteousness of Christ; as in Gal. 5. 2, 3, 4. and elsewhere, in that and other of his Epistles.

quity. ) 2 Tim. 2. 19, Having the feal. "Note, that in the comparison of our Sanctification with fealing, there are these seven circumstances of likeness.

"I. The letter written, or casket filled with treasure is every good Christian, 2 Cor. 3, 23. Heb. 10, 16, 2 Cor. 4-7.

"2. The wax appointed to be sealed and annexed to the letter or vessel, is the relenting heart of man, apt to take "any imprefion, Pfal. 22. 14.

"3. The Sealer, or person appointed to seal us, is the holy "Ghost, Eph. 1. 13. & 4. 30.

"4. The seal it self is the Word of God, which being ap"plyed to the heart, can affect it with the liking and likeness of it felf.

"5. The fealing, or impression active, is the act of applying the Word of God (whether precept or promise) by the holy Ghost within, and Minister without, to the Hearer.

"6. The print, or impression passive, or image of the seal left in the wax, is the knowledge, faith, and love of that truth, righteousues and happiness, which God originally hath in himself, and his Word from him; and now man hath the true pattern thereof in himfelf, Eph. 4. 23, 24. 2 Tim. 2. 19.

7. The use or end of this sealing, is the secretie and safety of the thing sealed (as a priviledged thing) from the eyes of curiofity, and hands of violence, wherewith firangers or ene-mies would abuse it. So are the Children of God past the censure of the wicked world, 1 Cor. 2. 15. & 4. 3. and preferved as precious things, for Gods own use to be with him in heaven, 2 Tim. 2. 20, 21. even the Spirit of Adoption, wherewith all the Saints are sealed and set in safety in the midst of Antichrist's tyranny. Rev. 7. 2. Having the feal of the living God. Also Rev. 9. 4.

The allusion is made here to Kings of the earth, who have their own Secretaries and keepers of their Seal. Our Lord Jefus Christ is privy to all the secret counsel of his Father, and he is the keeper of the privy feal of the great King, and with it he stampeth none, but such as are in the Book of life, which is the Roll of Gods Elect. He hath also external feals, such as are Baptim, and the Sacrament of the Supper: with these he marketh all that are in the Church visible. The ministry of the external feals, he concredits unto his fervants; but the inward and privy feal, he referveth to himself, 1 Cor. 2. 6. Mat. 2, 11. A Seal is a note of Appropriation, whereby a man marketh that which is his own, that it may be discerned from that which is not his; and it imports also, a conforming of the thing sealed unto the seal wherewith it is sealed. The feat of the living God, is the image of the living God, which the Lord Jesus by his holy Spirit, stamps and ingraves in the fouls of his Saints. This feal we have, this his image hath the Lord communicated to us, if we refemble him our Father. being holy as he is holy, &c. Comper.

where by pe are fedded, Eph. 4. 30. The special use of a seal, and that which in this and other places of the Scripture is most commonly referred to, is that of a mark or Character set upon wares or commodities that are bought by any; and because men were as ordinary bought as any other commodity, nothing was more ordinarily than to set a feel or mark upon them, either in their forehead, or some other part, to distinguish them from all others. Thus Rev. 7. 3. the feating is there accommodated to the fervants of God, who are there supposed to be bought, and are now farther to be rescued out of the temporal infuing danger; and as a token of that fealed in the forehead, as Servi, Servants, in respect of the original of the word, a Servando, is all one with out bulyou, who being spiritually rescued and saved already from the pollutions of the world, are now to be delivered from the approaching destruction; when without the mark of discrimination, the good and ill might all be involved in the same calamity. Thus when John 6. 27. it's faid, that God the Father hath fealed Christ, the meaning is clear, that by the miracles which he did, and especially by the Holy Ghosts descending upon bim, with this is he, he had owned him his servant, Isa. 42. 1. and demonstrated it as punctually as if he had marked him in the forehead, that this was his anointed special servant, sent by commission from him, discriminated from all others; and that, whatsoever he faid, was the will and pleasure of God. In reference to what was there faid, of God's fealing Christ, is that which is here faid to be understood also; for there the Spirit's coming down upon Christ, was the sealing of him, the signifying that he was Gods servant, sent on his message to the world; and here in like manner the Ephesians are said to be sealed by the Spirit to the day of redemption, i. e. by the preaching of the Gospel, and setting of a Church among them, which is an effect directly of the Holy Ghosts descending on the Apostles, (as before upon Christ) and an act of the office of the Holy Ghost, by which the Epbesians that were believers, were demonstratively pointed as their neglecting and contradicting these designs of God, living unchriftianty, verse 29. See 2 Cor. 1. 22. So Eph. 1. 13. Dr. Hammond Annot. i. "Sealed with fiben feals ] That which is most perfectly

1. The mysteries of Religion, as the Trinity, the Incarnation of Christ, the Life to come.

2. The fecrets of mens hearts, 1 Cor. 2. 11.

2. Things to come. Setret ] Judg. 13. 18. or Wonderful, marg. This word fecret is also put,

1. For Gods good providence, Job 29. 4. 2. Unknown, not revealed, Pfalm 19. 12. & 64. 2.

3. Gods favor and grace, Prov. 3. 32. . That which is in private imparted, and not to be rerealed, Prov. 25. 9. & 20. 19. 5. Gods will concerning things which he will bring to pass, Amos 3.7.

6. The hidden meaning of a Dream or Vision, Dan. 2. 18 10. & A. O.

Secret place The most high God, who is a rock of falvation, and hiding place for his people, Cant. 2. 14. My Dove, thou art in the secret places of the Stairs. See Pfalm 32. 7. & 61. 5. & 91. 1. By Faith in Christ we ascend unto God by degrees, as by fairs, he being the Ladder which Tacob faw in a Vision, upon whomethe Anguls of God ascended and descended, Gen. 28. #25 John 1. 51. Aynsm. .

Or, in craggy places of steep precipitate rocks, or towers, as it is in the margin, Ezek. 38. 20. God hath secure trenches and fortifications to defend his Doves in, when hunted and purfued, and as he hid Moses his friend, Exod. 32. 22. So will he hide them where no enemy shall find them, but only himself to whom they are visible and conspicuous in all conditions, though they are not so to the world. Seturitp | is two-fold :

1. Carnal, when men live without the fear of God. Of this is spoken, Prov. 28. 14. Mar. 12. 44. It is two-fold:

1. In the wicked, which confifts in a total want of any reverence of God, which begets a contempt and flupid carelefness and senslesness of the anger and judgments of God; such are called fools, Prov. 3.7.

2. In the godly, who are infected with this carnal fecurity but in part, being but partly regenerate; in respect whereof the fear of God is cold and languishing, especially in prosperity,

2. There is a fecurity of Fzith, whereby we doubt not of, but are sure of the promises of God, as if we had them in possession. This breeds peace of conscience, I John 2. 19, and joy of heart, Pfal. 4. 8, c. & 16. c.

4. An action of Gods love, toward such as have forsaken him, Luke 19. 10.

'This action of our feeking hath thefe degrees. I. The feeling of the want of some excellent and needful thing. 2. An earnest defire of finding.

43. A diligent use of all good means whereby to attain it; as prayer, reading, hearing, &c.

4. Constancy untill we find. s. A love of the thing found.

6. A care to keep, and lothness to lose it. This whole action is shadowed in the example of Mary, in seeking of * Jesus. Luke 2. 44, 45. &℃.

3. To employ the wit or mind to study, and all the senses "to fearch out a thing, together with the means, place, time "and use thereof, Mat. 7. 7. and it is more than asking, which is but a defire of the heart, and speech of the mouth.

Deeking, referred to God ] doth contain thefe five feveral things.

'First, that we are either lost (as all are before their conversion ) or stragled from him (as every converted person is more or less; at one time or other. ) Luke 19. 10. Luke 15. '3, 4, &c.
'2. A defire and care in God, to recover us, and to bring 'us back to himself (as an hen is careful to gather her Chic'kens.) Mat. 23. 37. How often, &c.

" 3. The offering and continuing unto us means, that he may find us; to wir, his Word, Ministers, bleffings, corrections, motions of his Spirit, checks of our confcience, admo-'nitions of the godly; By all which we are fought up and called to him, as through the whole Scripture manifestly appeareth.

4. His great love towards us, being found and recovered. 'This is expressed in the Father of the lost Son, Luke 15.2.

5. Care to keep us fill, with unwillingues to lose us again. John 10. 28. None thall take them out of my hands. All these things are shadowed out unto us, in him that sought his 'lost sheep, Luke 15. 2, 3, 4, 5, &c.
'Seebing (as it is affirmed of hypocrites and wicked men) is on nothing else but the making of a shew, as if they felt a want of God, and his good gifts, and were defirous to find them; when in truth, they feek not him for himfelf, but for fome other thing, as their own ease and commodities, &c. Or they 'feek other things more than him, or before him, as worldlings; or feek him amifs, not in his Word, as herericks; or onot in all his Word, as hypocrites feek him: or laftly, they 'feek him too late, when he is not to be found, as the five foolish Virgins did, and all secure Christians do. 6. One that is in bondage under the Ceremonies of Moss Law, Gal. 4. 7. Too art no more a Servant but a Son. Such a one was so servant to the Law, as to a Tutor, yet was free by the Spirit of Adoption. One that is a vile slave, and fubject to others, Gen. 9. 26, 27.

7. One which is of a bafe mind, having mean or no gifts, being a man of no worth or respect for good qualities. Eccl. . 10. 4. I have feen fervants on horfes.

8. One of inferior condition and low degree. Eccl. 10.7. · Princes walk as servants.

One which serveth and ministreth to the Church in the duries of Charity, Rom. 16. 1. "10. One that addicteth himself to serve and please the "appetites of evil men, and to compose himself wholly to their evil examples and behefts, without regard of God or

"godliness, 1 Cor. 7. 23.
"11. One that bindeth himself to serve another in all good " and lawful matters, and in those which are also indifferent, " not only with body, but with the mind also. Eph. 6. 5, 6.

Derhant ] Imade my felf servant to all, 1 Cor. 9. 19. Servaris, or & ho ho hor men or flaves, were wholly in the power of their Mafters; they had power of life and death over them, much more of their bodies for labor, without giving them any much more or then waters for tawn, without group then any wages or reward. To do all that they are commanded is but the due debt to their mafters, which if they perform they are not praised, but punished if they do it not; whereas they that are free, if they do any office for any, they may in reason exped to be paid for it. So here St. Paul being a free-man, no five to the Corintbians, i. e. under no obligation to preach without maintenance, verse i. might in reason expect from them reward for all his service, his preaching, &c. but he did all this for nothing, and that he calls, & S'& A work & wav joy maon, his ferving them as a fervant doth without any mages, or as though he were a servant, Dr. Ham. Derbant of fin ] One who of his own accord readily obeyeth the defires and motions of fin. Rom. 6. 20. For when ' ye were the servants of sin, that is, when ye lived in fin, doing that willingly it commanded.

Derbants ] were either by birth fo, or fo made.

So by birth, were those born of Hand-maids, though the Father had been free: hereunto David alludeth, Pfaim 116. 16. I am the Son of thy Hand-maid; i. e. my Mother dwelt within thy house, and was within the Covenant, and I was born within thy house, and belong to thee. When both the

So made, either by the law of Nations, or by the Civil law The first way were those taken in War. Christ alludeth to this form, Luke 4. 13. calling miferable finners, Captives: And the Apoffle, 2 Pet. 1. 19. By the Civil Law, were fuch as fold themselves to be faves. Hereunto the Holy Ghoft alludeth, I Kings 21. 25.

Servants in respect of their imployments, were of four forts among the Jews.

1. Those who had the greatest charge in the house, as Elegar in Abrahams house; such a one was Herod's steward, Luke 8.3. These were said to stand before their Master, 1 Kings 10. 8. Hercunto the Angel alludeth, Luke 1. 19. it imports their readiness to serve him. Of such Christ speaks, Mat. 24. 45.

2. Those who had an inferior fort of service; such was 3. A third fort were thole who were more fervile, as Cooks and Fakers, 1 Sam. 8. Elisha, who poured water upon the hands of Elijah.

4. The fourth were those who were set to the basest fort of service, as to grind in the Man-mill, Exod. 11. 5. Such are faid to fit behind the Mill, because they thrust the Mill before them, as they wronght; they were Captives, who in the day did grind in the Mill, and in the night were shut up in a pit or dungeon, and the door was flut with a milstone. Isaiah alludeth to this, ch. 47. 2. This fervice among the Greeks was called daxoria. xoris is called duft, because they served in the dust. This word now is appropriate to Church-service.

They had likewise their Mercenary servants, which was more ease. The time of this service lasted but three years. Deut. 15. 18. Ifa. 16. 14. Job alludeth to this fort, Job 7. 1.

To do all things according to the will of God, with an earnest defire therein to glorifie God, e making his praise the utmost mark of our obedience to his word, Rom. 12. 11. Serving the Lord. If we firetch the fense of this precept yet further, hereby to fignifie unto us, that we ought to serve not men, but God: and that the Lord ruleth over great and small, then we have a more full meaning.

Such as do interpret the words [Serving the time ] intend 'not thereby, that as Neutrals and Temporizers, we should change our Religion and behaviour, as times do change; but either to watch the opportunity and feasons of doing good things; or to observe what is fittest to be done, according to the circumstance of time, fitting our selves thereunto, yet without turning from truth and honesty, either to the right hand, or to the left: or to confider how thort our time is, using this world as if we did not use it, 1 Cor. 7. Or patiently to bear adversities, at what time they befall us. 'Here is overthrown that Popish distinction of Latria, (a worship due to God alone) and Donlia (a worship peculiar to Saints:) seeing the worship of Idols is here called [Donlia] which word is also essewhere applyed to signific the worship of God, Rom. 12. 11. and eleven times in the Scripture besides. Latria is attributed to God nineteen times in the New Testament, and the Greek Interpreters have given it nine times unto God in the Old Testament, Doulia twenty seven times, as learned Paraus in his Lectures on the Romans, ch. 12. v. 1. hath observed.

There is a servitude of the Eody, and a servitude of the Mind. Both are, 1. Natural.

2. Political.

3. Of the Confcience.

Natural, of the mind, is the ignorance and weakness of it. yet without fin.

Of the body, is fickness and whatsoever belongeth to it, and death; from this Christ hath not freed us in this life, only he hath turned them into a bleffing, Rom. 8. 28.

Political is threefold : 1. Civil,

2. Filial,

2. Servile.

civil, Of the Subject unto the Magistrate. Filial, Of the Child to the Parents.

Servile, Of the Servant to his Mafter. Christ hath not freed is from this in this life, for his Grace is neither repugnant to Nature, nor Human right, yet he caufeth that we abide under it willingly, not by compulsion.

The servitude of Conscience consisteth in divers particu-

1. That none dare confide and truft in God, but that at the remembrance of fin, the Conscience is terrified. This is called the fear of death, not only corporal, but eternal; from this the godly are freed in this life, and this freedom is their happiness, that notwithstanding our fins, yet we dare trust our selves to God. This is called liberty and boldness, 2 Chron. 3. 17. and the Spirit of adoption, Rom. 8. 15.

2. In that man by nature gives way to his own luft, neglecting God; and if at any time he be awaked out of fin, to ferve God, yet it is either out of hope of reward, or fear of punishment. This the Apostle speaks of, Rom. 7. & Gal. 4. From this the gody are freed, Rom. 8. 2. They that are Chrifts are Sons, and serve not God like Mercenary servants. This Christ doth by fetting before our eyes the horror of fin, the wrath of God, and then the love of God in Christ, and hope of eternal life. This is but begun in this life.

3. In that the worship of God is tyed either to certain Ceremonies (though commanded) to certain Persons, or certain Times, or certain Places; or unto the using of, or abstaining from certain things in themselves, neither good nor evil. From this Christ hath freed us altogether in this

4. In that the promises of Grace were shadowed out in ceremonies, types and figures, which were a vail cast over them. So that they were but obscurely discerned. Christ

5. In that we are terrified by every thing, except in pro-ferity, whereby we are exceedingly lifted up. From this Chrift hath freed us, by feting before our eyes a certain hope carint nath recens, oy reining octored the way to us by his blood, not only by example, but by farisfaction also; which is ratified with God by his refurrection from the dead.

Rom. 11. 4.) the Spirit being pleased to use this number more often than any other, even 37 times in this Book. The words are in the Original, were flain the names of men 7000. It may be for that this destruction lighted upon men of note, losing their dignities, honours, and revenues, by which they did before live. Bernard.

Sehen thunders | Most grievous judgments of all forts, which God shall proclaim and inflict most severely, upon all wicked contemners of his Majesty; namely, the Antichriflian rabble. Rev. 10. 3. And when he bad cried, seven thun-ders uttered their voices. Some expound these seven Thunders not of feveral judgments of God, but of feveral zea-· lous Instruments ordained of God to restore his Religion, and to terrifie the wicked enemies thereof.

The number of feven, answerable to the feven Trumpets, is noted, to fhew, that now the Lord would begin to fend out a plentiful means of instruction, to recover again his people from under Antichrist; and the times from thence till now, fhew us, that he hath so done. This Ministery of the Gospe published by his faithful servants, is compared to the voice of thunder:

1. For that it shall be made to be heard above all voices, as being the loudest, as the degrees of found of voices, set out, Chapter 19.6. shew. No voice of multitudes, no voice of many waters, is so loud as the voice of thunder. As such a voice was needful at the giving of the Law, Exod. 19. to cast down all humane reason, and to cause men to submit them-felves to the Lords will; so was it now to beat down mans carnal reason, pearked up in the Antichristian State, pre-scribing rules of Religion, and making a meer Will-worship of fervice unto God.

2. Because of the power of Gods word, being powerful as thunder (as Job speaks, Chap. 26, 14.) to strike terror and searns mens hearts. See Mark 3, 17. Acts 24, 26. Job 37. 1.

3. Because, as the thunder of Gods power is not to be understood, Job 26, 14, so the power of Gods word passeth all mens understanding; they cannot comprehend the reason of suah a mighty and terrifying power, as thunder, to be in so weak means, in all outward appearance, Bernard.

against the ungrateful world, and thereby to give warning of the Vials of his wrath, to be poured forth on such as would not be amended by the Judgments now denounced. They are seven blowing one after another, to shew Gods patience, who is unwilling to pour out his wrath all at once. Pfal. 78. 38.

They are called Trumpers; as founding out Gods displeasure to the earthly-minded, to awake them; as also to note, that these plagues should not be without open hostility, a proclaiming of open defiance, and provoking to war, gathering troops together, to make affaults, and to encounter one ano-orher, as deadly enemies in battel. Seventy and Seven-fold, Gen. 4. 24. that is, If he that killeth Cain shall be punished seven-fold, then he that killeth me shall be seventy seven-fold. It seemeth to be an insolent contempt of Gods Judgments, and abusing of his patience towards Cain, ver. 15. See Ecclef. 8. 11. Annot.

Some take the words for feventy times feven, which makes up four hundred and ninety times ; but it is feventy times, and feven times, as Gen. 7. 2. According to the Hebrew the words are, of every clean beaft thou thatt take thee feven feven, that is, not feven times seven, nor two sevens, though the word be doubled; but is (as it is well rendred in our Translation) by sevens. So Mark 6.7. when our Saviour fent out the twelve by two and two, he fent them not by fours, but by feveral two's. The meaning of Lamech's words may feem to be this, that Cain's impunity might be his fecurity, fince though he had had his hands in blood, it was not the blood of his natural brother, nor with contumacy against God, after the manner of Cain; and therefore if any one should kill him, he should be punished much more, seventy and seven-fold; a certain number put for an uncertain, as verse 15. Thus a wicked man turns the divine patience into humane prefumption. Annot.

Sobadow In the shadow of death, Luke 1. 79. As the valley of the shadow of death, Pfalm 23. 4. fignifies a gloomy vale of danger, of the utmost evil (there being less warmth or light (2s being shaded by the bills, and more subject to the incursion of molves than hills) so proportionably here (in a spiritual sense) the shadow of death is a state of fin and ignor ance, want of light or knowledge, and want of warmth or grace; the description of the state under the Law, which affordeth neither of these in any proportion to what is now done by Christ, and so left men in a dangerous condition, till Christ was thus pleased to shine upon them, and thereby to rescue them out of it. Dr. Ham.

Sharen Jesus Christ, from whom the faithful receive rest, peace, and refreshing against hot persecutions of the e world, the fiery temprations of Satan, and burning heat of guiltiness for fin; even as they, which being parched by the heat of the Sun, are refreshed by the shadow of a Tree, Cant. 2. 3. urder his shadow bad I delight, and sate down.

Shauow Heb. 10. 1. The Law having a hadow of good things to come. Some are of opinion that here St. Paul alludes to the custom of Painters, who first make a rude draught, and then out of it a perfect and lively picture. These make the fense this, viz. That the Old Covenant did contain only dark resemblance and Types of heavenly things, no lively representations of them; this being reserved unto the time of the Goffel, wherein Chrift and all fpiritual bleffings in him are clearly and plainly manifested. Others are of opinion that St. Paul alludes unto the shadow of a body, and these make this the sense of the words, viz. That the old Covenant had only Types, wherein Christ and hea-

bers of a body, the eyes, the face, hands, &c. Only the shadow tells you there is a body; but an Image hath the whole lineaments and proportion of the body in it: In it ye may behold the feveral parts and dimensions of the body; so in the Law, they had a fight of Christ, yet it was darkly in a shadow; we have the very express form and image of Christ with all his

'2. To give, to impart, to communicate, to do; as, I will chew him how great things he shall suffer, Acts 9. 16. This was by offering occasions of trouble, and giving patience, Asend, or come up hither, and we will shew you a thing; that is, we will do a thing. 1 Sam. 4. 12. I will hew, (that is, give) thee all my good. Exod. 33. 19. Who will hew (communicate or impart) any good unto us? Plat. 4. 6. Thou half shewed (that is, done) unto thy reople hard things. Pfal. 59.5. & 70. 20. & John 5. 20. And hemseth him all things: not by teaching him as an igno-rant one, (for he is the wisdom of the Father, who made all by him) but by communicating to the Son (as effence and e nature, (o) power and faculty to work divine works. Which Christ as Son received of his Father by eternal generation:
 As Mediator, at his Incarnation, God shed (as his love and heart, fo) his vertue and might into him.

3. To present and offer something unto ones fight and view. Mat. 4. 8. And (heroed him all the Kingdoms, &c. Mat. 6 8.4. Mar. 14. 15. John 2. 18. John 1c. 23. Many good works have I showed you; that is, done in your eyes, John 2. 24.

4. To evidence some hidden thing by outward tokens and works ordained for manifestation of a secret grace, seated in the heart and invisible, James 2. 18. & 3. 13

Shew, is put also to direct and guide, Exod. 18. 20.

2. To reveal and make known, Deut. 5. 5. Gen. 41. 39.

3. To do, Rom. 2. 15. Acts 28. 2.

4. To remember, 1 Cor. 11. 26.

5. To foretel, Rev. 1. 1. & 4. 1. Gen. 41. 25. Judg. 13. 23.

6. To make, Tit. 2. 7.

Shew A vain (hem, Pfal. 39.6. Hebr. image, marg.

Shew of their countenance, Ila. 3. 9. or tryal, as some : for it comes from a word that fignifies to acknowledge, Prov. 20. I 1. or frangeness as others, because the same word sometime signifieth to estrange, I Kings 14. 5, 6. Or, as others, hardness, from a word that fignifies to harden, Job 19. 3. and the word in Arabich is faid to be so used. Nor is it unusual in the Latin Tongue, to fav. one of an hard face, for an impudent man. However, the fense is certainly this, that their very looks alone were evidence enough, without further proof to convince them, how they flood inwardly affected; the disposition of their heart therein, as evidently offering it felf to view, as if it were even enftamped on their faces, or engraven on their foreheads; and that their extreme impudency is implied, the fequel shews. See Jer. 3. 3. An harlots forehead. Annot.

And for a shew make long prayers, Luke 20. 47. The word menatage for the most part is used of a salse or reigned cause, vet specious, and having the shew of truth, when one pretends fomething as a cause, when in the mean time he hidern the true cause, as here. Leigh Crit. Sac.

To make a fair (here, Gal. 6. 12. Gr. good face, or fair countenance. A fair shew against the truth, in keeping carnal Rites and Ceremonies; they urge Circumcifion upon you, not out of any affection and zeal that they bear to the Law; but only for this purpose, that they may purchase themselves favor among those of their own fort, and escape the malice and persecution of the Tews. Annot.

He made a (bew of them openly, Col. 2. 15. Bringing them to open shame. Annot.

She'to-breat ] was twelve loaves fet upon a Table of Shittim wood, Exod. 25. 23, 30. It was continually fet before the Lord. They were made of fine flour; they represented the twelve Tribes of Ifrael: They flood always before the Lord, called therefore panis facierum, or propositionis, to signific that the Church is always the object of the eye of God; they were renewed every Sabbath, Lev. 24. 8. to fignifie the renewing of the graces of God to his Church. None might eat of it but the Priests, who served in their course that week, and their Sons, Levit. 24. 9. So long as they did ear of it, they were not to company with their wives, Exod. 19. 14. This abstinence, I Sam. 21. is called a clean way; therefore when David in neceffity came to eat of it, the Priefts told him, that he might not eat of it, if the mens velfels were not fantitified; which is nothing else but if they had companied with their wives; and by veffels is meant the body, so called, I Thest. 4.4. That this is the meaning, is clear by David's answer, that they had abstained 'em women thefe three days, I Sam. 21. 6. 7.

DieiDe | See Bucklers. Dingaton Plate 7. the Title. This word cometh from another Hebrew word, fignifying to first or wander, whereby some do conjecture, that this was a various Song, skipping from one kind of tune into another; and used in great anguifhes of heart, when as the thoughts and flirrings of the heart, through greatness of trouble, do vary and fall from one strain through greatness of traving and factoring manner. D. Annet. unto another in a firaying and feattering manner. D. Annet. Some would have it an inftrument of Musick, others a certain tune, or beginning of a Song, or certain kind of Verse.

An artificial Song of David, or David's delight. The word properly figuifieth aberration, or, ignoration, and is here and in Habbak. 3. 1. only used in the title of Songs, which seem to be made of fundry variable and mandering Verses, which being composed by art, cause the more delight. The Hebrew word Shagah, whereof this is derived, is used for delight, or mandering in pleasure, Prov. 5. 19, 20. according to which we may name this Song, Davids delight, or Solace: Or, in the other fignification, David's Error; as fetting forth, the fum of his cares, which made him almost to go astray. The Chaldee expoundeth it, David's interpretation of the Law. Aynsw.

Mary the Virgin, of the linage of Judah. It is in Hebrew the fecundine, or after-birth, to fignifie that Chrift did take our infirmities, and brought us peace, and prosperity, even salvari-

Shiloh] until Shiloh come, Gen. 49. 10. The word is derived from Shalab, which fignifieth to cease, and be quiet, and peaceable; and the same is taken not only in a passive sense to be for but in an active to make fo; and so it is put for a prosperous or safe-maker or Saviour, the Author of quietness and safety to others. It is taken also for the tunicle or skin, in which the child is wrapped in the Mothers belly, because there the child lieth in peace and quietness. Whence by an usual Metonymy, or figurative taking of the continent for the thing contained (as the cup for the liquor in the cup, the house for the people in the house it is taken for the child that was wrapped in it. In both senses it is applied to Christ, for he was most quiet and peaceable, Isa, 42. 2. & 53. 7. Heb. 12.3. 1 Per. 2. 23. He was also a Peace-maker for others, and a Saviour to others, Ifa. 52.5. And he is Shiloh, that is, a Son of the lineage of Judah. Heb. 7.14. And as Judah is compared to a Lion in the 9. verse of this chapter, so is he called the Lion of the tribe of Judah, Rev. 5. 5. Aunot.

It is by interpretation, the prosperer, the safe-maker; or, his Son, (to wit, of a Virgin) that is, Christ, who was to spring out of Tu ab. Aynfor.

rau off the 2000s. Deut. 2). 9. I nis was twofold:

1. Religious, as Exod. 3. 5. John 5. 13.

2. Civil, which was twofold:

The first served for the folemnity of their contracts.

The second was for a punishment and disgrace, Deut. 25. 9 and it differed from the other for confirmation.

1. In difgrace the woman her felf pulled off the shoo of him that refused to raise up seed to his Brother; but in the other, the man loofed his own shoo, and pulled it off.

2. When the man pull'd off his shoo, it was no disgrace, but it was to secure his right; if he fold the Land, it was a token he was willing to part with his right; if he bought, it was a fign of his possession.

3. The difgracefull pulling off was by command, but the other was by cuftom, Ruth 4. 7.

4. That of diffrace was pulled off from the natural Brother, if he refused to raise up feed; but that of confirmation was pulled off by any who made a contract in token of possession. The Lord alludeth to this, Palan 60. 8.

5. That of difgrace was given to no body, but that of contract was given to him who bought the Land.

6. The former was pulled off againft his will; but in contract they defired him that fold the Land to pull it off, and he did it willingly.

7. The first was pulled off before the Judg, but the latter before any sufficient witness.

8. When they pulled off the shoo in disgrace, they spit in his face; but in the latter no fuch difgrace was offered.

9. In the former, when the woman pulled off the shoo, the used these words. So shall it be done to the man who refuseth to build his Brothers house, Deut. 25. 9. But no such words were used in the latter.

10. He that refused to raise up seed to his Brother, his house was called domus discalceati in Israel; but there followed no fuch difgrace to him that pulled off his shoo in contract.

righteous, but the finners to repentance.
Sith of lone ] One taken and held with a vehemenc and immoderate passion of love, being ready to swoun through strong desire after the thing loved; such is the affection of the Church after Christ, Cant. 2. 5. For I am sick

This speech implyeth a want of feeling, and enjoying the presence and comforts of Christ, as by her after speech is manifest, Cant. 5. 8. and that such is the Churches estate fometimes appeareth, Cant. 3. 1, 2. &c. & 5, 6. and as leve is one of the strongest affections, Cant. 8. 6, 7. so the sickness that cometh of it doth fore afflict and weaken the person, (as may be seen in that evil example of Anmon, 2 Sam. 13.1,2,4.) This sickness ariseth in the heart, by seeing the wrath of God due rous for fin, and curse of his law, Psalm 90. 8. 8. 38. aue tous for in, and curte of histaw, Piaim 90. 8. & 38. 25. 5, 5, 7. Dan. 9. 11. Rom. 7. 24. Pfalm 77. 6, 7, 8. 8 80. 3, 7. 19. The Church feeling and acknowledging her felf fick, and feeking for the Phyfician, is in the way to health: for they that are whole need not a Phyfician, but they that are fick, Mat. 9. 12. And fuch as feel not their death in fin, will not come unto Christ that they may have life, John 5. 40. who bealeth all our sicknesses, Pfalm 10: 3. as he himself was a man

This is amor value and ligans and languess, by the sweet vehemency and infariability of it, makes the heart to burn and weep, and groan and figh; to forget all, and drive all away but him on whom he alone fixeth, and would reft, but cannot reft untill he enjoy him in glory. Till then he is lick, and weary, and lives not in her felf, but in him, in whom her life is hid. Annot.

The Church is here faint and fick, and ready to fwoon for defire of further fellowship with Christ. Cotton.

String Weak, infirm, 1 Cor. 11. 30.
String is 1. Bodily, of man generally, Gen. 48. 1. 2 Sam. 12.15. Dan. 8. 27. 1 Cor. 11. 33. Or of Women in particular, Lev. 20. 18. 2. Mental, Prov. 13. 12.

3. Sinfull, 2 Sam. 13. 2. 4. Spiritual; which is twofold: 1. The earnest and longing desire the Church kath to the enjoying of Chrift, Cant. 2.5. 8. 5. 8.

2. The infirmities of the Soul, which Chrift came to heal.

Mat. 8. v. 17.

The efficient cause of sickness is God, Psal. 38. 6. Lev. 26.16,

Deut. 28, 27, 35, 59, 60. 61
The meritorious cause is fin, Ib.

The instrumental cause is,

1. Satan, who sometimes is permitted by God, Job 1. 2. 2. Intemperance, as drunkenness, incontinency.

The end is

1. To punish the wicked, 1 Sam. 5: 6,9.

2. To try the patience and constancy of the godly, as in Fob, Hezekiah.

00, πεκεξεμη. 3. To manifest the glory of God, John. 6.2, 3. & 11. 4. Σ (π ness ] Ill disposition of the body. Joh. 11. 4. This fichness is not to death. 2. The infirmities of the Soul. Mat. 8, 27. He bare out

43, Pains and punishments of Christ equivalent and anwerable to the fin which we had committed, and to the "fickness or miseries which we deserved, and without his " fufferings our felfs had fuffered. For it must be held, that 66 Christ having no inherent fin of his own, but the imputed of others, he had no manner of bodily disease or hurt, as e natural, but only that which was forced on him, as wounds, of ftripes and death, Mat. 8. 17. See this interpretation con-"firmed, Ifa. 53.4.5,6. See infrinity. Or we may fay it fig-mifieth Chritis care of curing our fickness and fin, by his suf-" fering and (arisfying for us.

The walls of the Steling ] I Kings 6. 15. Heb. to the walls of the roof; i.e. to the uppermost part of the wall, on which the roof resteth. D. Annot.

Steve ] To fift the Nations with a fieve of vanity, Ifa. 30. 28 The use of a steve ordinarily is to spake out the dross or lesser and lighter seed, and retain the full and weighty grain, Amos 9. 9. But this here is such as did shake to and fro, (10 ffit is in the Hebr.) what was fifted in it, till it came even to nothing; to drive them to nothing, by that whereby he only purgeth his own people, chap. 27. 8, 9. Or, to fift them in such a fleve as retaineth nothing; but letteth it run thorow, to make an utter riddance of them. The word rendred 2 seve, is no where else found in Scripture. The word is oft found thus used in the Tewish Doctors, as in that of one of them concerning four forts of scholars or hearers; some like a spunge, that sucketh all in alike; some like an hourglass or water-glass (such as anciently they were) that taketh in at the one end, and putterth out at the other (alluded to Heb. 2. 1.) Some like a wine-bag, that letteth go the wine, and keepeth only the dregs, (he might as well have faid a botter, that bolteth out the flour, and keeps in the bran.) Some to butter; that content out the just, and keeps in the butter, some to a fieve, that letteth go the radh, and keepeth in the corn. Annot. Buft ] is spoken of God, in his anger, and it signifieth.

I. To scatter. Amos 9. 9.

2. To consume, Isa 30. 28.

*To fift as cultura! By temptations to assault and exagitate, endeavouring by malicious diligence and subtilty to 's shake faith out of the heart (as wheat out of a sieve) that nothing may remain but the bran of unbelief and wickedness Luke 22. 31. Satan hath defired to fift (or winnow) you. God doth fift and winnow, to purge and cleane the heart (as a good Husband-man the Corn, ) but Satan doth it to destroy and to tread the Corn under foot like ravening fowles and valtures. Thus in one act Satan is unjust, and God most just, because they had not one end.

Sigh ] A testification of grief by groaning. It is spoken I. of christ; who sighed,

1. For the miseries of men, Mark 7. 34. and 2. for the sins of men, Mark 8, 2.

Hol. 12. 11. Similitude ] Heb. 7. 15. After the similitude of Melchife-dec there aright another Priess. Wherein consistent this similitude? It must needs be in this, and nothing but this, Hof. 12. 11. (fay the Jesuites) that, as Melchisedec offered Bread and Wine, as a facrifice of praise to God after Abrahams victory: So our Saviour Christ offered his body and blood under the shape of Bread and Wine in the Supper. But cannot Christ be a Priest after the similitude of Melchistate, unless it be in this? Surely then he is not a Prieft at all after the similitude of Melchifedec, for Melchisedec offered no Bread and Wine. The Hebrew is Hotziah, protulit, non obtulit, (Gen. 14. 18.) as their own Vulgar interpreter doth translate it. and the Septuagint expounds it agency that is a confirmation of Melchifedecs Kingdom, not of his Priesthood: as a King, of his Princelike liberality be brought forth out of his store-house plenty of Bread and Wine to refresh Abraham and his men after the Battel. But in sundry other respects, he is a Priest after the fimilitude of Melchisedec.

Boucere 7 That we may be fincere, Phil. I. 10.

It fignifieth properly fomething tryed by the light of the Sun, and it is a Metaphor (as some suppose) taken from the custom of the Eagle, whose manner it is (say Aristotle and Pliny) to bring their young ones out of the neft before they be full fledged, and to hold them forth against the sull fight of the 2. As Melchisedee is said to live for ever, because there is no Sun; the light whereof those of them that can with open eve endure, the retaineth and bringeth up as her own, the reft that wink at it, the rejecteth as a baftardly brood. Others think that it is rather taken from the usual practice of Chapmen, n the view and choice of their wares, that bring them forth into the light, and hold up the cloth against the Sun, to see if they can elpy any default in it. Pare as the Sun. As the Sun discovers mores and atomes, so let your hearts be genuine, that the inwardest light may not discover mores that appear in others. God be rauses of sin God is no way to be reckoned.

among the causes of fin, he is causa desectiva, or rather negativa, non effectiva peccati; or rather, defectus Dei in nobis, eff caufa effectus mali in nobis.

"The causes of sin, 1. Without us are reduced to three: The devil, the world, and the slesh.

"2. Within us, (which is reducible to the flesh) there are three in general:

. Ignorance, 2 Infirmity, 3 Evil will; or as Ariftotle * hath it : I Ignorantia, 2 Passo vel informitas, 3 Electio se "deliberatio. Vel. I Non nosse, 2 Non posse, 3 Non velle bonum: que 3 privativa funt. Positiva vero funt cause externi peccati bec 3 interna, 1 Cogitare malum, 2 Velle, 3 Poffe.

To have cloak for fin | To have something to plead for excuse, John 15. 22.

" To commit fin ] Willingly, with the whole will, to fulfill the defire of luft and fin. 1 John 3. 8. He that committeth fin

'To continue in fin, to live in fin, to commeit fin, and to fin, (sometime) to serve sin to obey sin, be Synonyma, or of one fignification and force, being spoken of unregenerate and impenitent finners, who in all things be ruled by their own finful motions, though not without the check of conscience and reason; yet without any godly forrow, or hatred of their

Sein to Death ] The blasphemy of the holy Spirit, which is capital, without all recovery. I John 5. 16. There is 4 fin to death, for which ye shall not pray. See Blasphemy.

Note. Sin to death, is not a sin which is committed in the hour of death, but which undoubtedly bringeth death: like to the phrase, Numb. 18. 22 but that which Moses speaketh of, is a bodily death; in S. John it is carryed to the death of the foul, and that which is eternal.

To Defitop fin : To beat and keep down the power of fin that it reign not. Rom. 6. 6. That the body of fin might be de' stroped.

'2. To teach, that elect persons justified by saith, are sanctified by the Spirit to be able to kill the rage of fin, as they are freed from guilt and punishment of it. Gal. 2. 18. If I build again the things (that is Sins) which I have destroyed. To build 'Sin, is to teach that grace hath abounded, that men may live in fin: To deftroy fin, is quite contrary, to teach that fuch as are justified by grace, may not serve sin.

such as are juitined by grace, may not let ve mis sometimes at the bose Three things:

1. That his fin, how closely foever done, yet should be made manifest, as things which lie before the dore, where all men go in and out.

42. That howfoever his confcience might fleep and be quiet after his bloody fin, yet as a fleeping dog lying at the dore, being awaked by such astread on him, doth bite and evex, fo should horrour and biting of conscience continually · molest him.

3. That the punishment of his murthering fin should be ready at hand to take hold of him, fo as he should not escape, though his pain for a time were deferred. The pain due to Hypocrites, is like a Bandog at the dore, which is eafily cirritated and provoked to fly in a mans face, and to tear his flesh; so the destruction of finners shall quickly and certain-nein; to the destruction of finners that quickly and certainis arreft and feife on them. Gen. 4. 7. Sin lyeth at the dore.

Tore is a fin anto death, 1 John 5. 16. As he that fet at nought Mafes's Law dyed without mercy, upon a sufficient proof of it, Heb. 10. 28. So he that useth the Son of God now under the Gospel, after that manner, treading or trampling upon the Son of God, verse 29. setting his commands and terrours at nought, as there he is thought worthy of forer punishment, fo here his fin may fitly be faid to be unto death. Now this contempt, this sin unto death, is to continue unreformed, and incorrigible after all the admonitions and consures of the Church; of which as there were feveral degrees, so he that did not reform upon the fift, was within some time to be put under the second, or higher, and not reforming then was to fall under the third; which was wont to be called by the Jews, Schammatha, which fignifies, there is death a punifiment proportioned to this fin, and from the title thereof, this feems to be called here, a fir unto death. Not that every deliberate or wilful fin, is here so styled (though that also be mortiferous without repentance) but the phrase peculiarly belongs to a wilfull sin to which without repentance or reformation, eternal perdition is de-nounced, heightned and aggravated farther, with the addition of obstinacy against all persuasions and means of melting, which renders him hopeles, and owned to ruine, and there is nothing lest for him, but a fearful looking for of judgement, and ferry indignation, which hall devour the adversaries; those that walk thus contrary God. refift his admonitions, his grace, all his waik times contrary God. Tenti in administrations, in grace, air ris Methods of reducing them. Dr. Ham. Annot.

'Dot to take Soin Not to have so great sin, as contempt of Christ and his doctrine. John 15. 22. Not to have Sin against the Holy Ghost, is a general denyal and opppugning of the truth, and all Religion, of which the understanding and conscience by the illumination of the Spirit are perswaded and convicted, proceeding from an obstinate will, and purpoled malice against God and his truth.

It is committed of two forts of men.

1. Of those who have made profession of the truth, and afterwards become Apostates from all Religion, condemning, blaftheming and perfecting as heretical and impious, that truth which before they professed, and of which they were perswaded. Thus did Hymaineus and Alexander sin, 1 Tim. 1.20. 2. Those who never were professors of the truth, yet whose Consciences are convicted of that truth, which they do oppugn, as the Scribes and Pharifees, Matth. 12. 24, 31.

#IN Differing ] was a Sacrifice offered for the explation of fin, and it was of Bullocks, Lev. 4. 8. & 8. 2. Goats, Lev. 4. 24. & 10. 16. Young calf, Lev. 9. 2, 8. Kid, Lev. 9. 3. Numb. 29. 5. Lamb, Lev. 4. 33. Turtle-dove, Lev. 12. 6. Fine-flour, Ibid. 5. 21.

There were two forts of Sin-offering.

1. Those whose, blood was not carryed into the holy place, and sprinkled seven times before the veil, upon the golden Altar, but only upon the brasen Altar: and of these the High Priests might eat, therefore they are said to eat the fins of the people, Hol. 4. 8. i. c. the Sacrifice for fin. Thus Moles was angry with Eleazar and Ithamar for not eating the Sin-offering; which what it was he explaineth, Levit. 10. 18.

But the Sin-offering whose blood was carryed within the Holy place, the flesh of it was carried without the Camp, and burnt, and the Priests might not eat of that, Levit. 6 30.

The carrying of it without the Camp, had an Allegorical, Tropological and Anagogical application.

The Allegorical was, that Christ should suffer without the Gate of Jerusalem.

The Tropological, the Apostle maketh, Heb. 13. 11. where he proves, that the Jews standing to the Ceremonial law, cannot receive any benefit by Christ, because the people got nothing of that which was burnt without the Gate, and Christ the Sin-offering was burnt without the Gate.

The Anagogical application was, that here we have no permanent City, Heb. 13, 14.

They were commanded to lay their hand noon the head of the Sin-offering, Lev. 4. to fignifie, that they laid over their fins mon the heaft, which was a type of Christ, who was made Thame ) an offering for fin, Ifa. 53. 10. and for us, 1 Cor.

5. 21. Weems Cer. law, p. 66. 67.
Soin He hath made him to be sin for us, 2 Cor. 5. 21. The word augeria is taken for a sacrifice for sin, Lev. 4. 3, 29. & 5. 6. & Plaim 40. 7. and so paraelum in Latine is both a sin, and a sarrifice of Expiation, or the person that is so santisfied, and so a facrifice of Expiation, or the person that is so sandified, and so the Hebr. & 1011, figuifies primarily so, and legal uncleanness, and secondarily a sacrifice of propilitation for sin, and of purification for uncleanness. So in Rom. 8-3. when severally, for sin, is the sacrifice of propilitation (by a sacrifice for sin, saith the marg.) And so Heb. 10-6.8 12. 11. and so here, though without when. The opposition also of suagring sin, to diagnously rightensself sin the end of the verse doth also clear this: for as our being withtensself similar sources and sind states of the sacretical since the sacretical since the sacretical since so we have sacretical sacr righteoufness, fignifies our being sanctified first, and then accepted by God, justified; so his being fin signifies his being condemned. . e. consecrated, as a facrifice is wont to be devoted for the fins of the people. Dr. Hamm. Annot. c.

6 Co fin ] To break or transgress some Commandments of God, I John 1.8,9,10. Alfo, to offend publickly. I Tim. 5,20.
Thirdly, to follow Sin with pleasure, not studying to live holily. 1 John 2. I. That ye fin not.

That man of fin, 2 Theff. 2.3. This is here the denotation of a very micked fort of people, and though it be in the fingular number, must not yet in any reason, be confined to a single person, but to some one or more ring-leader, and their followers. Thus we know Xessas, Christ, fignifies him, as he is the head of his Church, and is used sometimes to signifie the whole society of Christians : And so'Avn'xeis G., Antichift, is sure no single person considered alone, but in conjunction with his followers; and so here the appears duagnas, the man of sin, figuified more than one single person, viz. Simon and the Gnosticks. 16.

Sommer ] A woman in the City which was a finner, Luke 7. 37. This may be taken in the notion wherein we find a une Toxos E ¿θνων, Gal. 2. 15. Sinners of the Gentiler, and fo fignifies no more than a Gentile woman: Thus the word feemeth to fignifie, ch. 6. 32, 34. comp. with Mat. 5, 46. or, seeing Publicans and Harlots are put together, Mat. 21, 32. which feems to refer to the baseness and unworthiness of those two infamous callings, auapronds sinner, as it is of affinity of fignification, with these, may perhaps signifie one that had been a whore that vice or trade of profitute whores, being among the Gentiles foordinary. And so this woman, if she were a whore, was either a Gentile also; or because guilty of that Gentile sin, called by this common name of Gentiles, άμας πολός, a sinner. But whofoever the was, it was not Mary Magdalen ( which our Author proveth at large. ) Dr. Ham. Annot. b. To be a finner to one ? To be guilty as a violator of his faith and promise, and to be punished accordingly, Gen. 43.9.

Sleep A flumber, or half a sleep.

A fpiritual flumber and drowfiness in the mind and heart, touching heavenly thiigs, Cant. 5.2. I fleep, but my heart

Sleep is the reft or ceasing of the creature from the use of the outward senses, and from action. It is caused by vapours in the head that arise from meat, drink, &c. which stop the pasfages of the spirits, and bind the senses. This sleep, as it is a refreshing, is sometime used in a good sense, for the repose and rest that the faithful have in God, Psal. 2.5. & 4.8. Prov. 3.24. But more often it fignifieth the neglect of holy duties, and a finful kind of life, I[a.56.10. Rom. 13. 11. 1 Thef.5.6.7. and this fleep is caused sometimes through forrow, Luke 22.45. flomerime through weariness, Isa, 5.27. sometime through statistics, and then it causeth spiritual beggary, Prov. 19. 15. & 20. 13. The Spouse here having eaten and drunk largely of the blefings of Chrift, beginneth to remit her zeal and neglect the works of faith and love, wanting the presence of her beloved, and being pressed with the remnants of the flesh, so she gave place to carnal ease and security, occasioned further hereunto by the time, the night; and by the weather, which was rain; that is, by ignorance and errour prevailing, and by the opposition, and persecution of enemies.

We must not conceive this sleep to be that dead sleep all men are in by nature, nor to be that judicial fleep, that spirit of flumber which is a further degree of that natural fleep, to which God giveth up some as a seal of their desperate condition; but here is meant that fleep that ariseth out of the remainder of corruption unsubdued, and now is here in the Church prevailing over the better part. In fleep the preciousest thing men carry about them, is taken away without refistance, and there is no danger but a man in fleep is exposed unto. And it is so in spiritual seepiness. Men suffer the profession of the rruth to be wrung from them without much withstanding; and with letting fall their watch, let fall likewife (if not their grace, yet ) the exercise of their graces, and are in danger to be robbed of all. There is no tentation, no fin, no judgment, but a secure drowsie Christian is open for; which is the ground of so often inforcing watchfulness by the Spirit of God in the Scriptures, Siks. Soberip | Wifely, discreetly, temperately, Tit.2.12. This s to moderate the mind, and contain it in due compass, both in all the affections of the foul, and the actions of life which it turneth unto. Taylor on Tit. Under the three Adverbs in this verse, all the Affirmative precepts of the Law are comprised; which have a threefold reference; the first, to our felves, foberly; the second, to our neighbours, righteously; the third, to God, gedly, or helily.

That is, Meditate always on these three Adverbs of Pauls, let these three be the holy rule of thy life. Annot.

These are the three Graces which go hand in hand, and every one looking at another. Sobriety keepeth the own house, and moderateth the mind at home; righteonfness looketh forth, and giveth every man his due abroad; Piety looketh up unto God, and giveth him his right. Sobriety preserveth, and is content with its own estate and portion. Righteousness preserveth, and is content that other men enjoy their estate and portion. Piety preserveth, and is willing that Gods part be reserved to him. Again, Subriety must go before as a nurse of the other two; for he that dealeth not foberly cannot deal justly, but depriveth the Church, the Common wealth, and the family of their due; righteonfnefs righteousness without godliness is but Atheism and a beautiful abomination; and piety without righteousness is but hypocrifie. Now as fobriety the first is the Nurse of the two latter so piety the last is the Mother of the two former; which where it is wanting, neither of the former, nor both of them can commend a man unto God. Solomon The Son of David King in ferdalem, Eccl. 1. 1. His name is often mentioned in this book, as Cant. 1. 1. 8. 3. 7,9,11. & 8.11,12. Christ is the true Solomon, and more glorious than he was in all his glory, Mat. 12.42. being the wildom of God, and the power of God, and the Prince of Peace, Ifa.9.6. I Cor.1.24. This Song of Songs is Christs, that is, concerning Christ. Solomen is the Instrument, but Christ the Author; Solomon the shell and rind, but Christ the juyce and marrow. It is not to be neglected that Solomon changeth his Inscription in all his Books, and here assumes the simplest, and most humble of all the reft, knowing the matter here would countenance and bear out it self, and that being now possessed with that love he was about to celebrate, it was time for him to leave off names of Majesty and terrours, to renounce titles, and bid farewel to the world, having to deal with that which was exceeding much better, Annot.

Solomon next unto Christ was the greatest Son of wisdom that ever the Church bred: whose understanding asit was large as the fand of the Sea, so his affections, especially that of love, was as large, as we may fee by his many Wives, and by the delight he fought to take in whatfoever Nature could afford. which affection of love in him misplaced, had been his undoing, but that he was one beloved of God; who by his Spirit raised his foul to lovely objects of an higher nature. Sibs.

The Holy Ghoft maketh choice of his instruments, according to the use he had put them to; to set forth the estate of his Church by the choiceft treasures of nature, he useth Solomons spirit which was as large as the Sand of the Sea shore. Cotton.

That this glorious lamp of iffael for a feafon was darkned by idolatry his History expresses, but that he died not unrepentant, and fo by consequence an Abject ( as some hold ) these Reasons evince.

1. The confideration of his Typeship. As David was a figure of Christ in respect of the continual war he had with the Churches enemies, so was Solomon in respect of his continual plenty and peace in the midft of Ifrael his Church : David the Churches Captain, Solomon the Churches amiable Spoule and

2. The promife which God made to David, 2 Sam. 7.

3. He

3. He was an holy Prophet and Scribe of the Holy Ghoft. One of those holy men of God, ( a term never given unto the reprobate ) that spake as they were moved by the Holy Ghost. 2 Pet.

4. The Holy Ghoft commending Rehoboam and his people for their first three years Government, saying, Three years they walked in the way of David and Solomon, 2 Chro. 11.17. it plainly urgeth that Solomon died in Gods favour, or else he should not have been so coupled with David his Father; yea, it also argueth that Solomons final Government was in and for the Lord, feeing first Rehoboams Government is faid to be like that way, wherein his Father and Grand-father had walked.

Son ] Any man-child begotten in lawful marriage : as · Isac to Abraham, Gen. 22.8. My Son. 2. A Nephew or a Grand-child, Gen. 46. 7. Gen. 31. 4. Thefe Sons are my Sons, 2 Sam. 19.24. Mephibosheth the Son of

3. One that lineally descendeth from the loyns of another, Mat. 1. 1. The Son of David, that is, one of his posterity.

4. A child, either Son or Daughter, Rom.8.17. That we are the Sons ( or children ) of God. Alfo, v. 18. Rev. 21.7. And

· be (hall be my Son. 5. One spiritually begotten by the preaching of the Go-• Open Titus my natural Son, I Timi. 1.23. So every true chiffian may be called the Son of his Paftor, which begot 6 him to God.

'It noteth three things:

1. The age of Titus, a young man.

2. Paul's fatherly affection.

. 3. The effect of the Gospel, regenerating Titus and Tie mothy. 6. One that hath the affection of a Son, and submitteth himself to another, as a Son to his Father, Phil. 3.22. He hath been with me as a Son with his Father. Prov. 3.1. Hearken my Son. So is every good subject a Son to his Ruler, Josh.7.16. Also · Christ the Son of God, and Mary, Isa.9.6.

7. Some most excellent creature of God, as an Angel, or fome other, Cant. 2.3. So is my beloved among the Sons.

8. A Successor, one who succeedesh or cometh after another in government. Thus it is written that Jebojakim begat Jeonia, and his Brethren, Mat.I.I. A legal and not a natural Son. Joseph, in Luke 3.23. is named the Son of Heli, that is, his Son in law; for the kindred of Christ on the Mothers side is by Luke rehearfed by afcending to Adam.

9. One which is so called Ironice in derision, because he falfly boafted to be a Son, when he was not, Luk. 16.25. Son, e remember that theu, &c, 6 10. One of the Kings flock and family, Mat. 17.26.

In Mat. 17. 26. where Christ faith, that the Sons or Children are free from tribute: if it be meant of facred Tribute due to the Temple, then it did belong to Christ as Lord of the Temple: if it be taken of civil Tribute, which the Romans as Lords of Jury by conquest did challenge, even this alfo did rather belong to Chrift, then to the Romans, because he was the Son of David, of the Kings linage and race.

The cause why the Tribute is laid down for Peter alone, and not for any of the rest of the Apostles, was not to commend a mystery of Peter's supremacy, as chief in power over the rest, this is a Popish fancy : but for that St. Peter had a house and Family in that City wherein Christ abode, of had not the reft. Moreover, paying of Tribute was a token, not of Superiority, but of Subjection. Laftly, it fhould be confidered how unlike unto Peter the Pope of Rome ' (his feigned Successor ) is, for he exacteth Tributes of Kings and People, but payeth none. Thus the weapons which Popery hath to defend it felf, do rather fight against it, than ought maintain it.

to come out of his loyns, linage, and flock, as Mat.20.21.and often elsewhere. Christ first promised to come of Adam, then of Abraham, then of Isaac, then of Judah, lastly of David, whose Person and Kingdom was a type and figure of Christ and his Kingdom, fo Pfal.2. throughout.

Gineft Son Jamong the Jews got the double portion: Because he was his Fathers strength, Deut.21.17. Psal.78. 1. & 105.36. He was begotten in his Fathers strength. Hereunto Job alludes, chap. 8.13. The first-born of death, is a strong death. So he was the most honourable; hence that allusion,

2. To keep the family in its own dignity, and the Tribes diftinguished.

2. Because he was a type of Christ, who is the first-born amone many brethren, and was anounted with the oul of eladness above his fellows, p. 45.7.

Sonof 600 7 One begotten of the substance of God, by an unsearchable and eternal generation, Mat. 3.27. This is my well belowed Son. Joh. 1.14. As the glory of the only begotten Son of God. This is a Son by Nature, and thus Christ alone is the Son of God, according to his Divine Nature: Other Sons by adoption and favour. Arians deny this most falsly and impudently.

2. The man Christion the Manhood of Christ, which is the Son of God by the grace of personal union, being united unseparably to the Person of the Son of God, Luk. 1.35. That holy thing which is born of thee shall be called the Son of God. A Son by grace of Personal union.

63. One that is taken of favour to be a Son, being by nature a Child of wrath, Joh. 1. 12. Gal. 4.5. Rom. 8. 14. As many as are led by the Spirit, they are the Sons of God. Thus every true believer is a Son by grace of Adoption.

4. One framed and made after the Image of God, in perfeet righteousses and holines, Luk.3. v. last, Adam the Son of God. Thus Adam was the Son of God, a Son by Creation. In this sense also, the Angels are the Sons of God, Psal. 89.6.

5. One that comes of godly Parents, and is a worshipper of the true God outwardly, though not in truth, Gen. 6.1. The Sons of God [aw, &c. This is a Son by profession only.

* Creatures are the Sons of God commonly, the Saints be his Sons specially, but Christ is his Son singularly.

God hath giben his Son That God moft freely out of his favour and eternal mercy ( without all respect of our works and merits) hath bestowed his Son upon us to be our Saviour, Rom.8.32. God spared not his Son, but gave him for us.

Note. Son is called Branch in Scripture, Gen.49.22. because he springs from his Father, as a branch from a tree; and so young, small, and tender branches are called Daughters. Gen.49.22.

Like the Son of God One of excellent and as it were Divine favour and heauty, Dan. 3.25. Like the Son of God; that is, as an Angel; for Angels were called the Sons of God; thus our Geneva note, but the former is better: The latter feemeth right by ver.8.

One lite the son of Man 7 One in the figure of Chrift, God and man in one Person, Dan. 10-13. One like the Son of Man came from the clouds, &c. This coming from the Clouds, fignifieth his God-head; and his Man-hood is fignified by his name [ the Son of Man : ] he is faid to come to the Ancient of days, when he ascended to his Father, at whose right 'hand fitting, he received glory, dominion, and a Kingdom everlafting, nor perifhing and fading like the earthly Kingdoms, ver. 14.

Son of man | Christ is so called,

I. Not to manifest that he was not a meer shew, for none doubted in the time of his flesh, of the truth of his humanity; yea, many thought him nothing elfe.

Nor 2. to commend his love to us (albeit his Incarnation was a great argument of his love ) for none or few of the multitude believed him to be God, wherefore this title could not com mend unto them his love.

Nor yet 3. to fignifie that he was the Son of Adam, for none doubted of it, fince they knew kim to be born among them; but to allude unto Dan. 7.13. ( whereunto that of Mat. 16.27. is parallel ) where he calls the Messes the Son of man, that so he might intimate unto them that he was he of whom Daniel spake, even the Mess; and this title is given unto him by Daniel, not only because he was the Son of man, but because he was the most eminent and excellent among the Sons of men, by reason of his office of Mediator, and fingular graces wherewith he was endowed above all the Sons of men. So that this title includes both his office and his nature; neither doth he ever take unto himself this title by way of contempt, but ever to recommend his Person, and to purchase to himself authority. That place Mat. 8.20. is objected to prove the contrary; but the meaning is, that although I be that great Son of man poken of by Daniel, and bave so great an office as to be Don of Dabio ] Christ who promised to David, and was the Mediator, yet I have not whereupon to lean my head; nor doth that Joh. 12. 34. make any thing against it, for Christ there freaks not of himfelf, but the Iew deriding him for affuming unto himself that title, and calling himself by the name of the Son of man, as being too glorious and honourable for him Camero. tom. :53, 154, 155.

Sen of man: c 1. A vain and wicked person, by God in contempt so " called, because he boasted of his pedegree, which is but "man, Pfal. 4. 2.

" 2. A godly and gracious perfon, fuch as God called the "Prophets, Ezek. 2. 1, 3, 6, 8. So called God in love, bees cause God reckoneth of and delighteth in such a one, as a " Father in his own Son.

" 3. Christ Tesus himself, who so calleth himself, Mat. 16. " 13. To shew, 1. his true love to men; and 2 to shew his true "humanny, both of them for us to believe. 3. His true humanny, for us to follow. 4. To shew that he is descended of them to whom he was promised. 5. To honour them of whom he is descended.

Son pounget ] Gen. 9. 24. fignifies not Canaan, 25 Theodoret thinketh, but Cham the Father of Canaan, who is called "younger, not in manners, as Ambrose, nor comparatively, 'in regard of Shem. (as Pererius) nor for that he loft his el dership by fin (as Chrylostome writeth) but in the years; for he was born after faphet and Shem, who is named first, as Gen. 5. 32, 6, to. to note his dignity, being the child of God, Type of Christ, and Father of holy things, Go.

Son] That Son, Exod. 22. 3c. Heb. he of his sons, marg. The Son, t Chr. 20. 6. Heb. horn to, marg. This word is taken also for, A whole people as one man, Exod. 4. 22. sna The Song of Songs which is Solomons, Cant. 1. 1. that is, a most excellent Song, the chiefest of Songs, not only of all Solomons other Songs, even of his thousand and five, but of all fongs without exception :

As 1, which speaketh not only of the chiefest matter, to wit, Christ and his Church, but also more largely then any of Davids Pialms, and with morestore of more iweet and precious, exquifite and amiable refemblances, taken from the richest Jewels, the sweetest Spices, Gardens, Orchards, Vineyards, Wine-cellars, and the chiefest beauties of all the works of God and Man.

2. Admitteth more variety of interpretation then any other, and also of fingular use; as to express the mutual asfection and fellowship between Christ and every Christian foul, (as some have applyed it) or between Christ and the Catholick Church, as others, or to particular Churches from Solomons time to the laft judgment, as a third fort. Cotton.

This the Song of Egogue, and the Song of Songs, that is, most noble and transcenting all others, as a servant of servants is the vilest slave, and the deepest curse of villenage, Gen. 9. 25. and vanity of vanities, the meerest and only vanity; so Lord of Lords, and King of Kings, and Holy of Holies, express the highest and most incomparable worth, and the blisses of heaven being eternal and infinite, are in facula faculorum, to ages of ages, and the chiefest of Songs, the Song of Songs. The expression, style, order and method hereof is most high and accurate, there being no syllable or punctilio of it, but hath a great treasure in the bottom; and the whole thread of it as fine and precious, as that of Scarlet, Cant. 4. 3. The splendour and evidence hereof shineth so clear and bright, even through all its clouds, that the dimmest eye may read Christ in it, above a thousand years before his birth, and not him only, but likewife his glory and benefits and treafures dispensed to the Church; and her duty and office and affections to be returned towards him. But above all it may be thus termed in respect of the excellency of the subject and matter hereof, which is the sublimest and most divine that was ever handled from the first cradle of the world, the unsearchable riches of Christ Ephel. 3. 8. It is wholly Evangelical, and whereas others are interwoven with Goats hair and skins, this is all gold and jewels, nothing of temporal or worldly mixture in it, as in others, but the whole piece is forritual, and though but short and little, yet comprehensive of all the rarities of the Gospel. Annot.

This treateth of mans reconciliation unto God, and peace by Jelus Christ with joy in the holy Ghost; celebratest the mysteries of Christ and his Church, and the communion between them more amply and excellently then any other. Any [.

As none entred into the Holy of Holies, but the High Prieft, To none can enter into the mystery of this Song of Songs, but fuch as have more neer communion with wrift. And however it may contain a ftory of the Church in feweral ages, yet this hinders not, but that most passages of it agree to the (piritual fate of the Church in every age, as most Interpreters have thought, Sibs.

Touching the time when it was penned, it feemeth not to have been upon his marriage with Pharashs daughter, for in Cant. 7. 4. there is this expression , Thy noje is as the tower of Lebanon. But this tower was not built till he was aged, as may thus appear : Solomon reigned but forty years. Towards the beginning of his reign he married Pharaohs daughter. About his fourth year he began to build the Temple; and that continued feven years. After that bis own house continued in building thirteen years, fo are frent about four and twents years of his reign, after all which the Tower of Lehanna was built. How long after ere he begun to build it, appeareth not, nor yet how long that work continued. But if it should be begun presently after the other, it was a long piece of work, if the greatness and stateliness thereof be considered? Now in as much as that Tower of Lebanen could not stand for a comparison, till it was built, this holy Writ was penned after the building thereof, Claph.

Song of bis belebed] A Song purpofely made and written by the Prophets unto the honour of Christ, the Husband and Bridegroom of the Church, whose friends the Prophets were especially, Ifa. 5. 1. John 3. 29. and 15. 14.

Song of Degrees] A Song of afcenfions, or of heights ; that is, a Pialm to be fung with an high voice, as the Levites are said to praise God with a great voice on high, 2 Chr. 20.19. Or, this phrase and title noteth the excellency of the Song, for grave pithy fentences.

Sundry other ways is this title understood, as of the stairs or steps, which (by degrees) went up into the house of the Lord, whereon the Singers should stand, or for coming up from Babylen, Ezr. 7. 9. Fifteen Pfalms together are thus entituled, from the 120 unto the 125.

This Beaft hath two fort of Speech. The one is a counterfeit voice, by which he speaks lies out of hypocrifie, as when he stiles himself Servus Servorum Dei, a servant of the Servants of God. The other is natural and proper to him, and by this he speaks as a Dragon. The first speech of the Dragon in the Old Testament is in Gen. 3.1. wherein he calleth the eruth of Gods Word in question. The second in Gen. 3. 4 whereby in plain terms he discrediteth the truth of Gods Word, yea, maketh open contradiction to it, joyning open blasphemy thereunto in the 5. verse. Accordingly the Pope laboureth to discredit the Word of God, when he saith, it is doubtful, uncertain, insussicient, nor can shew a man the way to falvation, without help of his Traditions; that he may dispense with the precepts of the second Table, &c. The first speech of the Dragon in the New Testament, is in Mat. 4. 8, 9. and Luk. 4. 6. And is not the same the speech of the Pope? called spicata nardus, spicknard, because it thus distills ex spicis, vel ex ariftis, out of Canes or Reeds. And it is very possible that that may be the importance of the word meren here, lightly varyed from the Latine spicata. Some have thought it to come from the name of a place Bift, or Pift, whether that be the Metropolis of Carimania, or of the Region of Cabul in India. Others, that moude like moos may fignifie fincere, unmixt, as the Latine fincerus, is faid to be made of fine cera, without mixture of wax (contrary to the Geroma, oyl and wax together, used by the Athleta) and fo it's generally called pure nard, and fuch are commonly the more chargeable, as this here in St. John, coffly or precious. But feeing there are in the New Teltament Writers, many Latine words, and those a little disguised by turning into Greek, as xirea for libra, Gr. Here fpicata may be turned into merch, which is as it were the anagram of it, the misplacing, but yet retaining all the confonants in it, Dr. Hamm. Annet. a.

8. An inferioar work of the Spirit; generally , and fleightly enlightning and reforming the Reprobate, I Sam. 10.10. The Spirit of God came upon him. 1 Theff. 5. 19. . Duench not the Spirit. Heb. 6. 4. And were made partakers of the boly Ghoft, This is an inferiour work of the Spirit, common to the elect with many reprobates.

. 9. The motions of the mind flirred up by the Spirit. Pfal. 51. 11. Renew a right Spirit within me. Rom. 3. 14. *Luk. 9.55. Judg. 3. 10. And the Spirit of the Lord came and thin; that is, he was fitted up or moved by the Spirit of obtain the Spirit of obtain the did.

10. Good or wicked inftinction or infpiration of the Spie rit. Matt. 22. 43. Hem did David in the Spirit ? Act. 28.25. Luk. 21. 26. It was declared to him by the holy Ghoft. 1 Cor. 5 14. 14; 15, 16. Eph. 2. 2.

11. That waich is spiritual or pure. Joh. 3. 6. That which is bern of the Spirit, is Spirit; that is, clean, holy, and pure, like to the cause whereof it springeth.

12. Revelation of the Spirit. I Cor. 2. 12. By the Spirit we know what things are given as of God. For the Spirit reveals the hidden things of God, ver. 10. Also revelation pretended to come from the Spirit, 2 Theff. 2.2.

13. An holy Angel, Heb. 1.14. Are they not all ministring · Spirits? Also it fignifies 2 wicked Angel, to wit, the Devil.

Luk. 1 1. 26. He took feven other Spirits.

14. The foul of man. Luk. 23. 46. Father, into thy bands I commend my spirit. Pet. 3. 29. And preached to the spirits that are in Prison; that is, to the souls which we ce in the prison of Hell, now at this time, when Peter wrote cthis Epiftle; but were alive at what time the Son of God did preach unto them by his fervant Noah. For in Helthere is no place of preaching or repentance.

From this place of Peter, the Papifts gather that Jesus Christ after his death descended into Hell in his Soul, by his preaching to deliver from thence fuch as were thut u e in that part of Hell called Limbus Patrum, as in a Priton ; s to release divers out of the pains of Purgatory. Collection, howsoever backed by antiquity and authos rity of some of the Fathers (as St. Augustine namely) yet it is erroneous and falle, as will appear by thele realons

For first, here is (in Peter) no mention of Christ his Soul, or of his descending, but of his Spirit; whereby cannot be meant his Soul, because the Apostle speaks of the Spirit of Chrift, whereby he was quickened and raifed up from the dead, verf. 18. But that Spirit which raifed Jefus from the dead, was his divine power and Godhead. or divine nature, here fet against his flesh, which fignifieth chis humane nature. Indeed none is restored from deach to life, but his foul must be joyned with his body, yet can the foul no more conjoyn it felf to the body, then at first at the presence of any thing apprehended to be evil, the Spicite could create it self. Wherefore that which made rit is capable of the nature or principal things of which the Christalive again, was not his humane foul, but his di-* rine power, as it is written, Him God raifed up, Aft. 2. Alfo Rom. 1. 4.

in Hell unto the dayes of Noah? Were they only in Limbus pugnant to his Laws and nature; therefore he may • or Purgatory?

Thirdly, this Text of Peter doth speak of disobediene Souls, not of godly ones.

Fourthly, here is no one fyllable at all of their deliverance; and truth is, they of whom Peter spake, are kept yet in the prison of Hell for their obstinacy.

Fifthly, in all the Scriptures, Prison is not sound to fignific a place to contain the godly in.

Sixthly and lastly, all that is written by Peter, is no more but that Christ of old time went and preached through his Spirit or Godhead, by Noah his fervant, to the Spirits or Souls which are now in Heli, but were alive at what time Noab did preach unto them. This fense of the place is so clear, as divers Popish Divines do yield to it. Tho. Aquinas rejecting their opinion, which fay, Christ preached in Hell, tellethus, it is better expounded of the Operation of Christ his Godhead, from the beginning of the World. Of this mind are the ordinary Gloss, Lyranus and Andradius too, as learned Reinolds affirmeth. Leda allo, with Athanafius, interpret this Text of Christ his preaching to them who were unbelievers, before the flood, as Dr. Falke writeth in his answer to the Rhemists, on this Text.

15. That high and noble faculty of mans Soul, called the Understanding of Mind with the most inward cogitations thereof. Luk. 1. 47. My Spirit rejoyceth. Rom. 12. 2. Be renewed in the (pirit of your mind, I Theff 5. 23. I Cor. 2.11. And in all places where Spirit and Soul are mentioned together. An unregenerate person nath but a Soul and a Body; but a spiritual man born from above, hath a Spirit, Soul and Body. Not that any new part is added to the foul of a new-born child of God, but a new spiritual quality is wrought in it, Joh. 3. 6.

Spirit it grieved 1. When men do enough to grieve him, were he a subject capable of gri f.

2. When he is displeased : To dislike a thing is the formality of forrow, and the principal at of it, of which the Spirit of God is capable, and therefore may juffly be faid to be grieved, when he hath occasion of grief.

There are two things in all the passions of the mind. 1. A material part, and that is the alteration which by the paffion is caufed in the body.

2. There is a formal part, which is nothing but the nature. of the paffion, abstracted from the changes which it maketh in in the body; fo the formal part of grief is a difpleasure taken at the presence of any thing apprehended to be evil, the Spiaffections do confift; and fo of that which is principal in. or essential unto grief, i. e. dislike. God doth truly dislike mers mileries, because they are contrary to the good of the 'Again, what sense is there to restrain Christ his preaching creature; but especially his fins, because they are rebe faid not improperly to le grieved when fin is committed.

3. When he carries himfelf after the manner of a man in heaviness; as the paris of a man are ascribed to God, because he doth all things that a man doth with these parts: So are the affections ascribed unto him by way of similirude and likeneis of the effects, because waen the occasion is offered, he doth fuch things as men in fuch paffions are wont to do; as, if he be in beaviness, he withdraweth himself from company; but if anger be mixed with it (as that of Christ, Mar. 3. 5.) he withdraweth his courtesse and speech from such as are the occasion of his grief; all which the Spirit doth as he hath occasion, hiding his face from the Soul, and suspending his gracious operation there; leaving men to themselves, and the wayes of their own heart, in which they have delighted to walk; and when he doth fo he may be faid to be grieved.

Spirit of adoption An effect of the holy Spirit, to wit, a witnessing unto the believers, that God hath a dopted them, and taken them for his Children, Rom. 8.13. Te have received the Spirit of adoption; that is, the Spirit which witnesseth unto you your adoption to be Gods Children

'Co begin in the Spirit ] By the spiritual efficacy of the Gospel to enter upon the service and pleasing of God; fuch as had done thus, were not to look for perfection by outward Ceremonies, and natural strength, endeavouring to keep the Law. Gal, 3. 3. Having begun in the Spirit, (Co be boen after the Spirit ] To be born into this elementary world, by the virtue of Gods promife, and safter a spiritual manner, and not by ordinary course of nature. Gal. 4. 29. Persecuted bim that was born after she Spirit; that is, Ifiac , and the Children of the true Church.

Spirit of Debits | The very members and instruments of the Devils, inspiring Princes and great Personages with devillish counsel and advice. Rev. 16. 14. For they are the fpirits of Devils.

Carnell of the Spirit] See Zeal, and Earneft

Spitit] Heb. 9.14. Who through the eternal Spirit, that is, God head, Ad. 23. 28. Rom. 1.4. 1 Pet. 3. 18. Implying thereby that the Sacrifice of Christs death had its value and virtue, both to satisfie and sanctifie, from his Deity

From this his infinite and unspeakable Deity the blood of Christ received a power to make satisfaction for our fins, whereupon it is called the blood of Gol, Act. 20. 28. The blood of none that was meer man could do it. If Christs blood had not been offered up by his eternal Spirit, it could not have purchased our Redemption. Fones.

Spirit of fear] An effect of the Spirit, to wit, fear and terror wrought in the hearts of men by the holy Spirit, in the Ministry and preaching of the Law, revealing our fins, and Gods wrath due unto them Rom. 8.15. Te have not received the Spirit of fear again. 2 Tim. 1.7. This is the work of the Spirit in unregenerate men.

. Thus the Spirit of a found mind, the Spirit of wifdom and meckness, the Spirit of knowledge, the Spirit of grace and frajer, the Spirit of prophise, fignific several effects, works, and gifes, together wich the auther and cause, which is the holy Spirit infufing them; and on the other fide, the Spirit of Pride, Covetouinels, Fury, Uncleannels, and the like, do fignifie these vices, and the Devil that wicked spirit the author of them.

ferbent in the Spirit] A Christian Soul made earnest in Duties of Christianity, through the powerful motion of the holy Spirit, stirring us up to vehement and zealous endeavours. Rom. 12. 11. Fervett in spirit. When as any matter concerning Gods glory, or the salvation of our selves and others is in hand, we may not then behave our selves slothfully, or coldly. Rev. 3. 16.

filled wirb the Spirit ] is to feel the preience and grace of the Spirit in the heart, in an excellent and extraordinary measure, Eph. 5. 18. which is brought to pass by using these means, whereby the presence of the Spirit is obtained and entertained; to wit, by flying fin, which fasting, meditation, examination of our li e and conscience, and the like pious exercises. Eph. 5. 18.

"Co gibe a spirit (or life) to the Image] To give life, as fannes and fambres imitated the wonders that Moss guance and games inficated the wonders that Moss wrought. Rev. 13. 15. It was permitted him (or he had sower) to give spirit (or life) to the Image. It is an allusion to the diabolical practices of Idolaters, whereby they caused their Idols for to speak distinctly; (as if they had been alive) the more easily to bring men to admire their superstition. So the Pope having now raised chimfelf to the estimation (well-nigh) of a God, was no more as a dead person, but began to speak, to command, to forbid, to blefs, to curse, to boast and brag himself Lord of Kings and Emperours, as Pope Adrian did; when he faid, By us the Emperor reigneth.

Spirit of the Gods] A divine force and virtue. Gen.

41. 37. In whomis the spirit of the Gods.

Spirit of grace The work of the Spirit, making the Elect partakers of that grace which Christ hath purchased. Zech, 12. 10. And I will pour upon the house of David, and upon the Inhabitants of Jerusalem, the Spirit of * pirit of grace The holy Spirit, which doth certifie the elect of the favour of God towards them, Heb. 10, 29.

Co grow, or be firengthned in Spirit] By little and little (as other Children) to attain the use of reason, that he might be like us. Luk. 2. 40. He was frengthned in the Spirit, I.a. 7. 15.

bolp Spirit] That Spirit of God; which in himfelf is most holy, and worker of holiness in all others, Eph. 1. 13. Te were fealed with the holy Spirit.

"In Spirite] Spiritually, not in carnal rites, Pail. 3. 3.

Inthe Spirit By fuch prayers as proceed from the Spirit, and the most inward parts of the foul, as Rom. 8. 26, 27. Eph. 6. 18

" Cobe led by the Spirit ] To follow the direction of the Spirit, having his good motions for the guide and governour of our whole life. Rom. 8. 14. They that are led by the Spirit, are the Sors of God.

Note. The Spirit is faid in holy Scripture, as Judg. 6. 14. & 14. 6. to come upon one, when he doth some noble, rare, and worthy act, even as the wicked spirit is said to enter into Judas, when he did some notable and excessive wickedness, Joh. 13. 17.

Spirit of life] That Spirit of fortitude and courage; which God gave to his Ministers and Children, whom he railed up, as new witneffes of his truth, after other witneffes had been flain by Antichrift. This was fulfilled about the time of the Tridentine Councel : and a little after in Luther, Melantion, Calvin, Martyr, and Bucer, Rev. 11. 11. The Spirit of life coming from God, shall enter into them. See Life.

(Coline in the Spirit] To be quickned (having been dead in fins ) with the Spirit to Godward, to be able in some measure to please him by an holy life. Gal. 5.2. If ye live in the Spirit. Whereas some use to demand whether the Spirit be in the faithful only, as touching his gift and operation, or also by his effence and Substance; I do judge, that feeing he never leaveth his own gifts, but is ever present with his own words, to preserve and continue them, it is faid, he doth continue with the faithful for ever, therefore his own Person not his graces alone, is with and in the godly.

Spirit luffing againfi the fleib] See Luft.

Spirit ] Te know not what manner of fpirit je are of, Iuk. 9.55. The word aveuus spirit, is very diverfly taken in the New Testament

1. Sometimes ( with the addition of 3. God, or xess? Chrift, and Zyoy hely, or fometime without it) for the cornal Spirit of Gol, the holy Ghoft, the third Perfon in the facred

2. For the graces and gifts of that Spirit, whether those that are of use to all forts of men, as Zech. 12, 10. Eph. 5. 19. or, whether those which belong not to all, but only to those which are thus to be qualified for any office, whether Regal, or Prophetick, or Evangelical, as Act. 2. 18. 1 Cor. 12. & verf. 2. & y. 3, 14, 19, 23.

3. For an Angel, whether good, as Rev. 1. 4. or bad, as Mar. 1. 22. & 5. 2. From the ambiguity of which it is that πνευμαπκοί, I Cor. 12. 1. is taken in the latitude, both for those that are acted with an evil, and which are infpired with a good spirit, the Spirit of God, which is locked on as a fountain of all supernatural Revelations, 1 Cor. 2. 22. and opposed there to the spirit of the world, that which the world knows or can reveal to us. And to this another notion may be reduced not far diftant, wherein the word fpirit fignific teachers, pretenders to inspiration from God, whether truly or grieves him, and being constant in mortification, prayer, faifly, 1 Joh. 4.1, 2, 3, 5, 6. 1 Tim. 4. 1. 2 Joh. 7.

4. For an apparition, the shape or seeming of a body, without any real corporeity in it, Luk. 24. 37, 39. comp. with Matth. 14. 26. & Mar. 5. 4).

5. For the spirit of man, the supreme diviner faculty, opposed to the body or fleth, Gal., 17. 1 Thes. 5.23. and set higher then Yuya the soul, common to man, with other senfisive creatures. 50 1 Cor. 2. 11. 1 Pet. 3. 19. So Joh. 6. 63. The spirit that enlivemeth is the foul that animates the bdy (as Jam. 2, 26.) and from thence in the end of that verf. where he faith that the words which he fpake unto them were fpirit and life, the meaning must be that Christ spake not of a carnal grois, but an immaterial spiritual eating, i. e. receiving and laying up his dodrine in their hearts and fouls, and am inding their lives by it, which is also the true, durable, profitable eating far bey ond the corporeal external, asChrift & his doctrine are the true Manna, verf. 55. fo Joh. 4.23. the true worshippers shall worship the Father in spirit, i.e. the service and worship of God now under the Gospel, shall not consist in the external legal performances, but extend to the heart and foul, those duties of real purity and piety which were typified by those legal shadows; to when the spirit fignifies the Gofpel, as that is opposed to the Law under the title of the flesh, Gal. 3. 3 and in many other places this is taken by analogy from that acception of the spirit for the foul, as that is the principle of life, and that an inward principle.

6. For a way of dispensation or economy, a disposition or course of things, as when the Law is called the Spirit of bondage, Rom. 8. 15. i. e. the way of dealing with men, as with fervants (as it was with the Fews) and on the other fide the Spirit of adoption, the more ingenuous way of dealing, as with Sons now under the Gospel. And so here, when they would, as Elias had done, have called for fire on the Samaritans, Christ tells them, they know not of what (pirit they are, i.e. they confidered not under what di penfation they were, Christ came to fave &c. The course or way of proceedings which the Gospel brought in, or was meant to teach men, was very distant from that which had been observable in Elias under the Old Teflament,& consequently they must not do, as Elias had done. So 1 Pet. 4. 14. The Spirit of God, i.e. the same way of economy which was used toward Christ incarnate, resteth on you, is used among you.

7. It fignifies affection, temper, disposition of any, (which is a fense lightly varyed from the former) Luk. 1. 17. 1 Joh. 3. 24. Ross.4.9, 11,14. A. dio the spirit of fear, pomer, love, &c. 2 Tim. 1. 7. are those affections of fear on the one fide, Comardife and timidity; and of courage, and constancy, and adherence to Christ (such as was exemplified to us in Christ, in declaring and afferting his Fathers will) on the other fide. In the Old Teftament, it's farther uled, fometimes for skill and abilities. Exod. 18. 3. & 31. 2. Sometimes for zeal, 1 Sam. 11.6. Sometimes for a commiffion to an office or employment, Judg. 1. 10. & 4. 34. & 11.29. & 13. 25. but this ftill joyned with extraor inary abilities, for the discharge of the office, and with particular incitation to some extraordinary things, which might testifie to men this their commission from Gousor to themfelves that they are thus defigned & qualified for it, Judg.14.6, 19. Numb. 11.17,25,26. 1 Sam. 10.6,10. Dr. Hamm. Annot. d.

Then the Spirit (aid unto Philip, Adt. 8. 29. It may be here questioned what is meant by the Spirits (aying unto Philip, which as it was not in any dream or vision, as chap. 1c. 3. 10 that it was by voyce from Heaven, (25 Matth 3 17. Ad. 9.6.) doth not appear probable by any argument dice mable in the flory, and therefore it is most likely that it was by afflation of the Spirit of God, after the manner that Prophets received revelations, is chap.10.19. & 11.11.8 13.2. Dr. Hamm. Annot.f.

And I pray God your whole spirit, I Thes. 5. 23. The all or whole, the intire and complex man is here divided into three Parts, spirit, foul, and body. There feems to be particular mention of each of these in the Creation.

1. Gen. 2. 7. The duft of the earth, that vifible maffe, the flesh or members, i. e. the body.

2. The living soul, the animal or sensitive faculty, common to man with beafts and other fenfitive creatures, and this is . Lord, the foul, which therefore in the New Testament ordinarily signifies the life, Luk. 12. 2c. Mat. 10. 39.

& 16. 25. 2's 3. The breath of life, the rational faculty, capable of divine illumination, and called the Spirit, or that which was at first breathed into man by God , and returns immortal into his hands again. And fo this may be the full meaning of the words, your spirit, foul and body, i. e. your rational, immortal fpirit, your fenfitive mortal foul, and your body the place of refilence of both, which three make up the whole man, Idem Ann f.

In the spirit of meekness, Gal. 6. 1. It's the milder part of the Apostolical office, which is to precede the more severe.

1. Admonitions and reprehensions, which if prevail, there is no need to proceed any farther.

And 2. admiffion to penitence (in case the censures have past upon him) without proceeding to any higher degree of cenfurer as in case of obstinacy might be seasonable. And to this the word ramericen inclines, which we render reftore, but fignifies properly to put in joynt any member of a body which is differented, and so fitly belongs to the restoring an excommunicate person to the society and peace of the Church. Dr. Hammand Annot a

But in demonstraton of the Spirit, and of power, I Cor. 2. 4. Spirit and power may here fignifie,

1. The fame thing, as it's ordinary for two words or phrases to be conjoyn'd, the one, only to explain the other. 2. Spirit, the prophefies of the Old Bible, inspired by the firit of God; and power, the miracles done by Christ.

3. The descent of the Spirit of God on Christ, joyned with that voyce from heaven, Matt. 3. which may here fitly be called the demonstration of the Spirit, an evidence afforded by God immediate'y from heaven of the truth of the Gospel, which being joyned with the power of Chrift, both in respect of his destrine and miracles, were two heads most fitly to be infifted on by Sr. Paul, for the confirming the truth of the Golpel.

4. The descent of the Spirit upon the Apostles, and by their imposition of bands, the holy Ghost coming down upon others alfo, Acts 18. 18. And this together with their power of doing Miracles, may well be their demonstration of the truth of the Golpel, and be the thing that is meant here, Id Annot, 4.

Deaning of the privit ] Inward fighs, and carneft defires, proceeding from the inftinct of the Spirit, Rom. 8. 27. Know the meaning of the Spirit.

Ministring of the Spirit ] The preaching of the Golpel, whereby God giveth his quickning Spirit, working the life of grace in the Elect. 2 Cor. 3. 8. How hall not the Ministry of the Spirit be glorious.

Devouels of the Spirit ] Such a new life as becomes them whom the Spirithath renewed; or a new and hely life wrought by the Spirit of God. Rom. 7. 5. That we fhould lerve God in newne s of Spirit. Die bodp, and one Spirit ] Our being conjoyned into a most strait corporation by one Spirit knitting many members in one. Ephel. 4. 4. There is one body, and one Spirit. That which is one may not be divided by hatred, afford, fchifms, herefie.

'This word [Spirit] when it is opposed unto the [Flesh] it fignifieth one quality, to wit, the Grace of regeneration, or whatfoever is in man renewed by the holy Gaoft. Gal. 5. 17. and when it is fet against the Letter, it fignifieth another quality, to wit, the operation and efficacy of the holy Ghost, ingraving and writing in mens hearts the Docirine of the Gespel and Law, 2 Cor. 2. 6. and sometime is noteth the vertue, truth, and end of some outward fign, which severed from such end is called the letter, Rom. 2. 27.

Spirit prapeth | That is teacheth or caufeth the faithful to pray, suggesting good desires and motions, and str-ring up affiance and fervency in calling on God, Rom. 8. 27.

Spirit of promife ] That Spirit which brings not the Law to terrifie us, but the promife of free adoption to confirm and comfort us, and by his special gifts to seal up the promife in our minds. Eph. 1.13. The holy Spirit of Promife.

God promised his Spirit, Joel 2. 28. Isa. 44. 3. and eternal life promised, is assured to the faithful by the Spirit; thence called the Spirit of Promise.

'Beomile of the Spirit ] The Spirit promifed, or the bleffing of a spiritual life, which cometh to Believers by promise and free eift of God. Gal. 3. 14. That we might receive the Promise of the Spirit.

Bptrit of prophefie ] All which fpeak by the fpirit of prophesie. These shoot at Jesus as at a common mark, to fer forth him as only Redeemer and perfect Saviour, Rev. 19. 10. The restimony of Jesus is the Spirit of Prophesie; that is, fuch as testifie of Christ by pophelying of him, or preaching him, their function is equal to the office of Angels revealing nim. Therefore John may not worship the Angel being a fellow-fervant.

Christ only can by his Spirit make us Frophets to foretell things to come, from him. His revealing things to us, i, the life of Prophesie. He therefore must be worshipped for it, and not we. Annos.

Co receine the Spirit 7 To feel the efficacy and power of the Spirit working in us faith, hope, love, joy. fear, grief, and such like graces and affections. Rom. 8. 14. Te have not received the Spirit of bondage, but ye have received the Spirit of adoption. €. E 8

Co fent the Spirit ] Not to remove the holy Spirit 7. 1. 1 Pet. 4. 6. God is more especially flyled the Father from Heaven to Earth, in respect of his divine essence. (which being infinite and fulfilling all places therefore doth not change place) but to work effectually and forcibly (as Kings effect matters by their Legats) by the decree of God in the hearts of the Elect, to gather them to Christ out of the world, and to endow their hearts with full confidence in *Aim, giving thereby witness to their spirits, that they be Children of God. Gal. 4.6. God bath sent forth the Spirit of bis Son, &c. Seeing it is here called both the Spirit of the Father, and of the Son, and it is said to be sent out from both, in Joh 1.14.& 16. therefore rashly did the Ariansteach the inequality of the Father, and of Christ, as touching the "God-head, which is hereby proved to be equally belonging to them both, because the Son as well as the Father sendeth the Spirit, who is faid to be the Spirit of them both.

Spirit of flumber] A mind fenfelefs altogether in matters of falvation (like to one in an heavy fleep or lethargy) who is not to be awaked out of the fleep of fin, with any e prickings of the Word. Rom. 11.3. I will give them the Spirit of flumber.

The word [Spirit] though it fignifie the Mind, as Ezr. 1. 1. yet here it fignifieth somewhat more, namely, the evil Spirit Satan, fent of God into the minds of the reprobate fews, to harden them in their unbelief, till they became past feeling. And note it generally, that where good or bad Epithites are added to this word [Spirit] they do im-Ply the effects and works of Gods grace, inclining the godly to good things; or of his wrath, inclining and disposing (asa righteous Judge) the wicked to evil things.

Spirit of the Son Not the giving of the holy Ghost to the Son, but the breathing and proceeding of the Spirit from the effence of the Son, as well as from the Fathers; also that the Son giveth the Spirit, Joh. 16. 7, 14.

Spirit of louthfaping ] Such an evil fpirit as can tell things path, and guess at things to come. Act. 16. 16. Having a spirit of south saying, or divination.

"Co ffand, or fall to the Logo ] To do any thing well and rightly, or otherwise, and withal to be approved or difapproved of the Lord for fuch deeds done rightly, or otherwise, Rom. 14.4. To bis own Lord be standeth or falleth; that is, his Lord only hath dominion over him, and his work to judg it, to accept or condemn: therefore it is a fawcy prefumption for any Christian to judg the actions of another, in things of an indifferent nature.

By standing or falling, some understand the profit or dan ger of our actions; but the former exposition is to be preferred, because of our doings (be they done rightly or not) there cometh neither commodity nor loss unto the Lord:

" To fland upon their feet ] to revive after one is dead, as the two Witnesses did after a fort, when God raised up others in their room, mightily to defend their doctrine and cause by the Word of God, and by giving their lives to death for that truth. Such were Luther, &c. Alfo Wicliffe, Hierome of Prague, Huffe, &c. Rev. 11. 11. And they shall ftand upon their feet.

To ffant in grace | To persevere and continue in the estate of grace, Rom. 5.2. In which grace we stand. They err, who think Believers and justified persons can fall, either wholly for a time, or finally for ever, from the grace of Reconciliation with God. It is one thing to ftand; that is, firmly to believe ( fuch fall not away : ) another to think we stand, that is, to have opinion of faith, which may and do fall from God.

Coffand in the libertpof Chriff 7 To fettle the affe-Cions of our heart fast in our Christian liberty, as it were in a station, wherein Christ our Captain hath placed us, Pray standing, Matth. 6.5. The word $50755 may possibly refer to that particular posture of standing, which was usual in prayer, as among the ancient Christians, so among the fews, before them, whence it is that ning, flatio is reckoned by them, as one of the fever names of Frayer. So Munahem speaks of Abraham's standing i.e. (saith he) praying before the Lord. And thence is the proverbial speech of Ribbi Fudah, Without 177 Dy, ftation, the world could not fublift. And besides, the posture of standing might be more convenient for their turn, of being more and farther seen by men. But both the Greek Egwies, and the Hebr. belong promiscuously ( not to standing only, but ) to every or any posture of the body. Dr. Hammen, Annot, c.

Stranger There were two forts of Strangers among the Jews:

1. Advena juftitie.

2. Advena portæ. Advena justitiae, was a Profelite, one converted to the truth, and he was either an Inhabitant, who was converted, and had lived long among them; the LXX. translate him mdeoix &, a Parishioner, or he that was newly converted; the LXX. tran-The first was newly converted, a Projetyte; such Proschies were Avanuathe Jebustie, Vriahthe Hittits, and such others. David maketh mention of these Strangers, Psal. 135. 19, 20. Bless the Lord, O bouse of Israel, Bless the Lord, O house of Arron; Bless the Lord, ye that sear the Lord; i.e. All Strangers converted, and Profelytes, who were joyned to the house of Israel and Aaron. IIa. 65. 3. Let not the stranger say, The Lord hath separated me. These might eat the Passeover with the Israelites, Exod. 12.48. The other fort were Advena porta, such as dwelt among them occafionally, but were not converted, they were bound to reft from their labours upon the Sabbath, that they should not give offence to the people of God; such were that mixed multitude that came out of Agypt, Exod. 12. 38. Num. 11.

1. Weems. A man may be said to be a stranger in five respects.

1. Of his absence from his friends and native soyl: So Abraam was a stranger in Canaan.

2. In respect of the want of the favour and grace of God: So wicked men are Strangers from the Covenant of Promise, the Common wealth of Ifrael, and life of God, Eph. 2. 12. & 4. 17.

3. In respect of the contempt of the world : So the wicked account Gods children Strangers, Pfal. 69. 8.

4. Some make themselves Strangers by a wilful retyring, and discontentment for crosses that befall them, 1 Pet. 4. 12.

5. In respect of absence from heavenly Canaan, and the troublesome condition of this world; in which respect the electrare Strangers. Byfield Pet. p. 3, 4.

A Stranger and Sojourner One that was born in another Country, and hath no possession of his own in that strange place where he dwelleth. This is the proper signification, Gen. 23. 4. Hcb. 11. 13. Strangely Should behave themselves strangely, Dcut. 32. 27.

dealing of the enemies against Israil. Aynsw.

Strangers Heb. 11. 13. Consessed they were strangers on earth. If we be strangers on the earth, as we must all consess our felves to be, then let us carry our felves as strangers.

1. Let us meddle no more with the world than need must. 2. We must not make account to domineer in it, to have all men at our control; must be content to be underlings here.

3. We must be absternious, 1 Pet. 2.11. lead a sober life, take no more of the world than will ferve us for our journey, we must reserve our feasting till we come to that place where we shall eat bread with Abraham, Isaac and Facob.

4. We must look for no great love. Dogs will fawn on them that be in the house, but they will bark at strangers, fly on their faces, and be ready to pull them down-

5. We must have a longing desire to be at home
6. Must not heartily love this world. It must be as Wormwood to us in respect of the joves of heaven.

7. What accommodations foever we have here, yet must not we conceive this to be the place of abode, but that w must forego them all. Fones.

Heb. 12. 2. Be not forgetful to entertain strangers, Rom. 1. 12. 1 Tim. 3: 2. & 5. 10. 1 Pet 4. 9. The fludy of this vertue was then very necessary, when there were no publique Inns. and the godly where often banished, left they should either want enterrainment, or elle go to Infidels. Leigh's Annot.

To bury strangers in, Matth. 27. 7. The strangers here may be

1. Men of other Nations; and then the thing from hence observable is, that they would not have commerce with them even when they were dead, and therefore provide a separate place for them. Or,

2. (which is more likely) the Jews, which coming from far to Jerusalem, to sacrifice, &c. dyed there before their return, and so the Priests took this care to provide a burying place for them. These perhaps are those Jims that travelled from Rome thither, Adt. 2. 10. Dr. Ham. Annot. c.

Some here do understand by the name of the City, the whole dominion of the City. But then what shall Thatia be? for (according to this interpretation) it can be neither of those two things, of which it must of necessity be the one, to wit, either the Roman dominion, or else some Province thereof. Not the Dominion, as which is expressed already in the name of the City it felf; not any Province, because a great Given may have many such, but Thatfie meaneth tomething that is one, and singular, being put in the singular number. What else therefore shall we say here, that by the name of mareia is fignified the whole Region and Territory subject to the dominion of the City. Mede.

God . or unto themselves.

In respect of God, they are either unwillingly subject, as the Devils, and wicked men, Luk. 10. 17, 20. Heb. 2. 8. or willingly, as the godly.

The subjection of the Creatures unto one another, is either good ind lawful, or evil, and unlawful.

Of the first fort is, The subjection of Children unto their Parents, Luk. 2. 51. The Subject unto the Higher power, Rom. 12. I. S. Wives unto their Husbands, Eph. 5. 24. Servants unto their Masters, 1 Pet. 2. 18. or, one mutually unto another, 1 Pet. 5. 5. Of the other fort is, The subjection unto Ordinances, Col 2. 20. to Bondage, Heb. 2. 15. and to Sin, and Satan.

Subject | Let every foul be subiect, Rom. 13. 1. The word tarta and, fignifieth an ordinary subjection, and implies the reverence of the heart, respectful language and gesture, obedience without resisting, a subjection willing, and in due manner. It comprehends all duties and fervices.

For it is not subject, Rom. 8. 7. The word wordars rut, fignifieth an orderly subjection, subject according to order, a submitting of the neck unto the yoke. Leigh. Crit Sac. Subject | To bring into, or under subjection, Rom. 8. 20.

Subjection or fubmiffion] The placing and fetting one thing upon another in a due order, as the water under the earth, and earth under the air, the air under the firmamament, and this under the third heaven, Children under Fathers, Servants under Mafters, Subjects under Princes, &c.

Rom. 14:11. The latter place expounds the former; and albeit, that Prophetie of Isaab cited and inthe former; and alocit, that Prophetic or 1/2/12/20 cited and in-terpreted by Paul, be in part fulfilled now in this life, (for the wicked are forced fometime to confess Christ to be a just and righteous God, whom the faithful willingly acknowledge to be fo) yet it shall not be fully accomplished, until Christ come in the Clouds, and all appear before him, when, will they, nill they, they shall be driven to acknowledge him their Judg. Now because none can be the universal Judg of the world, save he which is effentially God, therefore Paul aptly citeth that Text out of Isaiah, to prove that the glory of the Godhead doth belong to Christ, to whom all must give an account, and before whom all knees must bow.

Simear | That a Christian may swear lawfully, when called unto it by the Magistrate, he must look,

1. To the object, that he swear by the Lord alone; for seeing we desifie and make that our God we swear by, therefore we for-fake the true God, if we swear by that which is no God; and so provoke the Lord not only to execute his judgments on us, but also upon the Country wherein we live, Jer. 5. 7.

This Christ men ponder it seriously, and meditate upon it, and digest it. looks on as a piriful nice piece of deceit, either to frustrate the obligation of some oaths, or to make a nice distinction of sanctity, where indeed there was none, the whole fanctity of the gold or gift flowing from the Temple or Alear, to which and the God in it, they were conferrated. What should be the colour or the pretence of this doctrine of theirs, it would be hard to guess; unless perhaps it was, that they conceived the Temple by its having been demolished to have lost its sanditive, and not have recovered it at its rebuilding, and increase by Herod; whereas the gold and the gift, which the piety of the Jewish Donor had confecrated, might be allowed by them to have that fanctity; but this being so weak a reason, leaves it liable to the cenfure of hypotrifie, which Christ here lays upon it, the true cause surely being, that by perswading men that the gold and gifts brought to the Temple, were the bolieft strings in the world, bolier than the Temple, or Altar it felf, they might bring men to great liberality that way, and so make gain of their doctrine. There were two forts of these Syaedria among the Jews, the great Councel and the lesser; the great was called Sanbedrin Gedolah ; and the leffer, Sanbedrin Ketanuah : the great Court fat at Jerusalem only; the leffer, in other places also, and they were called seisress, judicia. Unto the fitting of the great Court at ferufalem, Christ alludes, Marth. 23, 27. A Prophet might not die out of Jerusalem; the great Synedrium only judged of a Pro-

But afterwards this great Synedrium was divided into five parts, by Gabinius the Proconful of Syria: whereof one was placed at Jerusalem, another at Gadara, the third in Amathus toward the Red Sea, the fourth in Jericho; and the fifth he placed in Sephra in Galilee.

Of these Councels Christ means, Mat. 10. 17.

The number that fat in this great Councel were 72. Six out of every Tribe; but for making the number round, they were called Seventy.

There were two Prefidents in this Councel; the first was chofen in respect of his power, dignity, and wisdom, and was called Princeps, Pater Confessus, the Father of the Assembly: upon his right hand fat he who was greatest among the Seventy, and was called Pater confisorii; the rest sat according to their dignity and age next unto the Prince, and they fat in a circuit, or half-moon, that both Prefidents might fee them.

The great Synedrium fat every day, except the Sabbath, and Festival days, and then the little Synedrium sat but from the Morning Sacrifice, until the fixt hour, i. e. our twelve: but the great one fat from the Morning Sacrifice until the Evening Sacrifice, i. e. three a clock in the afternoon. 2. The Court of the people. The bolieft of all, typified Heaven.

The Court of the Priefls, fignified the Old Law; where they entred in, and offered Sacrifice for themselves and the people.

And the Court of the people, fignified the Church here below.

The people might not come into the bolieft of all, but Isa. 56. 7. My house shall be called the house of Prayer; he applyeth this both to the Jews and Gentiles, which Christ applyed to the Jews in the Temple of Jerusalem; and the Prophet speaketh in the antitype, as Christ speaketh in the type.

The Profelytes might not come into the Court of the Ifraelites. they flood but in Atrio gentium, in the Court of the people : but the Prophet foretelleth that the Gentiles shall have as free access unto the house of God, as the Jews; because his House is the House of Prayer; and this Solomon foretold, 1 King. 8. 41. If a Stranger come from a far Countrey, to call upon thy Name, then hear thou in heaven; i. e. Grant that they may have as free access to thee, as the Jews have.

There was no light in the bolieft, the fignification whereof is in Rev. 21. 22. The glory of God did lighten it, and the Lamb is the light thereof. It was not covered above, to fignifie that the Church here hath more of the light of nature then of grace.

'Jeaff of Anbernacles That feaft, at which the Jews dwelt seven days in Tents, to put them in remembrance, that God made their Fathers to dwell in Tenes, whenhe brought them out of Egypt, and that here they had no abiding place, Joh. 7.2. Now the Feast of the Tabernacles drew near. Lev. 23.

Feaft of Tabernacles was kept seven days, Lev. 32. 34. The they kept Fessure the reading of the Law this day. Upon this because they ended the reading of the Law this day. day, Christ who is the end of the Law, stood up : and whereas the Jews delighted much in earing and drinking this day, Jefus Christ called all those to him who did thirst, John 7.

Typon the first day of the Feast they offered thirteen young Bullocks, two Rams, and sourceen Lambs of the first year. The fecond day, twelve. The third day, cleven. The fourth day, ten. The fifth day, nine. The fixth day, eight. And upon the feventh day, but feven bullocks. So that though it was the greatest day of the Feast, yet it had but the least offering; which fignified unto them, that the Lord was to abolish these Sacrifices, and bring in a perfect Sacrifice in place of them, Jesus Christ once offered for all.

At this Feast they held up branches, and so they held them up to Christ before the Passeover; and they saug Hosana; which was a solemn fort of prayer, Salvu queso nunt, Save now I befeech thee; and they wish not only peace to him on earth, but also in heaven; then the shout of a King was amongst them; Numb. 23. 21. Rom. 11. 26, 27. This promife was made, not to Gentiles, but peculiarly to the Jews, as appears by the two words of Sion and Jacob, in vers. 26. of Rom. 11. Not to some or a few of the Jims, but to the whole people; not for their deliverance from Babylon, and that by Christ the deliverer of the Jews, (1950 propinquitatis jure) coming of them according to the flesh. But as yet we see not this People so delivered and converted to Christ; therefore they must be delivered and saved by him before the end of the World; to which purpose Paul citeth that Text of Isa. 27. 9. Whereas Joh 1. 29. the Baptiff faith of Chirift in the prefent time, that he taketh away, (purging in by his blood, and abolifhing it at length by his Spirit) it is to fignific a continual act; for the force of Chrift his death, to expiate and extirpate fin out of mans Nature is perpetual: And mentioning [Sin] in the force of the content of the cont fingular number, he chiefly meaneth that (peccatum peccans) original corruption, the root of all, together yet with all the fruits thereof, which are usually called [Sins] in the plural number. Lafily, under [World] he comprehendeth both Jews and Gentiles, as it is written, 1 John 2: 2. Finally, the Baptifi propoundeth him to his Diciples, as a Lamband Sacrifice, even before his sufferings and death, betimes to pluck up that common ereror of the Jews wherewith even Christs own Disciples were infected, that the Miffian should be an earthly King, to rule with 'outward pomp and glory, Act. 1.6.

But because this is not so commonly practised in Serpents and Fishes, and yet these are here named indifferenty with the former, it is more reasonable that another notion of the word should here be pitched on, which may indifferently be appliable to all the kindes here mentioned, and that is the notion of the fuoduing, massering setting power of them, that they shall not be able to offend or burt. And then this will be of a larger extent, belong to all hurtful Creatures, which by horns, or teeth, or heels, or by their poysonous Nature are able to burt us; and to all the several wayes and inventions that men have to avoid and reftrain these by taking them, depriving them of their weapons of offence, their stings, their teeth, or when they have bitten or possoned any man, by cutheir teeth, or when they have otten or possone any than, by carring that wound, overcoming that posson. And this last of posson, if it be not primarily here meant, is certainly to be taken in, as may be guesled by the Antapodosis, or second part of the similar tude, vers. 8. where the tongue that no man can subdue or restrain, is said to be full of deadly, mortiferous poyson, whereas the poylon of other things is conquerable, curable. Concerning this Adonis. whom the Ancients called Ofiris, there are two things remarkable the lofs, and finding of him again; as there was great lamentation at his lofs, fo there was great joy at his finding. By this lofs, is to be understood, the departure of the Sun; by his finding, his return. Now he seemeth to depart twice in the

2. When he is in the Tropick of Capricorn.

Answerable unto these two departures, there are two returns fucceding; which are as it were the findings, or new appearings of the Sun. Hence the Adonia were celebrated by the Jews, in the Month of June, when the Sun was furthest Northward.

They shall be all taught of God, Psal. 119. 26. Teach me thy Statutes, Act. 20. 21. Mat. 28.9. Go teach all Nations.

Teaching is by publick and private persons; by words, works, figues, and creatures, &c. Gal. 6.6. Even by afflicti-

Note. Teaching hath in it Interpretation, Doctrine and Ap-plication. See Luk. 4. 18. Act. 8. 32, 33. Pfal. 94. 12. Gods Law teacheth both chearfully to bear the Cross, and how to profit by them to amendment, as also from whom they come, to what end, and for what cause.

To teach is performed four ways. I. By precept, Pfal. 110.21.

II. By example, Prov. 24. 32.

II. By example, Prov. 24, 32.
III. By experience, Gen. 37, 27.

Such as by private instruction help others to know the things of God Tit. 2. 3. Teachers of honess things. Thus Parents, and Masters, and common Christians are Teachers: the former by publick, the latter by private authority.

Meachers Isa. 43. 27. Hebr. Interpreters, marg. Teaching in thy Synagogues, Mat. 9.35. It was the manner among the Tews for divers men to contribute their Talents, to the exposition of the Lesson that was read. This ordinarily belonged to the fons of the Prophets, who were brought up in learning the Law, and at thirty years old might be made Doctors (at which time, being then of Doctors standing (faith Irenaus) Christ began to preach, and not before; and proportionably Presbyters were not made in the Antient Church till that age) and continued in that notion, or the other of Scribes, till they obtained the Spirit of Prophefie at Gods hands, till which time they did ordinarily expound Scriptures, though not by revelation. Answerable to which, was that custome or practise among Christians mentioned 1 Cor. 14. 29. And thus might Christ, without prerension to any extraordinary power or authority, expound in their Synagogues, which being the Dostors work, is here called teaching, and differs (in the Christian use of the word in the New Furthermore of the wind in the same of the wind in the wind in the same of the wind in the with Mark 16. 15.) gathering of Disciples, in other places. All these being the publishing somewhat to whom 'twas news (as here the Golpel of the Kingdom, i. e. the doctrine of Christianity) the other Aidioxesy, instructing Congregations that already prof. s'd that doctrine, which is therefore only by the Doctor farther explained to them. (and to break out, Gal. 4. 27. i. e. to speak) fignifies also to beat or throw down, upon or against the ground, which Tertullian rendreth by everters, to throw down, Matt. 7. 6, (though the context in that place feems not to own it, the treading under foot, going before, not following it.) Thus is περοτρόρης ν ο ποταμός, the river being funded. fwelled into a torrent, beats upon the house, Luk. 6. 49. and upon it follows in the next words, presently it felt. In stead of it in the parallel place, St. Matthew reads αροσέπεσεν, & αροσέπο Δαν, fell upon, Matth: 7. 25, 27. Thus doth Helychius render the word ρήξαι, not only διελείν to divide or break in pieces, but naraßader alfo, to throw down. Thus in this place the Syr. and the Old Latin took it; and so the Heb. Cleanness of teeth, is understood of great famine, Amos Meeth Thy teeth are like a flock of sheet that are even shorn, which came up from the mashing, Cant. 4. 2. & 6. 6. Those that chew and prepare the heavenly food for thy soul, are both of gracious fimplicity, and of tweet accordance one with another; having all one heart and one tongue, being fanctified and purged from their uncleanness. Hall.

The teeth of the Church are cut of equal height, not one longer than another, which would both be unfeemly, and an hinlonger than another, which would both be innecting, and an innection derance to the well eating and chewing of her sprittal food, and they are white and citan as masked sheep, which seemeth to respect (besides comelines) the purity of the sprittal mean wherewith she is fed, see Gen. 49. 12. These teeth of the Church which chiefly ferve to eat with, may here mean her courage and ftrength against her enemies, as Numb. 24.8. or rather her judging, discerning, esteeming and applying of the Word of God, and seals of his Covenant, for the comfort and nourishing of her soul, so chewing the cud, and seeding by faith upon the promites of God, which are often made under the fimilitude of eating and drinking, as in Pfal. 22. 26. Prov. 9. 5. Ifa. 65. 13. Joh. 6. 41, 50. Some referring this to perfons, understand by the teeth the Ministers of the Word, that break and as it were chew the bread of life unto and for the people. So the chaldee expoundeth these teeth, to be the Priests and Levites, that did offer and eat the facrifices in Ifrael.

These teeth are deciphered of the Pastors and Teachers of the Church, which should be qualified with all the excel-lent properties both of good teeth and of good flocks of sheep, as they are here described; They must prepare and divide the Word aright, as teeth do the food for the stomach, that so the deep and harder things of Religion may be received the better, and more easily swallowed, and digested. They must be as Nurses to feed and cherish the weak ones, Isa. 28. 9. r Theilalonians 2. 7. fo must they protest and save them who are not able to save themselves. Their teeth must be like flocks of sheep, not the teeth of Lyons and mad-Dogs, to deVour and infect one another, Gal. 5. 15. They must be even the cause of it, which is my excessive love to him, that so I found be an order in them, and they should be un- may be reconciled to him. Hemperance is a vertue, teaching us to moderate our appetite in the use of pleasures, gifts, and creatures of God, hat we may be the better fitted for Christian duties, and our particular calling. It ought to be carefully followed after by all, 2 Pet. 1. 6. 1 Cor. 9. 25. especially by magistrates, Acts 24. 25. and Ministers, Tit. 1. 8. It is a fruit of the Spirit, Gal. 5. 23.

For the better practifing of this vertue; we must,

1. Use moderation in meat and drink; i. e. to eat and drink with abstinence; which is to take less (and not more) then nature defires, for thereby we are the more fitted for Gods fervice, and such a measure only God doth allow.

2. We must moderate the appetite, in apparel, which is done when it is according to our fex, fashion of our Country, and our ability.

3. We must use moderation in getting goods; which is to be contented with food and rayment for our felves and families, I Tim. 6.8. The King himfelf must not multiply his gold, though he hath more need of it than any private man, Deut.

The Papilts to maintain their error of a fingle life, translate this wo d continentem, but the word is more general than fo; it properly fignifieth one that hath any thing in his power, is Lord over himself, and his lusts, affections, appetite, who enjoyeth these, and is no theirs; who keepeth the command of these, and they have not him at command; requiring that the Minister should be a man that can curb and bridle himself in his will to overmaster it in his affections of defire, revenge, mirth, forrow, &c. to moderate them, that they exceed not the mean and due measure; in his appetite, of meat, drink, fleep, recreation, that it benot inordinate; yea in all his parts, his hands, his eyes, his tongue, or to order himfelf, as that no unlearly kind of gesture, fafinion, word, or dealing proceed from him which may difgrace his calling; but to carry himself in such a temper as becometh holiness. For even the word hath affinity with that which we call a right temperament or constitution, whether of humors in the body, or affections in the foul; which is, when none is predominant, but one of them is equally mixed and qualified by another, as strong wine is tempered and allayed with water; and implyeth that the Minister by reason, wisdom, and religion especially, must either allay, or break off the headiness and violence of those troublesome lusts and affections which may other wife molefthim, and exceedingly prejudice him in the works of his Calling. Taylor.

Memperate Tit. 2.2. or discret, moderate. This word principally intendeth a moderation of all fleshly concupifeences, and defires, and also extendeth it self to all the parts of the life; requiring that all the affections, speeches, and actions be carried level, not according to the ftrength of will or passion, but according to the rule of prudence, both in forbearing that which is evil and unseemly, and in choosing and practising that which is good and decent. It differed from our Temples, which are but loci ut loci but it was locus ut fic; i.e. in such a respect; it was a place, for it was a mean of Gods worship, a part of their Ceremonial worship, and a type of the body of Chrift, Joh. 2. 19. Therefore they were bound to fet their faces towards it when they prayed; our Temples are only loci ut loci, only a place, they are not a part of the worship of God, nor types of the body of Christ, nor are we bound in prayer to fer our faces towards them; they are called places of prayer, only because the Saints meet there, and if the meeting of the Saints were not in them, they were but like other common places; the Temple of Jerusalem fanctified the meeting of the Saints, but the meeting of the Saints (anctifies our Temples they might not buy or fell in the Temple of Jerusalem, because it was the House of prayer; the moral reason obliges us now, no man may buy nor fell in our Temples, because they are the Houics of prayer. 2. To make tryal and proof of our faith, patience, and love towards Ged, Gen, 22. 1. God tempted Abraham. This temptation is commonly by prosperity or a affliction: and the end of it is to make it known to our felves what is in us, either good or bad, Deut. 8.2. Tempting thee, that he might bree what is in thy heart; that is, make it known to thy felf for the all-feeing God cannot be ignorant what is in us. Thus God is faid to tempt.

'3. To fift us by subtile suggestions, that all grace may be shaken out of our hearts, and nothing left but the Bran or Chast of corruption, 1 Thes. 3. 5. Lest the tempter had tempted you in any fort. Thus Satan tempteth, not to try, but to destroy.

'4. To intice and move one to fin, Jam. 1. 14. And every man is tempted when he is drawn a fide of his own concuprascence. Thus lust tempteth; but God tempteth not thus, Gal. 6. 1, '5. To make tryal of Gods power and justice, whether he can and will help or hurt. Exod. 17. 2. Wherefore do ye tempt the Lord? Thus men tempt God through diffruft.

6. To forfake the ordinary means of our good, prefuming too much upon Gods help, Mat.4.7. Thou shalt not tempt the Lord thy God. Thus men tempt God by curiofity and prefumption, to try whether God will use any way to succour them, other then is appointed: When men will not believe that God can help them without a miracle, Ifa. 7. 12. Deut. 6. 16. Luk.

'7. To feek matter and occasion against other men, for which to reprehend and accuse them, Mat. 16. 1. Then came the Pharifees to tempt him. Thus man tempteth man, by captious and by fubtle questions.

Note: Tempting by the Original word in the Hebrew fignifies lifting up as for a fign, or affaying of something, as God rempteth men, when he requireth ome great or high experi-ment of their faith, love, and obedience, as Gen. 22. I. Exod. 15.26. Deut. 8. 2. & 13.3. And the end of Gods temptation. is always to do us good in the end, Deut. 18. 16. 1 Cor. 10.13. Whereas the temptation of Satan, Mat, 4. 1, 4. and of our own ing of us to fin.

It's spoken, 1. Of God tempting Man, Gen. 22. s. 2. Of man tempting God, Exod. 17. 2. Mal. 3. 15. Chrift;

Mat 22.18. Mar. 12, 15. the holy Ghoft, Act. 5.9. 3. of Satans tempting man, 1 Cor.7.5. and Jelus Christ, Mat. 4.

4. Of our own flesh, Jam. 1.13. Tempt | Thou shall not tempt the Lord thy God, Mat. 4. 7. The phrase of tempting God, signifies not too much, but too little confidence, a diffidence, and incredulity. Thus the Ifraelites tempting of God in Exodus and Deut. is generally doubting of Gods care. and providence, and power, and wisdom, of which they had had so many arguments, assurances, and promises from him. See Numb. 14. 9, 11, 12. P[al. 78. 18,19,20,21,42, 43, 44, 57. So I[a. 7. When Abaz faith, he will not tempt the Lord, the words fignifie, that he needeth no farther arguments to afcertain him of the truth of what was there promifed. Where yet Ahaz feems to have spoken ironically, he will ask no more figns, believing the thing impossible, and is therefore reprehended by the Project for incredulity and wearying of God, and making it necessary for him to give a  $f_{ER}$ , vers. 13. 14. And thus clearly the phrase is used in this place, where the Devil perswading Christ by casting himself down from the battlement, to make tryal whether God would deal with him as a Son, i.e. preferve him, or no; Christ that needeth no such evidences of his being the son of God, Mat. 3. 17. replyes, that this is that tempting of God, which is forbidden, Deut. 6. 16. See Mat, 16. 1, 4, 5. Luk. 11.16. Sometime this phrase is used in a notion a little different from this, not in relation to any promises of God, but of any other part of his Will revealed, and notes any act of infidelity, any contrariety to the revealed Will of God, whether in point of Dictrine, as Act. 15. 10. or Practice, 1 Cor. 10. 9. Mal. 2. 15. compared with 2. 17. So Act. 5. 9. Dr Hammond.

"Memptation L. Probation, tryal or proof of any thing or perfon, to get the true knowledge of it, for knowledge is the end of Temptation.

1. 2. 14. Count it exceeding joy when ye fall into fundry temptations. This is temptation of probation, ferving to manifest what is in us, unto our felves and others.

'2. Inward fuggestions of Satan, or outward prosperity of life, sabates and snares to carch us, Mat. 6. 3. Lead no not into temperation, Mat. 26.41. Pray less yell into temperation, Luk. 4. 13. When he had ended his temptation; that is, temptation to perdition.

4. Scandal upon the taking of Christ, Mat. 26. 41. 5. Persecution and trouble for Religion, Luk. 8. 13.

It were fireft to expound it generally of the stubborn and con tumelious behaviour of the Israelites in the Wilderness, then of any particular temptation.

1. Because he names no particular place, but the wilderness in general.

2. Because the tempting he speaks of here, lasted the whole fortv years.

3. The word day is often taken in Scripture, not for any fet and prescript time, but for an indefinite time, a continuance of time, Joh. 8. 36. Pfal. 25.5. all the time that the temptation lafted , Pfal. 50. 15.

Bumane temptation Some tryal, wherein doth appear great weakness, such as accompanies the nature of man. I Cor. 10. 13. No temptation bath taken you, but such as is humane, or * which pertaineth unto men. The meaning is, that the Christians of Corinth, which for fear of giving offence to their Ido-· latrous neighbours, went into their Temples of Idols, there to eat meat facrificed to Idols, had therein shewed themselves men, yeilding to humane frailty; and therefore it behoved them to be more constant afterwards, that God might be with them in all temptations that should befall them, for the 6 time to come.

"Mo lead into temptation | To put or bring one in the power of Saran the Tempter, delivering him as a just Judge, to the will and pleasure of the Devil, to be carryed captive of him. Mat. 6. 13. Lead us not into temptation, God puts one in the power of Satan, as a Judge doth put a Malefactor over unto the Hemptation] And lead us not into temptation, Mat. 6. 12. To enter into temptation fignifies to be so involved in straits or difficulties, as that one cannot extricate himself, chap. 26. 41. And proportionably here εἰσφέρειν εἰς πειραπμον, is to bring men, or suffer them to be brought into such an state, contrary to which is Gods promise, I Cor. 10.13. of giving a way of scaping, or geing out together with the temptation; and that it is which we here pray for, in affurance of Gods fidelity in performance. Have tempted you, I Thest. 3.5. It is ordinary in the Scripturedialect for verbs to fignifie beside the action or passion noted by them, the effect which is consequent thereunto. Of actives we have an example in this word mergales, for to tempt doth ordinarily fignific no more then to offer temptations, to propose or suggest those objects, which if the man resist and reject. are matter of virtue in him, but having tempted here, fignifies evidently having brought them into fin i. e. wrought upon them, corrupted them by temptations, for otherwise his labour in preaching the Gospel to them would not become vain by that means. So when God is faid to give men to Chrift, Joh. 6. 37. the meaning is, that by Gods preventing and preparing grace, they do effectually come to Christ, receive and embrace the Gospel. Meraphim Images, or forms, Judg 17.5. Hof. 3. 4. fignifieth, 1. In general, the compleat image of man, 1 Sam. 19.13.

2. An Idol made for mens private use, in their own House, which were (as it were) their Houshold gods, Gen. 31. 30. Judg. 17.5. They are called gods, because of the worship exhibited to them. Hence cometh Decamever, to wor hip.

The manner of their making (as Elias in Thisby tells) was, they took a child uncircumcifed, whose head they pinched off with their nails, which they feafoned with falt and spices, and put a little place of Gold under the tongue, and writ upon it the name of an unclean spirit, which they worshipped.

The use of these Images, was to consult with them as Oracles, concerning things for the present unknown, or future, to come. To this purpose they were made by Astrologers under certain Constellations, capable of Heavenly influences, whereby they were enabled to speak, Zech. 10.2. And one reason why Rachel stole her Fathers Images was, that he should not consult with them, to know what way Jacob took his flight. Godwin's Moses and Aaron. lib. 4. c. 9.

Concerning the Taraphim that Michol kept in her house; Note, that it is taken three ways in Scripture.

1. Univace, for the Teraphims which the Magicians used, Gen. 31. 19.

2. Analogice, for the Idols which the Idolaters worshipped, Judg. 18.14. & 17. 5. These were not like Laban's Teraphim, but were so called by way of Analogie; for the worshipping of Idols is the worshipping of devils, I Cor. 10. 21.

3. £quivocè, such was that of Michol, I Sam. 19. 13. made only to the form of a man, for it is not likely that David who had a care to purge his House of abominations, Psal. 101. would have suffered his house to be polluted with Teraphim, either in the first or second sence. Weems Degen. Sons. p. 88.

"Teraphim] Gen. 31. 19. were Images in the shape of men, as may be gathered, 1 Sam. 19.13, 16. Testament The word Staffien in the New Testament doth every where fignifie a Covenant, as Mat. 26. 28. Mar. 14. 24. Luk. 22. 20. (and so the Heb. This which is rendred by Sea-Ban fignifies a covenant, but never a Testament) 2 Cor. 3. 6. Gal. 4. 24. excepting only in Heb. 9. 16, 17. where it infallibly fignifies a will or Testament, which yet is taken in by way of accommodation, as a fecond fense of the word superadded to the former of a Covenant, in which it is used, ver. 15, 18, 19, 20. for there the Stabnan, which was faid to be confecrated with blood, was the Tables of the Law, the Commandments, ver. 19. and will be fitly rendred there Covenant not Testament, ver. 20. It being the constant custom and practise of the Eastern Nations to use blood in the ftriking of any pact or covenant, but not in making every will and Testament, and to that the express testimony of Exod. 24. 6. which is there cited, doth belong; the Brinkline of blood being the ceremony following Moses's reheating the Commandments to the people, Exod, 20, & 21, & 22, & 22, as the

**Rem Mestament** The Covenant of God, in regard of the dispensation of it under the Gospel, by Christ, towards Christian people, without such Types and Prophesies. Also with few Ceremonies, and with much more clearness, and fuller Revelation of the truth, and more plentiful graces of the Spirit, to endure always new, and the same to the end of the world, Jer. 31.33, 34. Act. 2. 17, 18. This divers manner of administration, and delivery of the Covenant of Testament, causeth it, that being but one in fubflance, (to wit, falvation by faith in 'Chrift) yet it is called Old and New Teffament, as if it were 'two, Heb. 8. 9, 10. See Covenant.

'DID Testament ] The agreement or covenant of God, which is called [Old] in regard of the first dispensation of it by Moses, towards the Jews, in many figures and shadows of Rites and Sacrifices, and with other obscure and dark Revelations by Prophefies; which dispensation is now ended. "Two Telfaments | Two types, and figures to shadow forth in some fort, and to represent the Two Covenants of Grace and Works. Gal. 4. 22. For these are the two Testaments, the one, &c. Agar which with her Son Ismael was abiding in Arabia, doth represent the Legal Covenant, (or of the Law) which was published in Sinai, a mountain of Arabia; and striketh the hearts of finners with servile fear, because none can keep it, and it threatneth eternal death to all that break it. Therefore, such as trusted in the Ceremonies and works of the Law, done by their own frength, are lyable to the curfe, and caft out of the Family or Church of God, (as Agar and Ifmael out of Abrabam's house) that they never enjoy the inheritance of the life which is eternal. But Sarab, who not by natural fleength that the lacked, but by virtue of Gods promise, bore Isaac of Abraham; she represents the Evangelical Covenant, or promife of grace, wherein such as freely be begotten of the Spirit, do put their truft, and are thereby justified and become inheritours of heaven, as Isaac the Son of the promise, etijoyed his Fathers inlieritance. These two Covenants being weighed in the ballance of falle Apostles, who ascribed part of salvation to the works of the Law, or of the Pharifees, who imbraced the Law in flead of Christ; then these Covenants are not only two, but flat contrary to themfelves: whence arifeth the conclusion fet down by the Apofile, Gal. 5. 2, 4. Christ profiteth you nothing; ye are fain from grace, if you be justified by the Law, &c.

Thummim Truth or perfection, Exod. 28. 30. Lev. 8. 8. Numb. 27. 21.

It is always joyned with Urim, except in two places, Exod. 17. 21. & 1 Sam. 28. 8. They feem to be two precious ftones given by the Lord himself, to be set into the Breast-plate : for Exod. 28. 30. the Lord faith not, Thou shalt make Vrim and Thummin, as he had faid of the rest of the Breast-plate, but he faith, Thou Shalt put in the urim and Thummim.

The manner how the Lord revealed himself to the High-Priest by Urim and Thummim, was, when the Priest had put on the Breast-plate, it was a fign to him, that the Lord would inspire him what to answer. Weems, Christ. Syn. 25. 16.

urim and Toummim were not two, but one and the same thing, and therefore sometime they are called by one and the same name Numb. 27. 21. 1 Sam. 28. 6.

2. The ftones in the High-Priefts Breaft-plate are called the Vrim and the Thummim, Exod. 28. 30.

3. The answer that God gave was not by any appearance in the stones, but it was given by the mouth of the Priest, Numb.

4. The Priest when he was to receive the answer, was to have the Ephod on, 1 Sam. 23, 9.
5. The Prieft when he was to receive an answer, was to stand before the Ark, Judg. 20. 27, 28.

The manner then of inquiring was thus: The things to be inquired must be of weight and generality; for the stones reprefented the judgment of all the people, Exod. 28. 30. therefore the inquiry by them must be general: such was that que-Stion at Shiloh, Judg. 1. 2. Woo Shall first fet upon the Canaanites? and fuch was that of all Ifrael, Shall I go up against my brother Benjamin? Judg. 20. 23.

When fuch a scruple was to be resolved, it was told the High-Priest what he should ask: So David wished Abimelech the High-Priest at Nob, to enquire whether his Journey (hould prosper, 1 Sam. 22. 10. So did the Danites to the Idolatrous faigned High-Prieft, Judg. 18. 5.

The Priest thus knowing what to ask, put on the Ephod and Breaft-plate, which hung infeparably at it: This do Davids words mean, when he faith to Abiathar the Prieft, Bring bither the Ephod, 1 Sam. 23. 9. and for this it was that Abiathar made fure of the Ephod when he fled from Nob, 1 Sam.

Without the ftones on his Breaft, the Prieft enquiring not for the stones represented Ifrael; and when the Priest brought them before the Lord, he brought (as it were ) Israel and them before the Lord, he brought (as it were) Israel and their matters before him; and to go without these, was to go without the troil of without his errand. If Sant's conscience could have told of no other cause why God would not answer him, (as it might ered by in, as Gen. 41.29. & 25. 8. Exod. 5. 12. & 7. 19, | many) yet he might fee this to be one reason, viz. Because though he had the Ark near him, yet he had neither the High-Prieft, nor Ephod; and feeing his cross in this, that he could not be answered, his conscience might tell him what he did when he flew the Priests of the Lord.

When the Priest knew what to inquire about, and put on these habiliments, he went and flood before the Ark of the Lord. and enquired about the matter; and the Lord answered him from off the Propitiatory, from between the Cherubims, and to the Priest answered the people.

Now there was some difference in the Priests manner of enquiring, according to the fituation of the Ark; when the Tabernacle was up, the Priest went into the holy place, and stood close by the vail, which parted the Holy from the most Holy, and there enquired, and God from between the Cherubims gave him an answer. But when distant from the Tabernacle, travelling up and down, then did the Priest in his Robes ftand before the Ark, as it stood covered with the Curtains, and enquired, and the answer was given him in behalf of Israel, whom God saw on his Breast: for this reason the stones, for whose sake the perfect light of resolution was given, are called, The perfect light of Urim and Thummim; and the answer given from the Priests mouth, is called, The answer by Urim and Toum-

David once enquired of the Prieft, having the Ephod bur wanting the Ark, and God answered him and shewed him, that God was not bound to means; on the contrary, Saul once enquired of the Ark, wanting the Ephod, and God answered him nor, shewing him how God honoured his Priest, whom Saul had dishonoured, even to the Sword, Lightfoot Gleanings out of

"Eljunder] A great noise, and caused in the clouds, by the breaking out of hot and dry exhalations, beating against the edg of the cloud, Pfal. 18. 13. The Lord thundred in the Heaven. Exod. 19. 16. There were thunderings and lightenings. Thurder is a witness of Gods power, and serveth to strike terror and fear into men, that the godly may be humbled, and the better subdued unto God, and the wicked confounded, and left without excuse.

Thunder is put for the fearful and horrible judgments that God poureth on the wicked, Ifa. 29. 6.

2. For the perfecutions that the wicked use against the godly, Rev. 8. 5.

It is put for the voice of God, Exod. 9. 28. marg.

Thunder is either natural, or spiritual, which is the word of God; between them there is a great fimilitude,

I. Natural thunder is called, the voice of God; and fo is fpiritual thunder, but with this difference; the natural is not a distinct voice, it sheweth that there is a God, but not distinctly, who, and what this God is; the one is a voice in the air, the other in the Sanctuary, Pfal. 29. 9. In the Temple every one fpeaketh

2. They are like in Subtilty; natural thunder will break the bones, and not the flesh, and pierce very subtilly; but the spiritual far surpasseth it, for it will divide between the marrow and the bones, Heb. 2. 12.

3. Natural thunder maketh the Hindes to caive, it rendeth the rocks, and breaketh the hardest things that resist it, but not the Softest. So the word of the Lord resisteth the proud, and giveth grace to the humble, Jam. 4. 6.

The Lord was wont to reveal himself to his people in the thunder, Pall. 81. 7. Exod. 19. 16. and with it he utually foretold them something to come, John 12. 29. when the Father said to his Son, I have glorified it, and will glorifie it again, veri 28. some that stood by said, It thunders, others said, It was an Angel spake to him; the reason was, because the revelation was usually in thunder; and John in all the revelations made to him, joyneth thunder with the revelation, as chap. 4. 5. & 6. 1.& 10. 3.

Therefore because the two thunders go together, the Hebrews call them, tomim, gemelli, Twins. The Christian Jews who observe that prophesse and thunder went usually together, when they hear it thunder, they ask of the other Tews, what is the cause they hear no voice, nor Angel speaking to them, of their Messias to come? and these wretches, when they hear it thunder, light Candles, hoping to hear that comfortable voice of their Messias, whom they expect so long. Weems Mor. Law. P. 11. 12.

Thunder | Hearing a voice, or bearing indeed the voice, or thunder, Act. 9. 7. What is here faid of those that were with Paul, that they heard the voice, seems directly contrary to what's Fece the other. So Heb. 12. 16. Whose voice hath shook the earth, i.e. whose thunder, and lightnings, and voice of a trumpet exceeding loud, Exod. 19. 16. and fo Luk. 9. 35. the voice of a cloud saying, was the thunder with a voice in it, a revelation from heaven given in thunder. So Mat. 3. 17. 2 voice from heaven saying, i. c. a thunder from heaven sending forth this voice, which therefore was wont to be called 77 71, the daughter of voice, or a voice coming out of it. or as the voice from heaven, Joh. 12. 28. is exprest by the by-flanders, by Beguthin paporevas, that it thundred, and an Angel pake to him, which is explained diffinely by St. John, Rev. 4. 5. where Bestrai and corai both are named, ot. join, nev. 4. 5. where Beginni and comat both are named, and chap. 10. 3. the feven thunders delivered their voices. By this the difficulty will be cleared, for here chap. 9. the voice ought to be rendred thunder, which was here joyned with Lightning, which fhone or flash about him, ver. 3. As for the voice of him that the the control of the con that spake to me, chap. 22. 9. that was the voice of the Angel speaking out of heaven, or out of the cloud. Both which put together fignifie no more then this, that St. Paul's companions at that time, faw the light of the lightning, and heard the noise of the thunder, (which is the importance of the place here) but beard not the articulate voice that came out of the thunder, i.e. the Saul, Saul, &c. the voice of the Angel speaking to him. Hithe J. Abraham gave him tithes of all, Gen. 14. 20. The payment of tithes is ancienter then the Levitical Law, and being paid to Melchisadec a type of Christ, they are not abolished by the Gospel, but may be continued as an Evangelical revenue for the maintenance of those who exhibit Sacramental Bread and Wine ( the materials of Melchisedec's benevolence) to the People, and bless them in the name of the Lord, as Melchisedec did Abraham. Annot.

One of Ten, faith the Chal. Paraphraft. This was a fign of homage and thankfulness to God; for as tribute is paid to Kings for their Attendance to the affairs of the Commonwealth, Rom. 13. 6. 7. So Tithes in the Law are called holy, and an Heave-Offering to the Lord, Levit. 27. 30. Numb. 18. 24. and before the Law Jacob paid them to the Lord, Gen. 28. 22. and he appointed his Tithes to the Priests, Numb. 28. 8, 31. And Abraham the Tenth generation from Sem, here payeth to the Priest Melchifedee ( who is generally thought to be Sein ) the Tenth of all. The Priests also and Levites of the Law, who now was in Abraham's loyns, did in him pay Tithes to Melchisedze, werefore his Priesthood was greater then theirs; Heb. 7. 9, 10, 11.

This fervice was also kept among the Heathens. Pisifiratus Tryant at Athens, writeth to Solon thus; all the Athenians do feparate Tithe of their fruits, not to be fpent unto our ufe, but for publick Sacrifices, and common profits, &c. Diog. Lacret. in vit. Solonis. So among the Latines they were wont to pay Tithes to their good Hercules, as Pompon. Latus de Sacerd. and Macrob, Saturn. lib. 3. cap. 12. affirm. Aynfw.

All the fitthe of the Land, Sec. Lev. 27. 30. There are two forts of Tithe in the Law; the first which (after the payment of the first fruits) was given to the Levites, Numb. 18.21. The second which (after the payment of the former Tithe) was separated the first the payment of the former Tithe). rated and carried up to ferusalem, and there eaten by the Owners, Deut. 12. 6, 11. & 14. 22, 23. which second Tithe every third year was given to the poor, Deut. 14. 28. Idem.

Such as would be further informed of the things which in general were Titheable, of the feveral kinds of them, and of the time when each fort began to be Titheable, may have recourse to Goodwin's Moses and Aaron, lib. 6. cap. 3. p. 274, &c. They also which scruple the lawfulness of them, may, by perusing a Treatife of B. Carleton, entituled, Tithes examined and proved to be due, &c. A Treatise of R. Eburn, entituled, The maintenance of the Miniflery. Another of F. Robarts, entimeed, The revenue of the Gofpel is Tithes. Another, The poor Vicars plea for Tithes. Another The Country-mans Catechism, or The Churches plea for Tithes ; with feveral others who have writ on this Subject, receive ( if they will ) abundant fatisfaction.

To conclude, To pay, or give what God appoints is not the way to impoverish men, but to enrich them. The Hebrews have a very elegant Proverb to that purpose, רועשר בשניל שרעשר that is, pay thy tithes that thou mayest be rich. The same word in the Hebrew (the different placing of one little prick over one of the letters makes all the difference) fignifies to pay tithes and to grow rich, which gave occasion to that Proverb. Annot. on Prov. 3. 10.

Mithes | Heb. 7. 6. received tithes of Abraham, &c. If Abrabam by paying Tithes, acknowledged Melchisedec's superiority; much more should all Abrahams off-spring acknowledge Christs superiority, whom Melchisedec typically represented, by paying what is due for the maintenance of his Service, &c.

As receiving tithes proves superiority in Office; so paying of tithes, or maintenance in room of Tithes, proveth subjection to that Office, and Office-bearers who receive the same; and so maintenance of Ministers should be a matter of honouring them, or rather of him that fent them, of its own proper inftitution; though men turn it into a beggerly stipend, and count the more basely of the Office, because of the manner of maintenance. Dickson. The ground for the payment of tithes of old were,

1. Because they were holy unto the Lord, Lev. 27. 30. 2. That the people might learn to fear the Lord their God always, Deut. 14. 22, 23. and be bleffed of him, Deut. 26. 12. 14. Mal. 2. 10.

2. That the Priests and Levites might be maintained thereby. as is often expressed.

4. That the poor, ftrangers, fatherless, &c. might be relieved. Now (if in flead of the Priests and Levites which did ferve at the Altar, we take in the Ministers of the Gospel, who preach the Gospel, for whom the Lord hath ordained, that they which preach the Gospel, should live of the Gospel, I Cor. 9. 14.) the same causes remaining, Tithes are eyen still payable. Hyperius. Tithes are a tribute which people are bound to pay their Ministers for their work. Tithes are due to the Minifters of the Gospel, not of alms, or of benevolence, which the people may pay us if they will; but of juffice, we have a right and interest to them; as the labourer hath to his hire, the souldier to his stipend, &c. 1 Cor. 9. 7. &c. And tithes are perpetual:

As 1. Which were paid to Christ before the Law.

2. Are the Lords, Lev. 27. 30.

3. Were in the Law of Nature.

4. Were neither Iudicial nor Ceremonial.

5. There is no proof in all the New Testament for any other ordinary maintenance of the Ministery.

6. After the times of perfecution, they were refumed and effablifhed again in the Church.

7. The causes remaining, (as hath been shewed they do) the things themselves, (Tithes) do still remain. Jones, who largely handleth this subject.

'Tithis were a tenth part of all one had, offered to God, and to his service, which Jacob vowed to do, Gen. 28. 22. and Abraham paid to Melshifedes, Gen. 14. 20. Hereof some parts at least were offered in Sacrifice, Numb. 18. 24. A shadow and figure, as other oblations were, figuring Christ. The equity is, out of our goods to minister sufficiency to Pastors and poor, Gal. 6. 6. 1 Cor. 9. 11. Tithes (as first-fruits of Corn and <sup>c</sup> Cartle ) the fandifying of the reft to their ufc, Deut. 26.15. and fecondly, a thankill remembrance of Gods benefits, Gen.

Tithes were paid unto God as a fign of homage and thankfulness unto him, Gen. 14. 20. & 28. 22. and when they were kept back from the Priests, God complained that he was robbed, Mal. 3. 8. The paying of them was an honouring of God, Prov. 3. 9. Hence the Apofle, Heb. 7. 7, 8. compared with vers. 4. proveth the superiority of Melchisedee and his Priesthood above Abraham and the Priesthood of Levi, because Abraham and Levi in his loyns paid tithe unto him, as the leffer unto

The enemies of Tithes (or rather of the Ministery of the Gospel, denying all set maintenance for them) will be hardly put to it, to prove that ever God lost his superiority, or hath given it away, and that confequently homage is not still due unto

And seeing the Priesthood of Christ is greater then that of Aaron, and hath never yet refigned nor loft that superiority, it is unjust to deprive Christ of the sign of his superiority, in taking the tithe from the Ministers of the Gospel, who have as near a relation unto Cbriff, as the Prieft under the Law had unto God; comp. Mal. 3. 8. with Luke 10.6. & 2 Cor. 5. 18, 19, 20. and so much the more deserve a better maintenance, by how much more excellent their Ministery is then that

It is an unjust thing to leave them to the meer benevolence of the people, alledging the practice of the Primitive Church; for their zeal and love to the Gospel was so hot, that they were ready to part with all they had for the maintenance of it. But the zeal of these latter days (if any at all ) is so cold, that most men will not part with a nutshel unto the Ministers of Christ, for all their pains and labour, but what they are forced unto.

Mittle ] The Greek word negaia, fignifieth properly, a line best crooked, or the top of a horn. So that Mat. 5. 18. & Luke 16. 17. where it is used, it signifies the bending or howing that is in the top of some Hebrew letters: Or, according to some by tittle is meant the Hebrew vowels, the meaning is, that not so much as the least part of a letter of the Law (hould perish; which is not to be properly taken, for it hath been, and may be that some of the Hebrew letters in the Old Testament should be changed, as may appear by the divers readings in fundry Copies, for that may be without the loss of any sentence; but his meaning is, that not the least parcel or sentence of the Law shall pass away, making parts in the Law, to be like tittles in the Alphahet.

It's faid that their flesh moderately eaten doth burthen the flomach, but being eat in great measure, comforts the same. It goeth very flowly, nor will it come forth of its shell as long as it conceiveth there's any danger. They lay their eggs in the fand wherewith it covereth them, fetting marks whereby to know the place. Against Serpens and Vipers, they use the hearb Origan, or wilde Marjoram.

It's written of the Sea-Tortoifes in India that they are so big, as that with one of them a dwelling cottage may be covered. Also, that in one of them they may row on the water, as in a boat. Nor is their either buckler or shield so strong as their shell upon which the wheel of a Cart loaden may pass over and yet not break it. It never casteth its coat; is an enemy to the Partridge and Ape.

The Land temale-Tortoile is unwilling to copulation, because it ! must lie on the back, and cannot rise without help, which the male doth often leave to lying, whereby it becometh a prey to Kites. Their eyes are most clear and splendent. They seed in the night, and with their mouths crush the hardest things.

Mozture Heb. 11. 35. were tortured, namely by being beaten with cudgels unto death. It hath its denomination from TULTALON, Which fignifieth a drum usually, and hence some have Parallell'd this torture with that among the Romans, termed Equaleus, as if the person thus tortured were racked and stretched out in manner of a Drum-head: but it fignifieth also a Drum-flick, and thence cometh the punishment to be termed Tympanismus, that is a tabring, or beating one to death with cudgels, as if it were with Drum-flicks. Mrance] The Greek word Ensures, fignifieth a falling from the former estate and condition. Hence Synechochically, being referred to the mind, it fignifieth that confernation and affonishment that happeneth unto it, when it is led out of it felf from fensible things, to the contemplation of spiritual. It is a kind of Revelation whereby God revealeth himself to his servants; and it is twofold.

1. A divine trance, when the servants of God were taken up in spirit separate as it were from the body, and out of the body, that they might fee some heavenly mysteries revealed unto them. Peter was in such a trance, Act. 10. 10. & 11. 5. and Paul, Act. 22. 17. John was in a higher trance, when he was taken up in the spirit on the Lords-day, and saw so many heavenly visions of those things that should befall the Church afterwards, Rev. 4. 2. but Paul was in the highest of all, when he was taken up into the third heaven, 2 Cor. 12. 1, 2.

6. Diabolical, which is that trance of Witches and Sorcerers. when they lie dead and fenfeless for a time, and their fouls seem to be out of their body, yet the union betwixt the foul and the body is not diffolved, as they believe, but the act of vivification only is suspended only for a time. Weems 4. deg. Sons.

P. 72. 73. Trance] He fell into a trance, Act. 10. 10. The word Engages in the Greek, is ADTTM, which fignifies either, 1. deep fleep (and a trance of the nature of that) Or 2. amazement, astonish ment, and accordingly is by the Septuagint rendred fometimes Daμβ. G., as Pfal. 68. 29. and Servos φόβ. 1 Sam. 26. 12. and fonetime Excasion, as Gen. 2.21. where it is (though we render it a deep flee) of the same kind with that here, a trance or extasic, and therefore is rendred in the Heb. a Brong sleep, signifying or intimating it to be something more then that sleep which is ordinary among men. Proportionably to these acceptions of the Hebrew, the word Execus in the New Testament signifies sometimes amazement and astonishment, from fear or wonder, Mark 5. 42. & 16. 8. Luke 5. 26. Act. 3. 10. and sometimes a trance or extase, when the outward senses being bound up as it were with sleep, Gods will is inwardly revealed to the understanding, by way of intellectual vision. '5. 24. God took him. Which phrase, though it be sometimes applied to the reception of the soul, as Ezek. 24. 16. Jonas 4. 3. yet it is fitted in Scripture to the assumption of the whole man from hence to heaven. I see no more absurdity why the bodies of some may not be received into heaven before Christ, then the souls of all the Saints which departed before his death. For whereas Christ is called the first stuits of them that fleep, It will not prove that Christ did first of all other in body facend to heaven, but that his refurrection is the cause of ours to eternal life; as the blessing and use of the residue of fruits 'did depend upon the benediction of the surface. That place in the Hebrews will only teach this, that by his flesh crucified, he merited and purchased the opening of heaven to all that ever entred; not that his body came there before all other bodies. Sure it is, that both Moses and Elias were alive in Mount Tabor, the translating of whose bodies was a comfortable pledge to all the holy Fathers, of the future refurrection of all the faithful. If their bodies which rose at the resurrection of Christ were taken up into heaven before his own Ascension.

And cried traveling in birth. Some refer this to the longing and expectation of the Church of the Jews, vehemently defiring and expecting to see the promised Messiab: but St. John here prophefied of things to come, as in chap. 4.1. is fignified to us plainly. Therefore the former interpretation feemeth to be better.

The pangs and torments, by reason of which the women in travel cried, were those grievous persecutions which the primitive Church suffered in bringing forth; for it is plain, that tribulations and adversity are likened to the forrows of child-bearing, Isa. 66. 7. Tremble] Deut. 20.3. Heb. make baste, marg. Trembling] Zech. 12.2. or flumber, or poyson, marg.

"fear and trembling Not that perplexed fear and horror of damnation, which wicked men have; but the awe of finning 'against God, and reverend dread of his Majesty, which holdeth the godly always conversant in good works, till they come to the end of their race, and attain the goal of falvation. Phil.2.12. · Work out (or make an end of) your salvation, with year and with trembling.

Hence there is no help at all for the Papifis, against the infallible certainty of Salvation by faith, which doth well admit (as 'a companion and a fruit) a godly fear and trembling at fin, (a fearing of humility:) but quite flutteth out that fervile fear of being damned, (a fear of diffrust.) See 1 Joh. 4. 1. Persett love casts out fear.

Fear and trembling, according to the use of Scripture, fignific nothing else but humility and modesty of mind; nor are these words joyned together ever found in any other fense, which will appear in five places, where only they are found; as,

I. Pfal. 2.11. where we are bid, Rejoyce in God with trembling : the word fignifieth, to leap for joy, whereum of ear is an enemy, being not without care and anxity of mind, but humility and modefty of mind agree well with this Joy.

III. Eph.6.5. where obedience with fear and trembling is recommended to Servants, who are not to serve with a slavish fear, doing nothing but by compillion, but to ferve them humbly and uprightly, in fimplicity of heart.

IV. Phil.2.13, where we are to work out our falvation with fear and trembling; that is, with all humility, not with a doubtful fear, the words going before, and following after, confirm it; he faid before, that Christ, notwithstanding the excellency of his gifts, yet took upon him the form of a Servant, humbling himself unto the death of the Cross, and having run his course, obtained the crown: So should we work out our salvation with fear and trembling; now these cannot stick together, if fear and trembling be any thing ele then bumility, the words following evidence the same: for it is said God worketh in us both to will and to do; which being so, there is no cause of doubtful fear, but great cause of humility. V. Rom. 11. 20. the Apostle opposeth trembling to pride, but there is no reason why fear (properly so called) should be oppofed to pride, seeing nothing is to proud as the Devil and wicked men, and yet nothing more fearful. Camero tom. 2. p. 101, 102,

2. Any fin or offence, either against God or man. Mat. 16.14. Neither will your Father forgive you your trefpaffes.

This word [trefpass] according to the Hebrew word, fignifieth seditions, iniquities, defections done purposely and disloyally, and therefore be hainous and criminal; it is more than fin, as may be gathered by Gen. 31. 36. Exod. 34.7. & Job 34. 37. He addern respass to sin. Pfal. 5.10.

Trespass The Greek word παράπτωμα, fignifieth properly, he very act of falling.

This Sacrifice was offered for fins done of Ignorance, but not for fins done ignorantly; between which this is the difference, fins of ignorance proceeded meerly of ignorance; fins done ignorantly, were fuch, as whereof ignorance was not the cause of them, as when one in drunkenness killeth a man, he doth it ignorantly, but not of ignorance, because he was milfully drunk, which drew on his ignorance; here his drunkenness and ignorance were joyned together, as the cause and the effect.

And there were fealed, Sec. of all the Tribes of the children of Ifrael, &c. Rev.7.4. Some understand this of all the faithful in general, the whole Ifrael of God, Gal. 6. 16. all that belong to falvation, Act. 13.48. and that are to be delivered from eternal destruction, Theff. 1.10. as those in Egypt from the sword of the destroying Angel, Exod. 12.7,13. Heb. 11.20. and so these should be the same with those mentioned, vers. 9.

Others, of such faithful only as were by a special providence to be preferved in those times of publick concussion and calamity, said thefore by a solemn fign to be marked out and sealed, which the other multitude living in other aftertimes, needed not, nor is affirmed of them, vers.9.

Again, others understand it of Jews, or Ifraelites by natural descent; but some such as are hereafter to be converted, Rom. 11.

Others, Of those of that Nation, who retained the Christian profession (as many no doubt did) even in those times, Rom. 11. 1, 2. Act. 2. 41, 47. & 44. & 21. 20. who yet are here feckoned by a definite number, though put for an indefinite; as numerable in comparison of the Gentile converts, which are said to be innumerable, vers. 9. and are sorted out according to the number of their Tribes, to shew, that no faithful, of what rank or sort soever, were excluded from having part in this priviledge. Of such sure, whether Jews by birth, or others, it must be understood, as were to live in the times of the terrible trumpets ensuing, for whose fecurity and indempnity, this flay was made of their founding upon the seventh Seal opened, Chap. 8.1,2,6. Annot.

The people of Ifrael was no Church long before; the Gentile Church is called Ifrael, because they were graffed instead of the Fews that were broken off. That a greater number of the Gentiles shall be saved, than of the Jews, is truly gathered out of this place. But that the elect of the Jews, as truly garriered out of this place. But that the elect of the Jews are in a certain number, because their number is fet down, and the other of the Gentiles is not, is more than the Scripture doth warrant. In the enumeration. on of the Tribes there is no respect had of Order, to shew that there is no regard had by God of carnal priviledges in the matter of falvation. This ought to be taken as an indefinite number, as well as the 7000. which had not bowed the knee to Baal. The holy Ghost is not content to have named the total sum of them that were sealed in Israel, but also divideth it into twelve times twelve thousand, distributed by equal portions among the twelve Tribes, every one of which is mentioned the one after the other, with the expression of its particular number: This sheweth that the number of the Elect, and multitude of Believers, are measured by certain proportions, which are known to him which is the Author. Leighs Annot.

Here the Catholick Church of the Gentiles, to be fenced with the feal of God, is figured by the type of Ifrael, the twelve Apofiles of that, aprly answering to so many Patriarchs of this: because the Church, which even from the first rejection of the Tems. hitherto was gathered out of the Gentiles, succeeded in the room of Ifrael, and was, as I may fo call it, Surrogated Ifrael, and in that place for a little while fo to be esteemed by God, until his old people again obtaining mercy, the fulness of the Gentiles should come in, namely, those mentioned vers. Dan and Ephraim, being Ring-leaders and Captains of the Israelitish Apostasie, were altogether unfit to represent the profession of pure Religion, but that notwithstanding the number of twelve may be filled, Levi is fet for Dan, and the name of Joseph tacitly supplyeth Ephraim.

The Saints of God are particularly known to him, he hath us in his Register, fo that he cannot forget us. The persons sealed are partly Jems, and partly Gentiles. Those are numbred first, because they were first in the Covenant. Of all ranks of people God hath his own; And though the Elect are many, yet the Reprobate are many more, for what is an 144000, in respect of all the thousands of Israel? The Tribes are not here reckoned in order as elsewhere, (but the sons of the Wives and Hand-maids are intermingled without regard of birth-right) to flew, that though prerogatives of fielh and bloud are respected on earth, yet are

Tributary | Shall be tributaries unto thee, Deut. 20. 11. Heb. hall be unto thee to tribute, which the Chald. expoundeth for offerers of tributes. And tribute is not only of mens goods, but of their persons, so to be paid with the labour of their bodies; as the Agyptians fet over Ifrael, Task (or Tribute) masters, to afflict them with their burthens, Exod. 1.11. and Solomon raised a tribute (or levy) of 30000 men, 1 King. 5.13. Aynfw.

"Eribute"] A fum of money paid unto Princes (for their better maintenance) according to the proportions of mens sub-flance. Rom.13.6. For this case ye paytribute.

"However the two Greek words, Phores, and Telos, used by * the Apostle, and Englished by our Translators, tribute, and cuspom, be confounded by some learned men, as Synonyma and equivalent, or of one fignification and force, yet being here by a particle disjunctive diffinguished, I judge with other judicious Expositors, that they fignishe two kinds of payments, one laid upon the person, which is properly Telos, or poll-money (custom here) because men were taxed by the poll, and paid man by 'man, as Mat. 17.25. The other laid upon mens substance, move-'able, as Merchandise; or unmoveable, as Lands, that is Phoros, (Tribute) because men were wont to bring it into the Kings Treafure, or because it was paid of commodities brought in.

'Thus with us there be two kinds of payments, the first called Subfidies, Tenths, Fifteenths, laid upon men according to abili-ty: The fecond is Impost, or Custom, due for Traffick; arising by Exportation and Importation.

Note further, that among the Romans, Tribute was paid to the Quaftors, or publick Treasurers: Custom to Publicans, or Customers: Fear was due to Officers of Justice, Judges, Prefidents, Serjeanrs, &c. Honour to the Emperor, or King, 1 Pet.

The Jews paid a threefold tribute to the Lord.

The second was Argentum transeuntis, which they paid to the Lord when they were numbred by the head. 2 King. 12.5.

The third was that Half-shekel, which they offered freely to the Lord; this had Aarons rod upon the one fide, and the pot of Manna upon the other; and when they were under the Romans, or captives under any other foraign Princes, the Masters of their Synagogues used to gather of them this Half-shekel yearly, and send it to ferufalem to the High-priest; this was not the penny which Casar craved of them, for it had Casar's image and superscription upon it, neither would the Lord have bidden them, give that to Cæsar which was due to God. This dedrachma, or tribute, which they paid to Cx far, was as much in value as the Half-flet k el; and Christ himself, though he was free, and the Kings Son, yet he paid it for himself, and for Peter, Mat. 17. 27. And Mary, when Christ was in her womb, went to Bethlehem to pay this tribute to Cæfar, Luk.2.5.

3. True is as much as natural, not made, as Joh.7.13. Know thee the only true God, &c. In all these senses Christ is the true

True is put for that which is most excellent. Thus Christ is faid to be the true light, because of himself, and originally he is light, others only by participation from him, Joh. 1.9. So the true bread; i.e. the most excellent bread, Joh. 6.32. and the true bread; j.h. thaving that perpetual sap of grace within himself, which he continually administers unto the sathful, whereby the other same for the they flourish, and bring forth the works of holiness and righte-

True bread grom Heaven, Joh. 6.32. As dan Sis fignifyeth truly valuable, or durable; or truly durable because it is durable. So here andis or and sos Bewors, true meat, or truly meat, is explained to be the bread of life, vers. 48. that on which he that feeds shall live for ever. So food that endures for ever, vers. 27. and opposite to Manna, on which they that feed, die, vers. 47.

1. As the word and sign truly noteth some special eminency wherein any attribute belongs to the fubiect; and when it is applyed to refemblances, it then fignifies that which is spoken of be more eminently that by what it's refembled, than that it's felf is; as, I am the true vine, i. e. a vine by bearing grapes (which yield wine) which make glad he heart of man, is not near to able and proper to refresh a thirsty person, as I am, as my commands and promises are. So St. John of Christ, ch. 1.9. that he is the true light, i.e. the most excellent. So Heb. 8.2. Heaven is the true Tabernacle, that of which the tabernacle was but a dark and poor refemblance; and fo this called annois agr G, true bread, and verf. 55. meat indeed, or truly meat, i.e. more nutritive, and strengthening, and comforting than meat and bread is.

Turn away thine eyes from me] So the last translation. Turn about thine eves over against me. Turn about thine eves. This word is used sometime for turning towards, 1 Chr. 12.22. Sometime for terning away, Ezek.7.22. Here it seemeth to be meant in the first sense; that the eyes of the Spouse, (which are like Doves, Cant.4.1.) should now in her Beloveds absence be turned to him by faith, that he thereby might be encouraged and cheered in her love. Over against me towards me, though a far off, so the word is used fundry times. It may also be Englished, from me, or from before me. Ayniw.

But the most facile and general opinion is, that they are the most elegant, (and indeed poetical) expression of abundant ardent love, uttered by Chrift, as by one wounded and overcome Hall. in bartel, by the darts of his enemy. See To overcome.

**Eurtle | A Bird so called, being of Doves the least, a lovely, delightful, harmless, simple, and chaste fowl. Jer. 8, 7. Even the Turtle and the Swallow observe their times. The Prophet thereby accuseth the Jews of blockishness, having less understanding in heavenly matters, than Birds and Beafts, in discerning their seafons of hear, cold, &.

2. The Church of God in earth, being like a Turtle. Pfal. 74. 19. Give not the foul of thy Turtle, &c. A Metaphor. As the Turtle, fo the true Church of God on earth is small, weak, unarmed, exposed to many dangers from beaftly ravenous men; yet remaineth meek and innocent, both by imputed and inherent innocency, whereby the is still amiable to Christ her hufband, and all her children, though hated and persecuted of the world.

It was to be offered up into the Lord, Lev. 1.4. & 5.7. & 12. 7. & 14.22,30. If either male or female die, the other continueth chafte, maketh choice of no other. The female after the death of the male loveth folitariness. It will not light upon any filthy thing, nor upon a dead carion. Its voyce is not at all times one and the fame. In the Summer it's feen and heard, not in the Winter. It's fruitful, loving to its own kind, entertaining peace with other Birds. In the Winter it caffeth the feathers, which again grow against the Spring.

Hurtle The voice of the Tartle is heard in our Land, Cant. 2.12. The Church it felf is sometime meant by the Tartle, Pfal. 74.19. his graces, is refembled by a Dove, as at our Lords Baptilm, Mat. 3.16. and thus the Chaldes expoundeth it here, the voyce of the holy Ghoft. So it fignifiesh the voyce of the Spirit in the people of Chrift, mutually comforting one another, and joyntly praifing God, with and for his graces. The Tartle Down casting her feathers, is faid to hide her felf in Winter in holes of trees, her voyce therefore being now heard, fignifieth that Summer was come-

It fignified a mourning and contrite heart: whose groanings though many and grievous, yet are musick in his ears; and sweet evidences both of his Spirit abiding in us, and of the work of grace, like a net and lively Spring, begun by it. Annot.

**Eurn away Heb.12.25. If we turn away from him that speaketh from heaven. If they escaped not, who refused to hearken to the Law, which God by an Angel, (or by Moles) delivered to man, here upon earth; how much less shall we escape, if we mate, whose son is mixed with a greaning sadness, in the Winter man, here upon earth; how much less shall we escape, if we mate, whose son is mixed with a greaning sadness, in the Winter man, here upon earth; how much less shall we escape, if we mate, whose son is mixed with a greaning sadness, in the Winter man, here upon earth; how much less shall we escape, if we in the winter man and the same the Spring, with his troubled Cantillation. What bird of Order must this be, that with his sad song doth order all the birds? It is no other but he that in Lev. 1. 14. & 5.7. is appointed for burnt facrifice, even Messah himself, who during the Laws winter was couched under shadows, and lay therein as dead, but together with the Gentiles time of vocation did step forth, thewed himself in our nature, ( Beda understandeth by the Tartie Christs humanity) sung personally to the jams, and first fruits of the Gentiles, but Ministerially to their successors by subfitutes, yet whether in himself or others, all is the Turtles voyce; a voyce that may be discerned by his sad gladness, or glad sadness.

The beaft bad two horns like a Lamb. Some understand these two horns, of two French Kings, Pipinus and Carolus Magnus, who fuccoured the two Popes, Stepbanus the second, and Adrian (whom they took to be innocent and harmless as Lambs) against the Kings of the Lombards: Ariftulphus and Desiderius.

Two hundzed And those that kept the fruit of it two hundred, Cant. 8. 12. that is, Thy labourers shall receive also according to the agreement, every one for his work, see Mat. 22.1,2,50. So the Apostle saith, every man shall receive his own reward, according to his own labour, I Cor. 2.8. Aynfw.

Christ doth not send labourers into his Vineyard without hopes of reward; though the chiefest remuneration is to see their work prosper, and that fruit abounds towards their account before God, vet they shall not shut a door in his house for nought, Mal. 1. 10. Mar. 20.1.2. Christ allows a fifth part with himself, a glory almost like his own, with which they shall shine for ever, that are faithful in his work, Dan. 12.3. Annot.

"Ewo and forty months Three years and a half, which is half a Prophetical week, according to Dan.9. and jumpeth with the other numbers; of a time, two times, and half a time: also, a thousand, two hundred, threescore days. Which several numbers do note and point out one thing, to wit, that the time of the tyranny of Antichrift, perfecuting the Saints, is certain, fixed and determined, which he cannot pass, and that it shall not be very long, which greatly maketh for the confolation of the Saints. Rev. 11.2. Thy holy City they Shall tread under foot two and forty months. Where these months took their beginning, and where they are determined. I take not on me to judge; certain it is, that in these 42. months, every day is put for a year (as in the prophesie of Weeks by Daniel) and every week for leven years, and every month to confift of thirty days according to the 'Vezyptian account: and finally, that it is the whole space of time,

'wherein Antichrist shall arise, increase, or wax; be wounded, revive and take heart again, to execute his cruelty in that City which was the Oveen of the World (as it were) where he and his Favourites should bathe themselves in pleasures. Therefore they do err, which do precisely understand these months of three vears and a half, where by this number myffically is fignified the whole time of Antichrists reign, which is by the former computation, twelve hundred and threescore years.

Which the Rhemists do falsely expound of Enoch and Eliah, preaching and striving against Antichrist, and by him to be martyred, &c. All meer forgeries, without warrant of Scripture. Whereas by two is meant a few, yet sufficient to call the elect, and convince others.

"冠" mo mitneffes A competent number of faithful preachers which teltifie against the errors of Antichrist, and for the do-Grine of Christ, Rev. 11.3. I will give the fame to my two witnesses. These witnesses, though few, weak and contemptible, yet shall be a sufficient number to help and confirm one another.

Two witnesses ] so called, because they bear witness to truth and holiness, against all the errors and unheliness of Antichrist. In the number two, is an allufion to Moses and Aaron in the wilderness: Eliaband Elisha, when the Israelites worshipped the Calves and Baal; Zerubbabel and Jehoshua in Babylon, and after the return of the people. Or, two, because two with sies were sufficient to confirm a thing, Deut. 17.6. Mar. 18. 16. 2 Cor. 13.1. Mini-flers were Christs witnesses, Act. 1.8. Annot.

Some hold that the witnesses are the old and new Testament, Joh. 5.39. (which are overcome in Popery, and their own Tra-ditions made equal, orrather fet above them) Others, the zealous and fincere preachers, and professors of the Word of God, who are more fitly faid to oppose themselves against the Beast, to be killed, not to be buried, to revive in their successors, to ascend by themselves to heaven, who both by their doctrine and conversa-tion, give witness unto the truth. But those two opinions do fitly agree in one, fince the testimony of these and the Testament is but one, and Antichrift is an enemy both to Scripture, and Scripture men. Leighs Annot.

Thosfold And when he is made, ye make him twofold more the child of hell then your felves, Mat. 23.15. When you have got a Gentile to your religion, by teaching him the worser part of your dodrine, that which fortifies him against the receiving of Christ, and by pressing him to that legal strictness (which is commanded you as fews, but belongs not to him) you put him in a far worse and more dangerous estate, and make him more vehemently to oppose the Gospel, then your selves, to your own children, natural Tews. Every deceitful thing, counfel, hope, device, linagination, which bring not our endeavours to pafs, Pfal.4.2.

For the creature was made subject to vanity. Rom. 8.20 Maraiones. vanity hath a double notion; one, as it refers to the brather Idols, which being problems of the problems, are called warmen, one, or vanities, Ad. 14.14, and fo vanity here is all their ignorant, filthy Idol-worship, and fo it's Eph.4.17, and fo Rom. 121. & 2 Pet. 2. 18. Another, as it's rendred, wretched, miserable, and both thee may seem to be here put together; as the course of the Gentiles; was an idolatrous, villanous, and withali an unhappy, wretched courfe to which the Devil had brought them, and God in his just judgments had delivered them up, for their despising the light of nature. Dr. Ham. Annot. b.

1. It fignifieth unprofitable, without fruit, Eccl. 2. 22. & 3. 9. Mal.3.14. So doth the Apostle shew the vanity of the conversation of carnal men, Rom. 6.21. What fruit had ye of these things whereof now ye are ashamed? the end whereof is death.

2. It fignifieth empty, without any substance; as emptiness is opposed to that which is full, or heavy, or true. As-

1. To fulnes; so promises not fulfilled are said to be vain promises. Job (chap. 7.3.) calleth the time of his life months of va-nety; that is, empty of folid joy, peace or comfort. And Pfal. 2.1. The Gentiles imagine vain things; (i.e.) empty, without reason or success. In which sense whatsoever occupyeth the hearts and hands of wicked men, or with whatfoever they are occupied, may juffly be faid to be zain, as having no folidity but a peace, iccurrity and joy, altogether falle, yielding a fieming contentment for fome small time; like the hungry man dreaming that he is eating, but when he awaketh, his fromach is empty. Ifa.29.8.

2. As it is opposite to gravity; as light and inconstant men, are called vain men; in which sense the prophet calleth Idolaters and their Idols, vain light things, like the wind, Isa. 41.

3. As it is opposite to truth; as deceitful men and lyars are called vain men. Pial. 4. 3. men are said to bunt after vanity and Gggg2 follow after lies; where vanity is expounded by lies. Hence Deut. 32.21. Idols are faid to be vain, because they are false and seigned, not being such as they appear to be, but only in the foolish and perverse opinion of men: And this vanity also reigneth in the mind of carnal men, because it is averse from the truth, and ready to embrace falshood and lies.

3. It fignifieth, to be frustrate and disappointed of the end, which is the proper fignification of the Greek word; in this fense the Scripture calleth that vain which disappointeth us of our end, and feeds our expectation with a vain hope; whereunto Evah feems to have alluded, in the naming of her second Son Abel; i.e. vanity, because she thought her first Son Cain to be the promised feed that should tread down the head of the Serpent; but by the wickedness of his life perceiving it not possible for him to be the man the experied, upon her next Son the imposed a name, to intimate her being deceived of her hope. So Pf.33.17. the horse is said to be a vain thing. And Plal. 60. 1 the help of man is vain; i.e. a deceirful safeguard, a lying help, only feeding the expectation with a vain hope. So I Cor. 15.17. If Christ be not risen (faith the Apostle) then our hope is in vain; i.e. deceirful and false, as being yet in our fins; in this sense the hope and confidence of every unregenerate man, may justly be called vain, because it shall deceive and disappoint him at the last, when he standeth in most need of help and comfort.

4. It fignifieth brittle, weak, and obnoxious to change, whence we use to say a thing is vanished to nothing. So Job speaks of his friends, ch.27.12. Why are ye thus altogether vain, i.e. why do ye urge so many idle and frivolous reasons against me, which come to nothing. In this sense vain hath two degrees;

1. The vanity of change.

The first ending in the last, and being a preparation there-

Of the first Job speaks, chap. 6. 16. comparing the friendship of men to snow and ice, which being melted with the heat of the Sun, vanish, and are changed into another form, that they shall not be known to be the thing they were.

Of the last the Apostle speaketh, Rom, 8, 20. The creature is fubject unto vanity, i.e. corruption, as himself immediately after expounds it. So Pfal. 144. 4. Man is faid to be like unto vanity, because his days pass as a shadow, and are consumed. In which sense the Preacher calleth all things under the Sun vanity; whereunto the LXX. had respect, translating the word smoak, then the which there is nothing more vanishing, seeing like unto a Tower it rifeth a loft, as if it would reach unto heaven, but being fcartered with the least blast of wind, it vanisheth and consumeeth away; such are all things in this world that do possess the mind and thoughts of carnal men, I John 2. 14. 15.

5. It fignifieth iniquity. Plal. 119. 27. Turn away my eyes that they behold not vanity, faith the Pfalmili; i. e. iniquity, and the deceitfulness of sin, whereby I may be ensured, and led away from the truth. So Pfal. 94. 11. The thoughts of man are faid to be vain; i.e. only evil continually, Gen.6. Hence Ifa. 5.18. the wicked are said to draw iniquity with the cords of vanity, i.e. with a will, mind, and affections altogether corrupt, although by the cords of vanity, may be understood the objects of finful lufts, beeause they provoke unto fin, and nourish it.

6. It fignifieth foolishness and solidity, joyned with ignorance and thindness. So Job 11. 12. Vain man would be wise (faith Zophar) though he be born like a wild Asses Colt; i.e. foolish man, void of wildom and knowledge.

This kind of Vanity is also attributed to the mind, Tit. 3. 3. where describing the miserable condition of the Gentiles without Christ, faith they are fooligh. Bodius Ephes. pag. 537,

"Manity of Manities Most vain, and exceeding full of va-'nity. Eccles. 1.2. Vanity of vanities, (faith the Preacher.) In the Hebrew phrase, two positives be aquivalent to the superlative: as, Servant of Servants, Vanity of Vanities, fignifies most fervile. emost vain.

"Mapour ] A dewy mist, as the smoak of a feething pot. 2. The frailty of mans life, being of fhort continuance, and fluddenly extinct and put out, like a vapour. Jam.4.14. It is even a vapour that appears for a little time.

Vapour properly, an exhalation hot and moift, arifing out of the water into the air.

Improperly, it is put for the judgments of God, or tokens thereof, Joel 2. 30. Ad. 2.19.

Mapour ] Job 36. vers. 33. Hebr. that which goeth up, marg. [Mariablenels] Inconstancy, subject to change, Jam. 1.17.

Clariableness \ From the Father of lights, with whom is no vaiableness, neither shadow of turning. Jam. 1.17. The word and-(rendred variableness) fignifieth astronomomically the several habitudes and positions wherein the Sun appears to us every day at the rifing in the Meridian, and when it fets. And so Tegm (rendred turning) is also a like word belonging not to the daily but yearly course of the Sun, which is farther from us, or nearer to us, after the measure, or in the proportion, that it moves towards the Northern and Southern Tropick. And from thence it is that it casts several shadows to the several people of the world. and gives Geographers occasion to divide them into donos, ETEesonios, and reionios, those that cast no shadows, those that cast shadows on one side, and those that cast shadows round about. And agreeable to this is the word am (xiasua (rendred shadow) casting of shadow here, and being joyned with regimes, turning, fignifies the variations of the (hadows, according to the various motions of the Sun, before mentioned. Dr. Ham. Annot. d.

God is here compared to the Sun, and is therefore called the Father of lights, but yet is preferred before it, because it hath sometimes clouds cast over it, and sometimes is in an ecclipse; but there is no change or shadow of change with Him. All these words are aftronomical; God is compared to the Sun, and his light is much perfecter. The Sun hath its parallaxes, in the East it looks one way. in the South and West another way; and his turnings, yearly departures from us, which we call Solflices. God neither rifes, nor fets, nor departs, but is always near to those that call upon him. Leigh's Annot.

Glertue | Toat be bath called us to glory and vertue, 2 Pet. 1. 2. The word agent, vertue, befide the ordinary known notion of it, for probity of maners among men, as the generical word that contains all moral and Christian vertues under it, (in which sense it is used, Phil.4.8) doth in this chap, fignifie two things very diffant one from another, and both of them differing from this. In this verse it fignifies the power of God which he shewed in Christ, especially the miracles which he was enabled to work; and so it's here joyned with the glory, whether the descent of the Holy Ghost on him, and on the Apostles, (which is ordinarily called Schechina, and &&a glory) or whether the glory that shone in his works and do-Etrine be meant by it. So I Pet. 2. 9. dos Tal rangarlo, the vertues (in the plural) of him that culteth us out of darkens; into his great light, i.e. his miraculous power, divine actions and words together. But then in 5. vers. of this chap. the word seems yet to have a third notion, and belonging there evidently to min not to God, as here, it cannot yet be fitly interpreted by that word vertue, which is the general comprehensive title of all virtues; for many of them are after named, as continence, patience, &c. and required to be superstructed upon this of agent virtue, which would not be so proper; but it seems rather to signific (in that notion wherein both the Gr. agent, and the Latine virtus, are often used) and ellesau I Cor. 16.12. The vials of the wrath of God, Rev. 16.1. These Vials were for the destruction of Popish Rome, as the seals were for the overthrow of the heathen Roman Empire. There is a great agreement be-tween the trumpets, that weakened the Christian Roman Empire. and these Vials, that shall ruine the Popish Church. The evil of the fust trumper, and vial, lighteth on the earth; the second on the Sea, &c. The one sheweth that the Popish Church shall be destroyed, as sure as the Heathen Empire was: the other, that it shall be destroyed by such like judgments, as the Heathen Empire was weakened. Annot.

As Antichrift rose by seven trumpets in the eighth chapter, so he shall fall by seven vials, (the vials are of large extent, but of narrow mouths; they poure out flowly, but drench deeply, and distill effectually the wrath of God; they are vessels of full and just measure, as all these judgments are dispensed in weight and measure) they shall be poured on the whore of Babylon. Papists and we agree in this, but differ in the other, who shall be the whore. We fay the Charch of Rome, and some of them also. Destruction comes upon all those that joyn with Rome; the earth, the common people; the fea, the Roman dominion; Rivers, those that carry abroad her trumperies; the fun, the highest authority that holds on Rome. These vials import not only temporal and bodily plagues, but spiritual also. Leighs Annot.

A thing is visible either with the eyes of the mind, or of the Visible with the eyes of the mind, is either confusedly visible, (as we doubt not but there are elect veliels of mercy in the world, though we know not certainly in particular who they are) or diffinetly, as we not only know that there is a God, but we know diftinctly who this true God is.

Visible by the eyes of the body, is either immediately, and of it felf visible; as colour, figure, and light, though in a diverse refpect : Or than by accident; thus we see a man, for we see him not as he is a man, though none in his right wits will deny he fees a man: This comes to pass when we see with the eyes of the body such marks of things, as from thence the mind conceives another thing: Or when the marks of fuch things which the mind only conceives, incurrinto the fenses, then are we said to see that outwardly which the mind only takes up of it felf; and because the lineaments of a mans body, agree to no other creature, and these lineaments are discerned by the eye, Man also is said to be feen with the eyes of the body; but because these marks are of two forts, for they are either fuch as cannot be separate from the thing whereof they are marks, or fuch as can be separate, either feldom, or for the most part. Hence this visibility begets not always a like certain knowledg; for if the marks be such as cannot be separate from the thing we see, then the knowledg is most certain; if they may only be feldom separated, then the knowledg is less certain, but if they may be separate for the most part, the knowledg is very uncertain.

First it is not to be denyed, but the Church is visible by the eyes of the mind; and if at any time it be not all visible, (as in Elias' time) it comes to pass from the weakness of faith, yet Elias doubted not but God had his Church in heaven; therefore it is to be granted, yea affirmed, that the Universal Church, both that which is in heaven, and that which is in earth, is visible by the eyes of the mind; but what is this way visible, is not incontinently diffindly io; as for example, we know that in every Na-tion there be men of a meek and quiet spirit, as in France and Germany, yet it may fall out, that we know not diffinelly and in par-ticular, what men in these Countreys are so, this way. It is not to be denyed, but many members of the Church are diffinctly visible to the eye of the mind; as those unto whom God gives testimony in Scripture, Abraham, Job, David, and others: Therefore the Church this way in the whole will be confusedly vifible; and in respect of certain members, distinctly visible, but with the eyes of the mind, not of the body; therefore we are faid to believe the Catholick Church, but not to fee it; for the Catholick Church is the Communion of Saints, which cannot be discerned with bodily eyes: This communion is in two things, either with the bead, I Joh. I. (if we say we have fellowship with bim, to wit, with Christ, and the Father through him, and so with the boly Ghoft; for the Apostle Paul makes mention also of that communion) or among our felves, (as it is in the fame chap.) that is, communion which being invisible to the eyes of the body, is vet visible to the eyes of the mind; for neither length of time, nor distance of place, can interrupt this communion.

As to that visibility which ariseth from the marks that incurr Into the fenfes, the case is otherwise; for it is to be granted that the Church is visible; yet not simply, but only in some respect, in fome manner, at sometime, and to some persons only; therefore it is e to be denyed.

1. But the Church in some respect is visible, with the eyes of the body; as if we understand that part which is militant in earth, and to understand it to be visible not in the whole, but in that particular Churches, or particular members of the particular Churches.

2. It is also in some manner visible with the eyes of the body (by the eyes of the body, is to be understood, every sense whereby the marks of the Church may be perceived) but it is to be denyed that any part of the Church is visible of it self, only it is so by accident, because those things that incurr into the senses, are not of that nature, as to be necessarily of the effence of the Church, or necessarily to flow from the effence of it.

Again, it is to be denyed that the Church can be distinctly seen with the eyes of the body, but to be granted that it may be feen confusedly; i. e. those things are outwardly discerned, whereby we may gather that God hath a Church in this or that place; but those things are not seen, whereby we may gather this or that man to be a true member of the Church; the reason is, because all the outward marks of the Church, are common to the godly and

Moreover it is to be denyed that it can be distinctly and certainly known, which is the true Church, and the true members thereof; but yet it is to be granted that it may be distinctly and probably known; this knowledg commonly is called the judgment of charity; for when marks are obvious to the eye, whereby we may probably gather that this or that man belongeth to the Church, that such and such are the true (or faithful) Pastors of the Church; here is distinct knowledg; for so we not only know that there are true members, and true Pastors, but also we know this or that man for fuch; but this is opinion rather than certain knowledg. Hence the more illustrious, or obscure the notes of a true Pastor, or member of a true Church be, the more certain or uncertain, is the judgment of charity.

Hitherto is to be referred that distinction of the Church, in vifible and invifible, which tendeth not to this (as Bellarmine calumniates, lib. 3. cap. 2. of The Militant Church) to make two Churches. the one visible, the other invisible, (which were very absurd, seeing the parts of the Division are oftentimes coincident; for the fame Church, which in some respect is visible, in another respect is invilible) but this distinction is only of the name, not of the thing; i. e. fometimes the Church takes the denomination from those things which are invisible, and which constitute the effence thereof, and so it is called invisible; sometimes it takes the denomination from external things, which are obvious to the fenses, and then it is called visible: And because these external thinks are common to hypocrites, hence it is that the name of the Church is ascribed unto procrites, to wit, in so far only as the Church hath her denomination from external things.

3. It is not to be denyed but sometimes the Church is visible with the eyes of the body, yea and that almost all mays, to wit, confusedly, not distinctly, or distinctly in certain members; but ver that visibility begets not an infallible and certain knowledg; vea, it is not to be denyed but that she is almost always visible this way; the reason is, because God ever hath a Church upon earth, for Christ cannot be a head, if he have not a body, yea and a part of this body upon earth, which continueth only that the Church may continue; and seeing the Church is both begotten and nourished by the word, it is necessary that the word be in the Church, which cannot be, except it be preached; and that cannot be, but that there must also be something incurring in the senses, therefore almost ever the Church is visible; we add almost, because God can by the in-stinct of his Spirit, without the Word, teach his people; but this is extraordinary; and men may also at home privately read the Scripture, in time of great perfecution, but this also is extraordinary and rare. Yet it is to be observed that this visibility is not always alike clear, but even as the word is more or less clearly and purely preached; fo is the visibility of the Church more or less Laftly, the church is vifible unto some persons, yet it is not neceffary that it be vifible to all and every one; fo Elias thought himfelf only left, yet it may be that the rest of the fathful who bowed not to Baal, held communion among themselves, and were known to one another. This (to speak so) invisibility of the Church, in regard whereof the members are not known to some, arifeth from persecution, a general depravation of the truth, and idolatry; whereby it cometh to pass that the true worship of God is not retained. fo much as in outward profession.

This then is the state of the Ouestion:

Whether or no the Church Militant upon earth, if not in the whole, yet in its parts, be visible of it self, and primarily, distinctly, and al-ways, and certainly, and to some. The Papists affirm it. We deny it. Cameron of the Visibility of the Church.

Hence Prophets which had fuch vifions as clear revelations be called Seers, as . I Sam. 9.9. For the meaning of this word Vision, see further in Numb.24.24.

Vision \ The visions whereby God of old appeared to men, in respect of the end thereof, are twofold.

1. Whereby God appeared unto men in their fleep, that he might inform them of his Will, or of things fecret, or to come,

Tob 7.14. 2. Whereby he appeared unto men awake; and fo it is one of the ways whereby God was wont to manifest himself unto men, affecting their mind with certain external objects, and sensible shapes and apparitions; in this respect God manifested himself to his Prophets both in the Old Testament and in 3.1. Hence they were called Seers.

Note, that this Prophetical Vision did not always arise from an external cause, and therefore the servants of the Lord see in the night as well as in the day, so that they only see the thing that is feen. Act. 23.11. The Lord (tood by Paul, encouraging him; the Vision was not from an external shape, and therefore Luke notes it expresly, that it fell out in the night; not that God left heaven to manifest himself to Paul upon earth; but to signifie, that Paul in the night was so affected, as if he did see God present before him.

So Act. 7. Stephen saw the glory of God, and Christ standing at his right hand, vers. 55, 56. doubtless Stephen in the mean time was in the Synedrie when he beheld this spectacle, and therefore he could not see the heaven opened, (for he saw not the heaven) nor did Christ appear to the eyes of his body.

These Visions were also afforded to other persons than Prophets; as to Hagar, Gen. 16.13. Eliphan, Job 4.13. Nebuchadnezzar, Dan. 2.28. & 4.5.

Death, when he caufeth men to die, at the time thereunto appointed, Numb. 16.29. tett men to die, at the time thereinto appointed, istanto 1025. The other of some men in special, when in a special providence he takes notice of certain men, and comes amongst them to work the redress of fin, and that is here meant. This visitation must be considered according to the kindes of it, being either in justice (for though God may spare wisked men long, and seem to wink at their faults, yet he will find a day to vifit them for their fins, (às in the case of biessing, or in the case of affishions) and in spiritual things, revealing his marvellous and everlafting mercies to his tual tungs, revealing its may enough and everlating increase one elect; he vifited his people when he fent his Son to redeem them, Luk. 1.68,78. & 7.16. Thus he vifited the world when he fent his Aposties unto all Nations preaching the Gospel. If we respect whole congregations, the day of vifitation is, when God fends them the powerful preaching of the Gospel, and doth thereby muster and press a people to himself; if we respect particular persons, it is the day when God effectually calls them, and converts them. Inable Weak, without firength of body or mind, Exod. 18

There are feven degrees to be confidered for the effecting of any thing for the which we are by nature unable, the highest deany thing for the which we are by nature unable, the nignest degree is the accomplishing of it. Our inability to this is express, Rom.7.8. Phill.2.13. This we find true by experience in evil things; as in Joseph's Brethren, who purposed to hurt him, but were not able to accomplish their purpose, for God turned their wicked purposes to good, Gen. 50. 20. So in Paul going to Damaf-cus to persecute the Church, Act. 9.9. Thus the wise man sheweth, Eccl. 0.12.

2. We are no more able to do then we are to effect, Joh. 15.4,5. Jer. 10.23. If man be not able to order his steps, he will be much less able to hold out to the end; therefore God must order and direct them, Prov. 16.9. Thus Paul professeth, Rom. 7.17. God must work our works in us. Ifa.26.12.

2. We are unable to begin to practife that which is good, though we have purposed the same in our hearts, 16a.47.3. The children are come to the birth, and there is no strength to deliver.

4. We are unable to fpeak that which is good, Prov. 16.1. And experience tells, that often, though we be prepared by fludy and meditation to pray or preach, yet we are not able to deliver the fame words fo prepared.

We are unable to will, Phil.2.14. To understand, 1 Cor. 2.13. Rom. 8.7.

7. We are unable to think well, 2 Cor. 5. 3. for our thoughts are evil continually, Gen. 6. 8. and vain, Pfal. 94. 1 Cor. 3.

unbelief is, 1. Negative, when one hath not heard the Gospel, and therefore believeth not: Thus one may want the faving habit of faith, and yet be free from the deadly habit of incredulity. It is both a fin, and a punishment of fin, and excludes from Itam A porch, gallery, frength, or foolibres of them. Mens the Kingdom of heaven; for not to have heard of Chrift is not fault, God justly punishing their fin, by denying them the preaching of the Gospel: Ignorance therefore excuses not them who are capable of faith, feeing ignorance in Adam (in whom all have finned) was voluntary, and all ought to know and believe.

2. Politive, is when one having the Word of God, and Gofpel of Christ preached, yet believes not, at least with confidence, and therefore he is guilty both of the want of faith, and habit of unbelief.

It is either universal or particular.

Universal, is when one rejects the whole Word of God, as Epicures, who account it a fable.

Particular, is when one believes not certain heads of faith, as that Christ is now bodily in the heavens, &c.

The fruits of unbelief are,

1. It makes men obstinate and hard-hearted, so that they will not eafily leave their opinions, and thinks every thing impossible and absurd that is repugnant to them, Matth. 28. 17. Some even when they fee Christ after his resurrection, yet doubt of the same, and will not believe, as Thomas,

2. It so excludes Christ, that his benefits can take no place; as Christ could not do miracles in his own Countrey, because of their unbelief, Mar. 13.58. Mar. 6.6.

3. Often it breeds confusion, and disableth men to do that which otherwise they would have been able, if they had believed, Mat-17.16. Mar. 9.18.

4. It hath often corporal punishment attending it, Luk.1.20.

5. It deprives of the promises of God, making them of none effect. Pfal.45.11. as, The Ifraelites perished in the wilderness, and did not enter into the Land of promise, because of their unbelief,

6. It brings on and aggravates the judgments of God, Job 16.8,9.

7. It cuts off the Jims from the Covenant of God, and from being the people of God, Rom. 1 1.20.

8. Because of unbelief, the wrath of God is daily declared against, and cometh upon the children of disobedience.

brimftone, Rev. 21.8.

Unbelief is faid, not to make the promise of God of none effect, Rom. 3.3,4. Not that such shall enjoy the promises of God, not-withstanding of their wickedness; but the Apostles drift is to Reep the Gentiles humble, shewing that the Gentiles may with better reason be cast off, then the Tews were, for the Tews had the Promises, and the Testament, and the Fathers, and Christ according to the flesh; yet when they believed not, he cast them off, and gathered a Church to himself out of the Gentiles, whom he graffed into the true Olive, having cut off the natural branches; and therefore he may much more cut off the Gen-tiles, and refume the Jews, if the Gentiles continue in unbe-

" Minbelief ] An utter absence and want of lively faith, Heb. 3.19. Take beed lest there be in any of you an evil heart of unbelief, in departing from the living God. Heb.3.12. He shews five degrees of Apoltalie.

The 1. is consenting unto fin, being deceived with the temptation of it.

The 2. is hardness of heart upon many practices of sin. The 2. the heart being hardned becomes unbelieving, and calls

Goipei. This evil heart is a great evil.

1. From the Nature of it. It is an inward evil, feizeth on the principal part of man, the foul; is an inveterate evil, which we brought with us into the world; and an infenfible evil.

2. In the effects. It indisposeth us to all good: is the root of other evils, Mat. 15.19. and maketh a man unfit to live or dye. Leigh's Annot.

Infidelity is the original and fountain of all disobedience. Annot.

Our other backflidings and variations from God, how wide and distant soever, yet may be thought to be but like those of the compass, more or less according to a less or greater interpolition of earthly mindedness, but this is like to that of the Magnet it self, which while it lyeth couched in the Mineral, and united to the Rock, it conformeth to the nature and verticity of the earth, but separate it from thence, fufficient to excuse unbelief, seeing often it is through mens own { and give it free sope to move in the air, and it will desperately forfake its former and more publick inflinct, and turn to a quite contrary point. So as long as a man is fastined to the rock christ, and keepeth but any hold there, he will still be looking less or more towards the Author and finisher of his faith, but broken off once from thence, and beginning to be in the open air, and under the Prince of that, he presently turneth a fide from the living God, and pointeth to a pole of his own. Thus the Kingdom of Christ may be fitly compared unto it, for of all other it is the most firm and durable, the most beautiful and most profitable; for he hath changed the bitter waters, and made them fweet; neither is there any thing fo deadly which his horn healeth not, and makes it to ferve for the falvation of his own.

The unicorns horn groweth out of its forehead between the eye-lids, and is neither light, nor hollow, nor smooth, like other horns, but hard as iron, rough as any file, refolved in many plights. harper than any dart, firaight and not crooked, every where black, except at the point. It caffeth the horn as the Hart. This horn being fet upon the Table of Kings amongft their junkets and banquets, doth bewray if therein there be any poyson, by a certain swear which cometh over it. It's a beast which cannot be tamed, fighting both with its mouth by biting, and heels by kicking. It's gentle to strange beafts, but sighteth especially with his own kind, yea with the semale unless in time of copulation. Running against the Lyon (who in the mean time runneth behind a tree) he runneth his horn into the tree, whereunto being therewith fastened, he is killed. It reverenceth Virgins and Maidens. Having sharpened its horn by rubbing it against a rock, and so prepared it self for fight, it endeavoureth especially to pierce its adversaries belly, as knowing it to be foft and weak.

ling and abiding in us, and ours in him, by being partakers of the divine nature, 2 Pet. 1.5. putting on of Christ, Gal. 3.27. Rom. 13.

The subject of this union are the faithful only, Eph. 3.17. who are noted by the love of Christ, Joh. 14.23. and their perseverance unto the end, Heb. 3.14.

The efficient cause is the holy Ghost, Rom. 8.9. 1 Cor. 12.13. I Joh.4.13.

The external instrumental cause is the word of the Gospel, Joh. 15.7. I John 2.3.4. and the Sacraments of Baptifm, Gal. 3.23. and the Lords Supper, I Cor. 10.16.

The internal is faith, Joh. 6.35, 40, 47, 59. Eph. 3.15.

The Property of it is, that it is indiffoluble, Rom. 8.34, 35, 36,37. The effett is eternal life, Joh. 6.54,57.

By virtue of this union, the faithful are partakers,

- 1 Of the divine nature, 2 Per. 1.5.
  2 Of the offices of Christ, 1 Pet. 2. vers. 5,9. Rev. 1. v.6.
- 3 Of the benefits of Christ; as, his righteousness, san-Etification, redemption, and glory, Joh. 15.1. 1 Cor. 1. 30.
- Union of two natures ] An action of God the Father, by the fecret and mighty work of the Spirit, joyning the manhood unto the Person of the Son, unseparably, at the inftant of his conception. Luk. 1. vers. 31. Lo, thou shalt conceive in thy womb, and bear a Son, and shalt call his name Fefus. Rom. 1.4. Concerning his Son Tesus, which was born of the feed of David.

"Inite | To joyn together things that are divided. Thus the heart is faid to be united to God, when it is free from divers thoughts, cares, and affections that diffract it from him and his fervice, so that we cleave to him and worship him only. Psal.86.10. Not to be united unto the assembly of the wicked, is not to communicate with, nor approve of their wicked counsels and actions,

"Anity of faith] is not only one faith common to all the faithful, who agree in one and the same faith, looking for the same salvation, by the same Mediator and means: But also that perfect communion of Saints, which was at the first begotten by faith, and in which at the last shall end that union of faith; for that perfect communion in the life to come, deferveth best the name of unity of faith (although faith shall be changed into fight) because it had its beginning from faith, and faith leadeth unto it. Boyd. Eph.4.13.

This unity ought not to be fought after by all Christians, I Cor.

i. It is a special bond of our union with Christ, and to break it, is to cut afunder the veins and finews of the myftical body, Cor. T. TO.

2. It is just and comely. We have but one Father, one Baptism, one Spirit, one Hope, and therefore should have but one Faith, Eph. 4-3,4,5.
3. Because of the good effects of it: As,

47. And it will be a fign to us that we are true Christians, and that we have found true comfort in Christ, that we have fellowship by the Spirit in the body of Christ, and that we have right bowels and mercy to others, Phil.2.1,2.

4 Because of evil effects of diffension; as, 1 It breeds confusion in the Churches, 1 Cor. 14. vers.

Division, and schism, 1 Cor.1.10.

It disquieteth the hearts of weak Christians: in which respect Paul wisheth they were cut off that trouble the Galatians, 4 It subverts often the foul, Act. 15.24. Eph.4.14. 2 Tim. 2.14,16,17.

5 It diverts men often into divers acts of hypocrifie, or paffion, or pride, or fuch vices as are contrary to fingleness of heart, Act. 2.46.

6 It breeds new centuring, the authors of new opinions censuring others, as if in rejecting their opinions, they were not spiritual enough, but carnally minded, and that they were far behind them in knowledg and other graces, as may be gathered out of I Cor. 14.36,37. degrees, Pal. 139.16.

"Impossible" That cannot be done, Mat. 17.20. Heb. 6.4,18.

Without strength, Rom. 8.3.

In respect of Man it is twofold :

1. As it flows from the meabness of nature: As it is unpossible for an infant to speak as well, or be as strong as a man; things this way unpossible, God doth not exact of us, as not beseeming his goodness and justice. This is in man without fin.

2. That which flowes from the perversness of nature: As it is unpossible to make a drunkard sober; a whore, chast; or to keep man from sinning: to exact of us the abstinence from such things, is agreeable to the juffice of God, who once gave us a nature perfect. This is a finful unpossibility, and such as man hath imposed upon himfelf.

Einpoffible | Not that which absolutely can never be, but fomething which cannot be, because it is against Gods decree and counfel, Heb. 6.5. & 11.6.

Mnpzepared] Unready, 2 Cor.6.4. Minprofitable | is referred, I. To things.

It fignifieth Barren, bringing no fruit, Luk. 13.7.

2. Without edification, Tit.3.9.

3. Insufficient to produce any effect, as the Ceremonial Law to expiate fin, Heb. 7.13.

'This place makes not against the sober searching of Gods revealed Word, which belongs to us, and to our children, Deut. 29, v last; but checks the bold presumption of such as curi-*29. Viait; but checks the bold prelumption of luch as curroully fearch that part of Gods mind, which he hath referved in his own knowledg and power; as who be cleck, and how many; and who be reprobates, and why he would rather eleck Peter, Jacob, \( \phi_c\) than Judas, or \( E\lambda u\); and advance \( J\) iph and \( David\), rather than any of their brethren; and why the world was made no fooner, nor continue longer, with fuch like unprofitable questions; touching which, that counsel of Au-Eustine would be followed; What you understand not (faith he) marvail at with me, but curioufly inquire not after them: there is a learned ignorance, and there is an odious prefumptuous knowledg. Tinfearchable riches of Christ | The treasure of wisdom and knowledg hid in Christ, Col. 2.13. or the riches of the glorious inheritance of the Saints, Eph. 1.19.

These riches are insearchable in three respects:

1. In respect of us.

2. Of the things themselves.

3. In respect of their cause and principle.

As to us, fo far is the knowledg of these things from our underflanding and thoughts, that except God had revealed them unto us by his Son, they had never come into our mind; feeing as the Apostle speaks, I Cor. 2.9. The eve hath not seen, nor the ear heard. nor the heart conceived those things that God hath prepared for them that love him.

2. If we respect the things themselves, they are incomprehenfible, infinite, and eternal, transcending all finite capacity and knowledg; for these riches are not earthly, nor visible with the eye of the body, but altogether heavenly, invisible and to be seen only with the eye of the mind, and of faith.

3. If we respect the cause and fountain from whence these riches flow unto us, and wherein from eternity they lay hid, they come from the secret counsel and decree of God, according to the good pleasure of his will, Eph. 1.4. So also the free love and mercy of God, which is the moving cause of salvation and eternal life in respect either of the greatness of causes, or height, or breadth, or length, or deepness, exceeds human capacity & understanding.

Justly therefore are these riches said to be unsearchable, albeit they be in some measure revealed to us in the Gospel by the Spirit of God, who is given to the faithful, that they may know the things of God in Felus Christ, 2 Cor.2.12. and who hath revealed them fo far to us, as is sufficient for our condition in this life. referving in the mean time the full vision and fruition of them for the life to come. Bodius, Eph.3.8.

2. He that professeth it not before others, or sembleth it, or denvebit.

3. He that endeavors not to requite as he may.

He that altogether forgetteth it: But,
Most of all he that requiteth good with evil.

The causes of it are,

I. The benefit either unworthy; or if worthy, yet unworthily

1. When it is wrung from the giver by importunity; he thinketh he hath bought it at a dear rate, as with the price of his

2. If the receiver have gotten it with vexation, long delays, and wearifom hopes.

3. If the giver give it with anger, ill will, or ambition, dif-dainfully.

5. Or if he know the benefit to be hurtful.

6. If the giver corrupt his benefit with subsequent injuries. so that often the injury overcometh the gift. Or,

7. If the giver repent the giving of his gift. Or, 8. If he boaft of it, casting it in the receivers teeth.

II. The forgetfulness of the giver or his benefit, maketh the receiver unthankful, the benefit living in their hands, but dying in the memory, 2 Chr. 24.22. Gen. 40.23. Pfal. 106.21. Hof. 8.14.

1 Sam. 12.9. Ifa. 1.3. & 5.4. Jer. 2.5.6, 8. Pfal. 79.42.

There are many forts of unthankful men: Some deny the benefit, some dissemble it, some requite it not, but most unthankful are they that forget it; shame, honefty, and occasion may remedy the former, but nothing can amend the last, when men willingly forget.

III. Ignorance of himself and duty, thinking himself worther than he is, prizing himself at a high rate, and the benefit at a small rate; or when he is ignorant of the giver, not knowing his kindness, wisdom, and power, and collecteth them not out of the benefit. The Gentiles when they knew God, gloristed him not as God, neither were they thankful, because they became vain in their thoughts, and their foolish bearts were full of darkness.

IV. Misconstruction and suspicion of the givers affection, when the benefit is beheld wherein it may feem deficient, but not wherein it may profit the receiver, or wherein he deserveth

V. Hard-heartedness, so that no benefit can mollifie and win, who are so inflexible, that no benefit can make them kind, Ifa. 5.4.

VI. An evil confcience; for as there is nothing more forcible to make a man thankful, than a good conscience, so nothing is of greater force to make him unmindful of his dury than an ill conscience, that is either blinded, asleep, dead, or

VII. Self-love, when men are too much admirers of themselves and their merit, thinking they have deferved more; such as they love none fo much as themselves, no not their benefactors as they fhould, 2 Tim. 3.2.

VIII. Avarice, which never can be fatisfied, thinking all that is received nothing if it get not more, accomining it an injury if any thing be withheld that it defireth; greediness of things defired, makes us forgetful for benefits received, and avarice is ever

IX. Envy, which is full of comparisons, disdaining that others should be preserred or equalized to the receiver in receiving gifts; he always forroweth, and none can both envy a man, and give him thanks.

Thus God complaineth of Ifrail . Hof. 1 2.6.

XI. The corruption of nature, whereby we are more fenfible of evil than good, the pain of one finger is more felt than the health of the whole body, injuries make a deeper impression in the mind than benefits, they that are of a perverse disposition, are neither overcome nor changed with benefits.

" Mocation The common calling of Christianicy. Eph.4.1." walk worthy of the vocation whereunto you are called. This is a general Vocation, whereby the elect are called to be faithful and holy, as God is holy.

'2. The particular calling and course of life, wherein every Christian liveth; as a Magistrate or Minister, Captain, Souldier, &c. i Cor.7.29. Let every man abide in the same vocation whereunto he was called. This is our special calling.

Vocation is either common and general; or special and effe*i*tmat.

By the first all indifferently good and bad, elect and reprobate, are outwardly invited by the Ministery of the Gospel, to imbrace the benefit of redemption wrought by Christ, which notwithstanding is ineffectual to the reprobate, who refuse to come to the Supper of the great King, and contemn these inestimable benefits therein offered.

The special and effetiual is proper to the elect, Mat. 22.3,8 Rom. 8.30. Act. 13.48. Joh. 6.45. It is wrought by the Spirit of God, opening our deaf ears, enlightening our blind mind, enclining our wills, and landifying our affections; that we may attentively hear, truly understand, and heartily embrace the Gospel

The parts of it are.

1. Our separation from the world, whereof we were Citizens and members, that from henceforth we should be of Gods house and family, Joh. 15.19. Eph. 2.19. And thus the Lord calls us when we think not of him, Isa. 65.1. when we were dead in fins, Eph.2.1,3,12. when we were desperate finners, 1 Cor. 6. 11. walking after the luft of the Gentiles, 1 Pet.4.3. and wandering sheep, Ifa. 53.6.

The 2. part is that reciprocal donation, whereby God the Father giveth Christ his only Son effectually to all the elect, to be their head, Redeemer and Saviour; and also whereby he giveth his elect to Christ, to become his members, Isa.o.6, Joh.2.16;

Rom. 8.32. Joh. 17.6. Joh. 10.29.
This donation is altogether spiritual, after a beavenly manner; for the means whereby it is brought to pass on Gods part, is his holy Spirit; and on our part, a lively Faith.

The 3. part is the union and communion which is between Christ and the elect, which followeth upon this donation, whereby Chrift and they are myftically coupled together in one body, he becoming their head, and they becoming his members. Of this speaketh the Scripture, Eph.4.15,16. & 5.30. Joh.15.1. Eph. 2.20,21,22. 1 Joh.4.13. Joh.6.54.

The means on Gods part are, 1. The preaching of the Word, which is made effectual by the holy Spirit.

2. To mollifie our hard hearts, and to humble us, by fetting before us our fins, and the curse due to them. And after we see. our inability of working our own falvation, we are brought out of our felves, to fee our falvation in figure thrift, applying him and his merits unto us, by a true and lively faith, which is done by the preaching of the Gospel.

The means on our part, is the faving hearing of the Word; whereby our hearts being mollified, and we humbled, are brought out of our felves, to feek falvation only in Christ, and to rely upon him for the fame.

The bour shall come, in which all that are in the graves shall hear his voice. An extraordinary supernatural voice. This is that * Trumpet mentioned 1 Theff.4.16. 1 Cor.15.52.

6. Words of counsel and advice. Exod. 18.14. Moses obeyed the voice of his Father. 7. The fame and rumour of a thing, Gen. 55.16.

Voice There is a Prophetical voice, Rev. 15.4. and it is two-

1. Such as ariseth from an external found, but having no physical cause : by this voice Samuel was awaked, 1 Sam. 3.4. No question he heard a found, but such as came not from nature.

2. There is another that cometh from no external found (as that Rev. 18.4.) but from a certain affection of the ears befide nature; for as in great ficknelles the organs of the fenses are so affected, as that we seem to hear such sounds which extrinfically are not; fo may the same come to pass in prophefying, but with this difference, that fuch a disposition in the ears of the Prophets is no disease, but cometh from God, therefore it comes to them that are in health: Now between these two kinds of Prophetical voices, the difference is, that as oft as the Prophets hear an external found, others that are present hear the same; but when it cometh as it were immediately from God, not extrinsecally, then the Prophet alone heareth it.

That by the volume of the book, the Law of God which prescribes to all men how to live godlily (or which is the rule of godliness unto all men) should be understood, I do not think abfurd. But nevertheless I take this to be the more genuine exposition, that David should profess himself in corum catalogo censeri ((ome by this volume of the book, understand a scrol or catalogue, wherein Souldiers names were registred) to be of their number, enrolled by name, who yield obedience unto God. If by בבקר האבר, there is no necessity the Scripture should be understood, the words of themselves being general, which may as well be translated, in a volume of a book, as the volume of the book, and by DEC, any Writings, Evidences, Bills, Court-rolls, & c. may be understood, as Deut. 24.1. and in divers other places, as no man makes any question; then I see nothing why this should not be thought the most literal and convenient interpretation; that David should make here a solemn protestation of his purpofed absolute obedience unto God, as one that were legally bound and obliged by a written and registred covenant or engagement. Neither is it unusual to the Scripture by mention of a book to intimate the certainty and irrevocableness of things, as also to deliver things with more folemnity. Annot.

'A vom is a testification of a willing promise, made devoutly and properly unto God, of some lawful things which do belong unto God, and being in our own power, unto the service and honour of his name. Such a vow is either Legal, appertaining to the Law; or Evangelical, pertaining to the Gospel; and this latter, is either general to all Christians, as that of our Baptifm; or elfe particular and special, as when we bind our selves to a greater endeavour to leave fome fin, or to do fome duty. Pfal. 116. 18. Eccl. 5.4.

The vows of perperual chaftity in fingle life, they are unlawful, as not being in our own power, nor required of God; much more unlawful are the promises and vows of massacring innocent Christians, and killing lawful Kings, under pretence of ad-vancing the holy Catholick faith, as they falfly call their Romish Idolarrous religion.

Kow is a deliberate promise made to God of some good thing to be performed, if it be not disannulled by a Superiour, Deut. 23.23. For the making of a vow, the defire and purpose are not sufficient, except he that voweth have a mind to oblige himself; which mental obligation is sufficient without word or

2. It must be done deliberately, for a sudden passion maketh not a Vow.

3. It must be of good things, for a man may not vow that which is evil in it felf, Act. 20.12.

Some yows are of evil things to an evil end, fome are of good things in an evil manner, some are of good things in a good manner.

The fuft ought neither to be made nor kept. The second may be made, and ought to be kept in respect of the matter, but not in respect of the end; as we may vow to give almes, but not to be feen of men. The third may be made, and ought to be kept.

We must not you that which will hinder a greater good, Joh 13.8. So we must not vow that which is not in our power; man must not vow abstinence from his Wife, because he hath not power over his own body, I Cor.7.4. other things he may without her consent, because he is ber head. We may not vow that which is absolutely necessary, as to dye; nor a trifle, as to litt

4. A vow must have the consent of the Superiour, otherwise We may not yow mow under the Gospel such things as are ne-ceffary for fome other things, but are free in themselves. He that is drunk may vow abstinence from strong drink:

I If he restrain it not to one certain day.

2 If he put no holiness in it; for the Kingdom of heaven is not in meat and drink, Rom. 14.17.

3 If he place not merit in it.

If it take not away his Christian liberty, but only restrain the use of his liberty. This way to vow, is to make a sence to the commandment of God.

A vow is a strait obligation to bind us to God. Psal.56.12. My vows are upon me, i.e. I am bound to do it.

The Hebrews use the proposition upon, for the duties which we are to perform to any. Neh.6.10. they are to be holden with their vow; it must be performed; Shillem is called a Sacrifice of Thanksgiving, because when men are in danger, they vow; and when they are freed, they perform the vow: the word cometh from another word that fignifieth to render, and then from a word fignifying peace, because when a man payeth his vows to the Lord, he getteth peace to his mind.

Choice vows, Deut. 12. 11. Heb. the choice of your vows, Bad a bow Act. 18.18. Had a vow here, is not to be referred to Paul, but to Aquila, for which his name is conjoyned espaide, oc. Shaving his head, without so much as a comma between in some printed Copies. And it is not improbable, that when it is faid verf. 19. that Paul went to Ephesus, and left them there, the aux there should not denote Ephesius to which, but Cenchrea from which he came (for why should his leaving them at Ephelus be immediately subjoyned to his coming thither?) and this on this occasion, to purifie himself, and to be shaved, to which some stay, at least seven days, was necessary. This yow was without all question the vow of the Nazarites among the Tems, Numb.6.5. which was not always for life, but fometimes or a determinate time, wherein they did xoung Treaser, and not fuffer the razer to come upon them; but when that time was paft, then one part of the vow was, to be shaved, vers. 12. and part, then one part of the vow was, to be prayers, very sense to offer up the bair, (called the bair of his separation) to put it in the fire, which is under the sacrifice of the Peace-offerings, and accordingly here is shaving kimself, for he had a vow. But because this is here by him at Cenchrea, and not at Jerusalem, (where the accomplishment of the vow was to be performed as before at the door of the Tabernacle, Numb.6.13. and as we fee it performed here, Act 21.23.) therefore it is most probable than this shaving here, was not on the accomplishing of his vow, but upon some intervening legal pollution, in which case he was bound to offer for a cleanfing, and on the seventh day to shave his head, and so begin the days again, Numb.6.11,12. This probably might be done in any City where a man happened to be poluted. But that at the completion of the vow, when the days of his feparation were fulfilled, was to be at Ferusalem. This custom was practised among the Heathers, who offered their hair (when it was cut) to Apollo, whom they termed, the nourisher of bair. Dr. Hamm. Annor b

The Jews were bound to worship in the Temple towards the Ark; without the Temple towards that, or at least towards the place whereabouts that was, at what diflance foever. Thus did Daniel in his upper-chamber, Dan.6.10. This his practice gave ground to that Canon, That no man pray but in such a room which hath windows or holes in the wall opening towards the holy City. This hole in the wall (it was commonly but one) is called in Jer. 22.14. Gods window. This window, or these boles in the wall, Petronius calleth, summas cali auriculas, the uppermost ears of beaven. And the Hebrew Sages call their wife men, Sons of the upper room. But the word Alijah doth not always fignifie in the principal and religious sense, but when it doth 10, it is always set down absolutely; otherwise, if it be meant for an ordinary upper room, it is most usually expressed with a note of distinction, as the upper room of the gate, 2 Sam. 18.33. the cooling upper room, Judg. 3.20. the upper room of the wall, 2 King.

Aynfworth. It's usual to put the abstract for the concrete. This is the fruit of fanctified memory to encrease and strengthen love. The more we mind God by contemplation, the more do we admire and feek him. If we defire to love Christ, we should first labour to get pure and upright hearts. As our bodies are upright, so our souls should be, that we may see God. It is a monstrous shame to carry a crooked foul in a Lerest body; the foul of a beast in a divine body. Such can never love Christ, nor any but the upright. See Judg. 16.14. Annot.

These words fignifie light and perfection, according to their best derivation in the Heb. tongue; and they are put in the plural number, lights and perfections, to note the plenty as the excellency of divine graces. This was meant (as some conceive) of the splendor and perfection of the precious ftones of the Breast-plate, which were of most clear and perfect beauty. But that is not all; for besides that, these words were engraven or written upon some of the precious materials of the High-priefts ornaments; neither made nor placed by the inspired Artificers, but as some learned Writers rather think, by the comparison of Exod.39.10. It was called, the Breaft-plate of judgment, verf. 15. and the judgment of Urim, Numb.27.21. because the High-priest put it on when he confulted with God, and received from him clear and determinate answers in cases of doubt; which were sometimes made by audible voice, fometimes by fecret inspiration, which when he had told it to the people, the flones had letters in the Breaftplate (as is probably conceived, for there is nothing certain of it in the Scripture) might have an extraordinory brightness appearing on them, for assurance that the Priest had fooken with the Lord, and received resolution from him; as by the shining of Moles his face when he came from God, with the Tables of the Testimony in his hand, Exod. 34.29,30.

And whereas David being to confult with the Lord, called for the Ephod, 1 Sam. 23.9. The reason was, for that the Breast-plate was fastned to the Ephod, vers. 28. and the Ephod to the Breast-plate, so that if he had one, he had both, Exod-39.21. This oraculous consultation with the Breast-plate, that is. by the use of the Breatt-plate, lasted no longer (as is generally and most probably thought) then to the Captivity of Babylon (for which see Ezr.2.63.) and after that time we find not that the Tews had any use of that kind of revelation. "Ufary is any increase or vantage, for loan of money, or other things imposed or laid by the lender upon the borrower,

Or more briefly thus: Vlary is a certain gain above the principal, exacted upon Covenant for the use of money, or other things lent. Exod. 22.25. Thou fhalt not impose usury upon him. * Thus it is in the Hebrew Text.

"Unto usery these 5 things are necessarily required.

2. Lending.

c 2. Gain.

4. A chief purpose by lending to increase our stock.

5. A covenant for that end.

As the very defire and expectation of gain, for lending only, is mental and intentionably Usury: fo the imposing, or by covenant before-hand, agreeing for increase above the principal, is of the nature of actual Uturv.

In all these three cases, there is no imposition of increase, that is, on fore-covenant, binding absolutely the borrower to pay again with the Rock.

'There are three cases wherein increase may be taken by a e lender without danger of Ufury.

'I. When the borrower having by lawful means made fome 'great gain by money freely lent, both by way of thankfulnefs, out of the voluntary motion of his own heart, returns fomething above the principal unto the lender, by whose means he had

' fuch a bleffing.

'2. When it may be duely and apparently proved, without opretence and collusion, that the borrower by holding back the money lent him, after the day agreed upon for payment, without the leave of the lender, doth hereby become a direct and effectual cause of hindrance to the lender, either by dam-' mage arifing to him, or by foregoing some commodity which he 'might well have made with his money, had it come home at the ' appointed time.

3. When the lender is content to hazzard the principal, and to bear part of the loss, if any fall to the borrower, without his own default. Here he may lawfully take part of the gain which cometh by good means; yea, he may justly make a Covenant and agreement for his share in such a gain.

Beart maketh ] That faith and Spirit of Sancification, working still in the regenerate Children of God, though they be sometime taken with a spiritual sumber and sleep in fecurity, Cant. 5. 2. I fleep, but mine beart waketh. In all the powers of the Soul, there is something good, and some-thing ill; something fieth, and something spirit. A Chri-stian hath two principles in him, that which is good, and that which is evil, whence iffucto the weakness of his actions and of his affections. A Christian may know how it is with and of his arections. A Christian may know he is wife himfelf, though he be mixed of flesh and spirit. We should acknowledg that which is good, as that which is evil in our hearts. The Church in her sleepy estate hath,

1. Her judgment found in that which is tru b, of perfons, things, and courles.

2. A working in the will, chufing the better part which the will cleave to.

3. Affectiors answerable to her judgment.

4. Her conscience awake in some comfortable measure. Cor. 9, 13. Acts 10:7. To depend upon, Pialm 104, 28, & though perhaps it may be deaded in a particular act. Kkkk

5. A courle of obedience. The eftate of a Christian is a waking flate in the inward man, the by courses he falleth into are but fits out of which he recovereth himself. We must distinguish between a state and a fit , a man may have an aguish fit in a found body. God's Children never to-tally fall from grace; though they seep, yet their heart is awake. A Christian is what his heart and inward man is, and therefore the Church values her felf here by the disposition and temper of her heart. A Christian by the power of God's Spirit in him, is fensible of contraricties which are in him, complains, and is ashamed for the same. A waking state is a bleffed ftate, Sibs.

The third continued until the rifing of the Sun, called the morning watch, Exod. 14. 24. 1 Sam. 11. 11.

The first, Lam. 2. 19. The jecond, Luk. 13. 38.

The third, Ibid.

The fourth, Mat. 14. 25. Mar. 6. 48.

It's put also for to be grievously affliced, Psal. 102.7. & 7. 4. The Apostle reckoneth it among his afflictions, that he was in watchings often, 2 Cor 6.6. & 11.27. To have an eye unto, and cipy, as a Witness between two, Gen.

It is spoken of God, and then it signifieth his carefulness to execute that speedily which he hath propounded to him-felf, either in Judgment, or Mercy, Jer. 31. 26. & 44. 27. Dan. 9. 14.

2. Pastors which watch over the City of God, whereof fome be negligent and blind, as false Prophets, Popish Pre-Lates, ignorant guides, and idle Shepherds under the Gofpel. And some be diligent and faithful, as true Prophets, Apostles, and other godly Ministers, Cant. 3. 3. Also Cant. 5. 7. The Watchmen that went about the City.

By the Watchmen here are meant especially Governours of State and Church. It is a borrowed speech taken from the custome of Cities that are Beleaguered; for policies-fake they have Watchmen to descry the danger they are lyable unto; fo Magistrates be Watchmen of the State, Ministers are the Watchmen for fouls, watching over them for good, God uleth fuch subordinate Watchmen not for defect of power, but for demonstration of goodness; he manifests his goodness in that he will use variety of subordinate Watchers. And likewife to shew his power in using many instruments, and his care for us, when he keeps us together with his own subordinate means. And in this that God hath fet over us Watchers, Ministers especially, it implies that our fouls are in danger, and shews the wondrous worth of it.

We, we will run after thee. Cant. 1. 4. I and mine. All my members, which are one with me, and indeed my felf. The Church is large and tender in her charity, to every part. Her love is like his name, poured out, not restrained; and where it once begins to flow, it runs apace. Annot.

'ning waters. Gen. 26. 19. And found there a Well of Living * waters. "unto eternal life, by the force of the boly Spirit. Joh.4.10. And he would have given thee the water of Life. The regenerating grace of the Spirit, working to the justifying and fanctifying of Elect finners, is fitly likened to Waters, to Rivers, to Fountains, Joel 3. 18. Ifa. 43. 3. Zech. 13. 1. jn 4. respects :

5 1. Because (like water) it purgeth uncleannels, by certifying the Conscience, of forgiveness of sin by the blood

11. It refresheth the Conscience, by shedding the I ve of God abroad in the heart, and cooleth the boyling heat of carnal Luft.

3. It maketh fruitful to good works.
4. It quencheth the thirit of worldly pleasures of Sineners: also satisfieth the thirst of Heavenly water, and spiri-

Now it is compared to lively or living water, partly for the effect, because it brings to eternal life such as do drink f in this water, and be partakers of the renewing grace; and * partly for that it is like to water (not standing in Ponds, *Cifterns, &c. which is dead, and moveth not, but unto water) fpringing and flowing out continually (this being the life of water, to move and iffue out of the Fountain) by this faving grace of the Spirit, always worketh ftill moving them to further progress in piety, and leading them from grace to grace, and from ftrength to ftrength, as water cometh out of a Spring, fresh and fresh.

'atters of Shiloah Properly waters which came from a Fountain at the root of Mount Sion, and ran through fe-"rufalem, with a ftill and quiet course, without great noise: therefore in Neb. 2. called the Dragon or Serpents Well, be-

6 But figuratively it noteth the promise of help to the men of Ferusalem, against the King of Syria and Israel, from Gods power alone (without the hiring of forces from forain power) to repel their Enemies. Ifa. 8.6. The waters of Shi-· loah, which run fo foftly. See Plal. 46. 4.

Estabe them] Exod. 29. 24. That is, shake them too and fro, as some conceive, from East to West, from North to South, fignifying Gods univerfal presence all the world over. The ngniying Goos universal presence all the world over. The world fignifies sometime fifting mith a sieve; Ifa. 30. 28, which may note either the flaking of affittion, Ifa. 10. 32, or purging by affittion, as by fifting and flaking, the Chaffis fevered from the grain, Mar, 3. 12. Or it may note the agistation and motion of the mind, which should not be idle in the performance of Gods service with this performance of the service with the serv the performance of Gods fervice, with this maving or wavering the Sacrifices, was also lifted up, verf. 17. & thence it was called the Heave-offering as well as the Wave-offering, verf.28: Lev. 7. 35. To raise the hearts of the Priests and People upwards towards God. But some take this maving to be a casting of the portions out of one hand into the other, and the beaving to be a throwing of them upward, Annot. For wave the Gr. translate feparate, which word Paul useth fpeaking of his defignation to the Ministry, Rom. 1. 1.

Made breaft ] Levi 10. 14. It figured the giving of our breaft, that is, of the heart and affection unto Christ, in newnels of life, in the fellowship of his afflictions, See I Chra 28. 9. Prov. 23. 26. Rom. 6. 3, 4, 5, 6. Phil. 3. 10. Aynfw.

on Lev. 7. 30. every Family (as some conceive) was to bring two leavened Loaves, as the first fruit of their increase, to the Priests, because it is said, they should bring them out of their Habitations; but that notwithstanding others take it, that it would be too great a proportion of Bread for them, that is many could not be waved by the Priest with the Peace-offering, as is appointed, verf. 20. Therefore it is more probable that they were a common oblation, made at the publick charge, and offered also in the name of all the people in covenant with God. And this was to be of the Wheat of the Land of Canaan, not of a forrain Countrey, where they had no Habitation; and yet it might be that this common charge might by course be so distributed among the people, that it might rather be accounted a common or general thing, than of particular coft, and concernment of particular persons. Annet

Mabe-offeting ] Lev. 23. 17. Hebr. Bread of waving, that is, to be waved before the Lord. Annw. Mabet] He that wavereth is like a wave of the Sea, Jam. 1.6. By this similitude St. Fames illustrateth the property of a wavering minded man. Whale ] This is one of the greatest wonders of the Lord in the deep, whereon himself so much infisteth, ( Job 41, 12.) that be will not conceal bis parts , nor his power, nor bis comely Proportion. There are several kinds hereof, but the Bay Whale is the most simple and uteful, the greater, and fatter are more easily taken. His head is the third part of him, his mouth (Ohellish wide!) fixteen foot in the opening, and yet out of that belly of hell, yielding much to the ornaments of our Womens backs; the Whale-bones or fins being no other than the rough and inner part of the mouth, olofing in the flutting thereof, as the fingers of both hands within each other. He hath no teeth, his meat he fucketh. His tongue is monftrous great, of deformed form like a wool-fack, about eight tun weight, the one part thereof used to this purpose, yielding from fix to eleven Hogs-heads of Oil, his food is grass and weeds of the Sea, and a kind of water-worm, like a Beetle, whereof the fins in his mouth hang full, and fometimes little Birds, all which firlking the water with his Tail, and making an Eddy, he gapes and receiveth into his mouth. This great Head hath little Eyes, like apples, very little bigger than the eyes of an Ox, and a little throat, not greater than for a man's fift to enter, and that with huge bones on each fide, not admitting it to ftretch wider. [ But were this fo, which our Author affirmeth from an eye-witnels, that which swallowed Jonah was not of this kind, not those of whom it's faid, that when there is a tempest they fwallowed up their young, whom when the tempest is over, they cast out again. ] His body is round, fourteen or fixteen foot thick ; his pifle hangs from him as a beafts. In generation they draw to shallow waters near the shore, and in the act join belly to belly, as is also said of the Elephant. In their ingendring featon, much of that matter floateth on the water, [ which some hold to be the Sperma cett ] They have but one young one at a time, which is brought forth as in beafts, about the bigness (but longer) of a Hogs-head. The female hath two breafts and teats, with white milk in them, not bigger than a man's head, wherewith she suckleth the young, whereof she (as the Mors also ) is very tender. Pur. Pilgri lib. 8. cap. 3. p. 92 .

The Ancients mention some of incredible length and bignefs. If heaps of fand be any hinderance to its young ones, it taketh into its mouth flore of water, which being poured out again on the fand, their young ones are cleered therefrom. Against this Giant of Nature, the sword fish ( whose fword groweth upright out of his neck like a bone, four or five inches broad, and about a yard long, with prickles on both fides ) and the Thresher, ( who hath a broad and thick tail) hold a natural conspiracy; the one on the top of the water, threshing him upon the head with violent blows, that found as a piece of Ordnance, and may be heard two leagues. forcing him to kide his head in his Mothers lap, which yet betrayeth him there to the Sward fift, who is ready to receive him on his natural blade, and itaineth the Sea with his blood. The Whale hath no remedy, but with bellowing groans, heard further than the Thresher's blows, to seek to the shore, and there embayed to make his part good without danger of an underminer; otherwife becoming a prey to thefe his adversaries. Purchas Pilg. lib. 9. cap. 13. pag. 1085.

According to the common opinion of Authors, every kind of Whale hath a small little fish, long and white, which always goeth along therewith, at no time depart the therefrom, but as a Pilot or guide going before them, directeth them to avoid such and such shallow places, &c. whereby they might be endangered; and therefore Fishers, that the Whale may be their prey, endeavour the destruction of this little fish.

If he had a firong body, and committed a fingle offence, then he got not the full number. If he had a weak body, and committed a double offence, he got the full number, but at two several times.

They confidered how many stripes the offender might bear, and accordingly he received a proportionable number of ffrines.

When they whipped Paul, 2 Cor. 11. 24. and gave him 39 ftripes at three feveral times.

I It feems he hath been of a ftrong body.

2 It was for three several offences ( as they thought ) for if the offender had thrice committed the felt-same fault, then he was no more beaten, but shut up within a narrow wall, wherein he might neither fit nor stand, and there was fed with the bread of affliction, and a small quantity of water, 1 Kings 22. 27.

The offender was bowed down when he was beaten, Deut. 25. 2. He who whip'd him stood upon a stone, and let out or in the whip, by drawing up or down the knot upon it; when the knot was drawn up, the thongs spread further, and gave the smarter blow. When he stood behind him, then he whip'd him upon the breast or belly, and gave him three blows at a time. When he stood before him, he lashed him upon the shoulders, and gave him three blows upon each thoulder.

There stood three Judges by :

The first repeated these words of the Law. Deut. 28. 48. If thou obey not all these things, then the Lord shill multiply thy plagues. The second numbred the stripes; and the third faid. Lay on.

Whipping among them was no difgrace, as among Christians, but only a civil mulch, or fine : Therefore the Lord faid, that thy Brother should not feem vile in thine eyes, Deut, 25. 3. wherefore they did it not in fcorn, but in compassion looked upon him, and received him again as a Brother, and were ready to cover his offence, and would not upbraid him for it afterwards.

Many take whiteness for an Emblem of cleanness or of glory, but blood defileth in stead of cleanling; and taketh away whiteness in stead of giving it. Some Interpreters say well, that this passage alludeth to the habit of the Priests of the Law, who entred not into the Temple, but in white robes; but it was not permitted the Priefts to approach to the Altar, or to exercise any office in the Tabernacle, till they were first sprinkled with blood, both they and their garments, Exod. 29, 21. Lev. 8. 30. 3 Babylon.

2. The special subjett is either the whole body. Hence is the finning against the body, 1 Cor. 6. 18. or the parts, as the eye, 2 Pet. 1. 14.

The cause is, the corruption of our nature. Hence whoredom is reckoned among the fins of the stefn, Gal. 5. 19, and is said to come out of the heart, Matth. 15. 19. Mark 7. 21. The effects of whoredom:

1 It defileth the man, Lev. 21. 9. Matth. 15. 23. Mark

2. It hurts the good name both of the whoremongers, Prov. 5. 9. and their Families, Lev.21.9. and of their Children, Josh. 8. 41. 3. Confumeth the eftate, Job 31. 12. Prov. 5.10. & 6.

36. & 2:27. Luke 15. 13, 30.
4. Consumeth the strength of the body, Prov. 5. 11. & 31. 3. Hence it is that Whoremongers are faid in a special manner to fin against the body, 1 Cor. 6. 18. Where the Apostle alludeth to that he had faid, the faithful are the members of Chrift, and he that is joyned to a Whore, is a member of the Whore. For although other fins cut off from Christ, yet they make not the body the member of another, but he that is joi ed to a Whore becometh one with her , finneth against bit own body, because he maketh it the member of a Whore: And this fin doth more weaken the body, both because of its own nature it doth more consume it, and also breedeth more diseases than other fins.

5. It taketh away the mind, Hof. 3. it.

For 1. Whoremongers run themselves rashly into many dangers, Judges 16. 1.

2. Ignorantly they run into ruin, Prov. 7.22,23. & 9.18. 3. Calting off all flame, they draw others into the fame fin, Prov. 7, 13. Gen. 39, 12. 2 Sam. 13. 11.

4. They will not be reclaimed, Gen. 39. 10.

5. They think it enough to hide their fins from mer, not confidering God's all-feeing Eye, Job 24.15. or because they deceive themselves, and suffer others to do it, thinking that whoredom will not bring upon them the wrath of God, 1 Cor. 6. 11. Eph. 5. 6. Hence the Whoremonger is called a fool, Prov. 7. 7.

eth dumb, for VVidows often are not able, and dare not speak and plead for themselves.

The duty of VVidows is either,

I. General, that they lead a good life, I Tim. 5.7. Examples of such are, She of Sarepta, I Kings 17. 9, 10.

Naomi, Ruth 1. Woman of Tekoah, 2 Sam. 14.5. Dorcas, Acts 9.36. The poor Widow, Matth. 12. 43. Phebe, Rom. 16.1. Anna the prophetels, Luke 2.36. Lydia, Acts 16, 14.

Or, II. Special.

1. Towards their dead Husbands, to lament them, and it is a just judgment of God upon the wicked, that they are not lamented by their VVidows, Job 27. 15. Psalm 78. 64. 2. To bring up their Children, I Tim, 5. 10. Ruth 4.
16. In the word of God, 2 Tim, 1. 5, and 3, 15. and to lament them, Luke 7. 13.

2. To receive the Church, Acts 12. 12. Luke 10. 38. 39.

40, 41, 42.

4. To be hospitable, I Tim. c. 10. I Kings 17. 9. 5. To be charitable to the poor, Acts 9. 36,39. Mark 12. Widows to look to the fick and the poor, Act. 6. How they ought to be qualified, fee 1 Tim. 5. 9, 10.

Duties which are to be performed unto them, are ei-

I. General, respecting all men ; as,

1. Not to oppress them , Exod. 22. 22. Deut. 27. 19. Pfalm 94. 6. Ifa. 10. 2. Jerem. 7. 6. & 22. 3. Ezek. 22. 7. Matth. 22. 14. Mark 12. 40. By taking a pawn from them, Job. 24. 10. especially their cloaths, Deut. 24. 17.

2. They are to do good unto them, Deut. 14. 29. & 16. 11. & 24. 19, 20, 21, 22. Luke 7. 12, 13, 14. especially the widows of godly Men, 2 Kings 4. 1. or who themselves being destitute, are godly, 1 Tim. 5. 3, 5, 16.

II. More especially,

1. The duty of Children is to be careful of them, Ruth 4. 15. 1 Tim. 5. 4, 16. John 19. 26. and to honour them,

2. Of friends also, to be careful of them; wherefore it is a great judgment of God, when he not only destroyeth the wicked, but also causeth that their friends shall fortake and neglect them, Jer. 49.11. comp. with verfe 10.

3. Of Ministers, who ought to be careful that god-ly Widows be maintained by the Church, 1 Tim. 1. 3,4, 16. 4. Of Judges, who ought to protect them Hence Judges are condemned that will not hear the cause of the Widow Isa. 1, 23. Luke 1 . 3, 4, 5, and they are commended who patiently bear the cause of the Widow, 2 Sam. 14. 4. 2 Kings 8. 3.

Or more briefly thus :

Will is that faculty of our Soul, whereby we will and anill things.

'It is of the nature of Will, to will freely whatfoever it wills ; for the Will cannot be compeled. It is unable ( till cit be changed by grace ) to move it self toward God, and to will any good thing pleafing unto him. Simply to will cany thing, is of Nature; but to will well, is of Grace. Our will being free in respect of finful acts, but bound in respect of good works, till it be fet free by Chrift, John 8. 36. If the Son therefore shall make you free, you shall be free indeed. "Clindow 7 The types and figures of the Law, under which the Prophets and Patriarchs faw Christ, Cant. 2. 9. Looking forth of the windows. Or, looking in at the windows. This word used only here and in Plat. 32, 34. & Ha. 14. 16. fignifieth a looking narrowly, and an intentive observation of that which is done or suffered by others: so it noteth Christs providence and care of Church, and all her ways to see how she would accept of him, and his word. Ayria.

This is not civil nor comely among men to fpy, and peep in at the windows, but Christ may, and will. He is our Shepherd, our Lord, and a narrow attentive observation of our inward and most secret actions is the Prerogative of his Scepter and Providence. Thus wildome is faid to do, Prov. 7. 6. and he is that Wildom. Therefore we ought to watch over our felves, and not upon prefumption of his absence take any liberty to do wickedly. Annot.

What can a man behold through a wall but by the windows? and what knowledge can be taken of Christ in Sacrifice and Sacrament, but by the unfolding of Scripture? Clapham.

"coline-nacia" Hell, whereunto the wicked Enemies of the Church shall be cast to be tormented, as clusters of Sgrapes are preffed in the wine-prefs. Rev. 14. 19. Were cast into that great Wine-press of Gods wrath. How some uns derftand this, not of the last and great judgment in the end of the world, but refer it to that tharp judgment executed npon Popery, in the daies of King Henry the Eight, King of England, by the downfall of their religious houles in this our, and other Countries of Europe, ye may read in the words Vine and Vineyard.

The words are taken from the Fews custom, who had a Wine-press ready, when they had gathered the grapes to cast them into. The Wine-press is the place, where the Antichristians are troden down; without the City, as the Fews trod their Wine-preffes without Ferusalem. This noteth the true Church to be without danger, when this flaughter shall be made of the Enemies, whereof the greatness, in the exceeding multitude of Enemies, is expressed in the following words. Bernard.

As great Wine-presses have more grapes trodden in them than lefter ones, to the judgments here intended must needs be greater than the former, unleis it be the fame fet out by two similitudes, as the Famine of Egypt was, Gen. 41. 1. Ge. and then the latter is added here, to fet out the judgment the more fully, or to shew the certainty of it, as Gen. 41.32. Annos.

God gave her strength to flee into a safe place speedily. Exod. 19.4. Deut. 22. 11, 12. and so wonderfully delivered and preferved her from Antichrifts rage, Annot.

The great Eagle is the Roman Empire. His two wings, two Cafars of the Empire parted into two parts, the West, and East, by whose protection and conduct the Church departed into an Eremitical estate : for it is known that the Roman Empire, fo foon as it had received the Christian faith, became parted into two parts, and fled as it were with two wings of Cafars. The Eagle being the Enfign of the Roman Empire, maketh this interpretation obvious to every understanding. Mede.

It may be applied to outward troubles and grievances in this life by the malice of the world, (see Rain) Ayrism.

This winter may be understood either of the Law, which was cold, darkness, and aufterity compared to Christ and his light; wherein that Spirit of grace that was in a manner bound up and darkened before was manifested with grezter freedom and glory; or else of the troubles of the world which estrange us, and set us at a distance from Christ, by reason of our weakness, as it was with the Aposties at the passion, when they fled from their Lord, but they shall not endure alwaies, no more than Winter does, ner shall the expediation of the poor perish for ever, Plal. 9. 18. & 125. 30 Annot.

What Winter is to the Earth, and to the fruits of her womb, even that is the Law of Moles to earthly man, and the ftuits of his Nature. Doth winter nip the Earths truits in the head, doth it pluck his plumes, and doth it caule the fap to recule back to the root, where it rests unseen till the Springtime ? The Law of Moles doth all this, for his flormy threats and curfing showres applyed truly and powerfully to the conscience, it nips my gallant in the head, it cools his courage, it pulleth his high looks down to the earth, feeing himfelf to be but a lump of earth. "To be wife for the felf ] To apply thy wildom for thy own good and benefit, Prov. 9, 12. Thou (balt be wife for thy felf ; that is to fay, make use of thy Wildom : not for other only, but the right direction of thine own ways.

Catife to falbation A true Believer, who by the eye of faith doth behold and know Jefus to be the Christ, and his own Saviour, 2 Tim. 5.15. Which is able to make thee wife to safvation through faith.

obe wife, according to fobrietp] To think of our felves and our gitts modelly, not using our gitts proudly, with dir-dain of others, but humbly, confidering whence we have our gitts, to what end, on condition of giving an account of them, and with great imperfections. Rom. 12.3 Be wife (or understand) unto sobriety. The word Wisdom, or underflanding, doth import here both the knowledge of Univerfals in things Humane and Divine, what is true and good 'in them; and that discretion which is about particulars, as to choose what is best and fittest for time, place, persons, and other circumstances. Paul would have all tempered with humility and lowly conceit of our felves, without any overweaning opinion, as though we faw all things, and knew more than indeed we do.

Note further, that thele (words Wildom and Wile) are in Scripture often used properly for that prudence and discretion, which is a grace of the Spirit, and a part of God's Image, helping men to discern things, and to guide their actions circumspectly; but sometime they are taken improperly for craft and wilines; also for vain opinion of wifdom, for carnal and worldly understanding, as Rom. 8. 67. & 12.16, 1Cor. 3.19, 1Cor. 17.26,27. Likewise the word · foelifbne (s is taken properly, and in ill part, for a want and deprivation of true godly wildom; and iometime that is called foolishness which men account so, 1 Cor. 1, 25, 27. This is the manner of holy Scripture, not feldom to speak of things as they feem to be, and are effeemed of men, and not as they are indeed. Thus the fruitless knowledge of hypocrifie is by St. James called Faith, chap. 2. 14. And Christ calleth such righteous, as were so reputed only, as in Luk.

Welfe comeing, and flyeth. Wolfe] They feldom howle till they are oppressed with famine. They smell and see excellently. They devour hair, bones, sleib, and render them whole in their excrements, who therefore never grow fat. They cannot abide any man to look upon them while they eat, but being filled, they are meek, till hunger again seise on them, which is especially in the Evening. They eat a kind of Earth called Argilla (Potters clay) whereby their teeth are sharpened, and their bellies weigh heavy, that so they may hang fast at the throats of those Beasts which they kill, after which they vomit it. The remainder of their meat they always cover in the Earth, and if there be many of them hunting together, they equally divide the prey; yea, if plentiful, by howling call others, then absent, to partake with them. They rather prey upon Beasts than men. When they would feed on Goats, they take the green leaves and small boughs of Osiers in their mouths, wherewith they know the Goats are delighted, that fo they may draw them therewith, as with a bait, to devour them. They eat Swine out of the water, because of the heat of their flesh. In the absence of the Shepherd and his Dog, they enter into the Fold, and kill all therein, before they begin to eat of any. They feife on the lips of a Calf, pulling it forward, the Calf in the mean time drawing backwards, whereby the Calf being wearied, and pulling hard, the Wolf lets it go, and it falling on the back, he fatisfies his hunger on its Belly. When they fee an Oxe in the mire, by barking they weary him till he be dead, then one takes him by the tayl and pulleth him, a second Wolf pulleth the tayl of the first, a third of the fecond, Ge. thereby tormenting and ftretching their own bodies, biting their tails, mutually pinching and straining every joynt, till they have compassed their defire. In time of great famine, when they can get no meat, they destroy one another; for when they meet together, bemorning themselves each to other, as it were by consent, they run round in a Circle, and the first which (through giddiness, nor able to stand) falleth to the ground, is straightway devoured by the refidue. They fear stones throwing, fire, the found of Bells, Sea-crabs, the finging of Men, or Women. They are at enmity with all Beafts. They are subject to a difease which consumeth all the flesh of their body, if they feed not every day on fresh meat. They take rewhen they fer upon horned Beafts, they invade them be-hind, or on the back. When upon Sheep, they make choice of a dark cloudy day, that they may escape the more freely. And to the intent that their treading may not be heard, they lick the bottom of the foles of their feet, whereby they make no noise among the dry leaves; and if going along they chance to break a stick, and so against their mind make a noise, then presently they bite their foot, as if it were guilty of the offence. They are very fearful, not daring to do any thing, but for their belly, and not then neither, but upon a.

ap as a Dog, she rejecteth it ; if it suck the water as the Swine, or bite as a Bear, she nourisheth it. It's reported that there are Wolves in Italy, who when they look upon a man, cause him to be filent, and that he cannot speak. If a Mare tread in a Wolves foot-step, she casteth her Colt. Being to swim over deep Rivers, increased by rain, they hold one anothers tail in their mouths, and fo orderly passover. It's faid that such Colts as have been bitten by them, have proved the more couragious, and fuller of mettel. If they can meet with no prey, they prey on the very earth. What they tread on, dyeth. To deceive the Shepherd and his Dog, they faign at some time the voices of Men, and barking of Dogs. When they intend to fet on a Sheepfold, they go against the wind, to prevent the Dogs smelling them. They hunt not neer the places where their Young ones are. There's a wonderful antipathy between them and Sheep, as whilft alive, so even when dead. That Sheep-skin proveth Lowsie. which hath been bitten by the Wolf, and those consume which are laid with Wolves - skins, and Drum-heads of Wolves-skins break those which are made of Sheeps-skins nor in musical instruments will the strings made of their guts make an harmonious found. To conclude, it's Recorded that by a Wolf, Gelon of Syracufa, then a Schollar at School, was thus preferved. The Wolf entring the School, feifed on Gelon's writing Table, and hasted to be gone, Gelon for the recovery thereof, pursueth after it, and in the mean time the School-house fell down, whereby both School-master and Scholars perished, Gelon alone being preserved.

'Molf and Lamb bo Dweil together ] The admirable peace and agreement which Christ by his mighty grace should work in the daies of the Gospel; when men as fierce, cruel, and favage as Wolves, finall be meckned, and quietly live with men of lowest and least account. Ifa. 11.6. The Wolf shall dwell with the Lamb, and the Leopard with the Kid, &c. The Prophet by way of allusion unto the concord and agreement of favage and harmless Beafts, accompanying peaceably together with the harmless, doth describe the fweet effects and benefits of the preaching of the Gospel of Christ, whereby universal and most gracious tranquility should be marvellously wrought among all the true worshippers of Christ, being by natural corruption like hurtful Beafts. Therefore fuch as be contentious, and love debate, being given to cruelty, and wrong doing, have not the Spirit of the Gospel.

Note also, that the Prophet Isaiab speaketh of Beafts according to their original estate by their creation, when all things being made very good, and fin not being entred into the world, there was a perfect harmony and concent between Man and Beaft; also between the Beafts one with another; and so shall be again, at the restoring of all things

Mr. Aynfw. renders them thus, of the womb of the early morning, to thee the dem of thy youth. This place (farth he) is difficult, and may diverfly be understood, either of Christ himself, or of his people; and again, if of christ, either in respect of his Godbead , or of his Manbood; of his Godbead, that the Father faith unto him, of the womb (that is, of mine own essence) before the early morning (that is, before the world was) to thee was (or theu hadst) the demost thy youth (or birth; ) so noting the eternal generation of Christ before all worlds, as is thewed, Prov. 8. 22, 23, 24, 25. Bernard.

It is no small temptation to simple and weak Christians when wonders and miracles are alledged; The confirmation of herefies. Therefore doth our Saviour arm us against it before hand, Matth. 24. 24. and the Apostle Paul, 2 Thess. 2.

9. All Satan's wonders are, 1. Either by allusion, and seem to be that which they are not, as the appearing of Samuel to Saul; for that he who appeared, was not Samuel, but Satan, bis own words do tell us, To morrow thou shalt be with me. Now to put elect Samuel, and reprobate Saul in one place, cannot stand. Or,

2. If it be such a wonder as is done indeed, then sure it is wrought by natural causes, and is to be accounted a lying wonder, no less than the former, because the ends of all figns and wonders proceeding from Satan, or his infruments, is to confirm a lye. And therefore that we may not be deceived, let us observe this plain rule; Doftrine sould not be tried by Miracles, but Miracles sould be tried by Doftrine, Deut. 13. 1, 2, 3. Gal. 1. 8. Comper.

The World is divided two ways, either into the Age before the Meffias, and the age of the Meffias, or into the age of this World, and of the World to come, after the day of doom. Accordingly the word Dit, is used fomtimes for the first part of the first division, for the first state , beginning at the beginning of the World, and reaching to the end of the Femily Common-wealth. Thus is the phrase שלח , a feculo, ordinarily used : and accordingly an aimy bere to note that general age, from the beginning of the World, of which the fewish state was an eminent part, under which prophecies had been allowed by God to this people: And it being refolved by the Fews, that there was to be another age befide that firft ) which they call the age of the Meffias, or call creatures above and below, John I. 10. The World was the age to come, they are wont to use the phrase in seculum @ feculum, to age and to age, meaning thereby both thefe ages, the then prefent, and that other then to come, the age of the Meffias. Sometimes again the word didy fignifies the firft member of the second division, this World from the Creation, till the day of doom, as Luk: 20.34. And so likewise for the feeond part of the feeond division, the state after this life, that of another World; ordinarily called the World to come, and that world or age, it is often called aldy fimply also, as Joh. 6. 51, 58. Dr. Ham. Annot. o. Children of this world ] Such as live in the World, whea ther they be good or bad. Luke 20. 34. The children of this world marry Wives, and are married.

2. Figuratively, false doctrine, errors, lies, and heresics. which (like bitter wormwood) corrupt, and poison the fweet and wholfom waters of the Word , Rev. 8. 11. The name of the Star is called Wormwood.

Called a fire, on is is an rema dure, because no man pleafantly eats of it, for the exceeding great bitterness thereof. It feems here an allufion is made to the waters of Marab, whereof Ifrael could not drink, because they were bitter; but this made the waters not bitter only, but deadly also. Wormwood is taken,

1. For fin, because it is bitter and ungracious to the Lord; and grieveth his Spirit, Amos 5.7. & 6.12. Naturalits write of ir, that it is fo bitter, that if the juice thereof be put into Honey, the bitterness of it overcomes the sweetness of the Honey, and compels the Honey, which was sweet before, to become bitter. Is it not thus with fin ? It maketh that Lord bitter to his own Creatures, notwithstanding that of his own nature he be fweeter than the Honey.

2. For judgment proportionable to the fin, which is as bitter to man; as the fin of man is bitter to God, Jer. 23. 15. Go meeffip the Dragon ] To attribute supreme dignity and power unto Antichrist the Pope of Rome, in this regard that he succeeded the Heathenish Emperours in that City, which was the Metropolis of the Empire. Revel. 13. 4. And they worshipped the Dragon, which gave power to the Reaft. In obeying the Emperours or Popes Idolatrous decrees, they not only worshipped them, but also the Devil in them, Chap. 9. 20. 1 Cor. 100 20. for the Dragon gave them that power, and his work they did. Not that these Emperours or Popes would confess they had their power from the Dragon, or that this people thought they had it from him, or worthipped the Dragon visibly: but when they thought they worshipped God, who in their conceit had set up his dominion, they did closely worship Satan, who had fer it up indeed. Or, as the Roman Eagle was carried before the Army, whereby the Beaft was followed and worshipped, even with peril of life: So some write that they carried Dragons before every troop, and they that carried them, were called Dragons. Thus they followed the Dragon. Annot.

This phrase by some is understoood of our own wrath, that we should keep it in, and not suffer it to break forth, but digest and allay it in our selves, by meekness of foirit.

Other Interpreters refer it to the wrath of our adversary, which will be much appealed (if not wholly quenched) by our filence and patience, giving way to his anger without refistance; even as the force of a gun or of lightning, is greatly broken, if they light and fall upon foft and yielding things, as the ground, or wool, or fuch like; whereas hitting upon hard things, as Oaks, Walls, &c. which do refift, they violently overthrow all.

And the Dragon was wrath with the Woman, &co Rev. 12 17. The war with the feed arifeth not from any hurt they had done the Dragon; but out of an old quarrel against their Mother. Gen. 3. 15. Annot.

When the Dragon had perceived (he who even now was deprived of the Roman Empire) that he nothing prevailed by the flood of Ariani(m, to overwhelm the woman flying into the Wilderness, but that nevertheless she was come fafe thither : and furthermore, that the Roman Empire would no more fuffer, that he, in his proper name should manage another there, as in times page, he fetteth upon her by another way; to wit, by substituting covertly for himself, a deputed Kingdom, and to that end he stood upon the Sand or Sea, that he might raife to himself a new deputed form of the Roman. Kingdom, there to have its beginning.

The motive and cause of the battel, The Dragen was wroth with the Woman. No cause hath he to persecute the Church, only his own malice and anger flirred him up unto it, and the more he findeth himself disappointed, the more his anger encreaseth. There are four things which increase continually in the Devil, and in all that are his, Evil doing: an evil conscience: sense of Gods wrath upon them: and wrath in them, against God and his Saints, Comper.

So Gen. 15. 30. but in Exod. 12. 40. it's faid, the fojourning of the Children of Israel, who dwelt in Egypt, was four hundred and thirty years. The accord must be by distinguishing of the beginning of the account, which if takenfrom Abrabam's leaving of Chaldea, and receiving the first promise of Canaan, which or crautes, and receiving the first promise to be four hundred his sojourning did begin, then it falls right to be four hundred and thirty years, as it is in Exodus; but if it be taken from Abraham's seed, i.e. from the birth of Isaac, which was in the bundredth year of Abraham's age, and so thirty years after his departure from Chaldea, then it must consequently be thirty years less from thence to the departure out of Agypt; and fo that will accord exactly with the four bundred years here, and in Genesis, which are assigned to his feeds sojourning in a firange Land ; by this ftrange Land both Canaan and Egypt being to be understood; for the Chaldee Paraphrase, and the generality of the Jews, determine the space wherein they lojourned in Agppt, to be but two bundred and ten years, only Josephus defineth it to be two bundred and fifteen. Who this Zacharias was, is questioned among learned men, and it falls out there were very many of the name, to each of whom fome part ofthis character here fet is compatible. There was Zachury the Propher, the Son of Barachiah, Zech, 1. 1. A second Zacharias was the Father of John the Baptist. There was a third, and he a Propher, and flain by the people, at Jossh's command, 2 Chr. 24, 19, 20, 21. There is yet a fourth Zacharias, and he (faith fosephus lib 4. c. 18.) vids Bapexx, the Son of Baruch, which might well be all one with Baruchi-de, as we know Ananze is with Ananze, and he was flain by the Fewish Zelots , de uerw me ieew, in the midst of the Temple, and that to immediately before the fiege at Ferulalem, that as Christ mentions Abel the first that was flain, fo he might very fitly mention this Zacharias also, as the last instance of their bloudiness upon holy and eminent men. This I find to have been pitch'd on in the Spanish Bible of Cyprian de Valera, where upon this Verse is this Note, Whom ye killed, i. c. shall kill; He fortelleth the History of Zacharias the Son of Baruch, which Hospins de bello Judaico describeth, whereby the measure was filled up, Vers. 32. for which Feru-salem was destroyed. prayer, as is alledged, The just Gol of Heaven and Earth, look down upon our miseries, and help us. This, or such like was the prayer of Azor his Father, requesting God for the defence of his people; and according to his prayers, and the prayers of other godly ones, the Lord was looking in mercy upon his people, and began to remember his covenant made to Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob; and therefore he of his infinite mercy was haftening the coming of his Son Jefus into the World, in whom all his diftressed people were to find mercy. The occasion of this prayer arose from the vexations and troubles they suffered under the Kings of Syria and Egypt; which waxed more and more grievous and intole. rable unto them.

Laftly, that all this do proceed and come from fincere and diffinct knowledge of the Lord, Gal. 4.18. Rom. 10.3. 1 Cor. 19. 31.

Zeal is a mixt affection of grief and anger, flowing from love; for what a man loveth earneftly, he is careful to fee it honoured, and grieved when it is dishonoured.

The forts of it are many; for according as our love and grief are, so is our zeal. If upon the right object, moderate, in due measure, it causeth a zeal which is holy and spiritual otherwife, if our love be inordinate, it begets a carnal and inordinate zeal

Sometimes the Zeal is not upon the right object, and then it may be great, but it cannot be good; as the zeal of Here-ticks, who compais Sea and Land to make one of their own

Sometimes it is on the right object, not in due measure either too cold, which is remission and flackness; or too hot, which is superstition. Of these saith the Apostle, Rom. 20, 2, 1 is a real not according to knowledge; a zeal which tenderh to death, not to life.

Itis threefold.

1. Divine ; which is twofold; one without knowledge, 2 nother with knowledge.

The first was in Paul, Gal. 1. 14. Act. 8. 9. It is errone ous, being made void of the knowledge of the Will of God. yet having an opinion of true knowlegde of his Will; hence the mind is inflamed with a love of the glory of God, and indignation against those it thinks (though fallely) to be his Enemies; fo that it tends wholly to the hindering, yea, ruine of them.

B. There

Zeal with knowledge, hath the knowledge of the Will of God going before it, as the cause thereof, and it burneth with a love of the Word of God, and hatred of those things that hinder or feem to hinder the course thereof; and it is either seasonable, as in Moses, Phinebas, Elias, Divid, Pial. 119. 139. and in Chrift: Or unseasonable, 23 of divers mentioned by Eufebins, lib. 4. c.15. who not being urged by any Enemy, offered themselves to the fire.

2. Humane geal is twofold, One of duty, another agrinft it.

I. Honeft...

Heneft, as of the Husband not enduring a companion in his love; hence the word is transferred to God, who is faid to be jealous, when he will admit of no corrival in his worfhip; or when he will not endure that the foul of man, being Marryed unto himself, should go a Whoring after other gods;

I. Unto grace; which is an ardent defire of the knowledge of piety and true Religion, as was in Nicodemus and

2. Unto life; this causeth a man that he will not yield to Cornelius. any thing that may deprive him of Chrift, but rather to fuffer death, or any torment, then to be drawn from the truth of Christ; as in Stephen, Act. 7.2.

S.condly, against Duty, is the filthy desire of lascivious and wanton men, who have given themselves to wantonness, and luft, instead of the true God, Eph. 4. 17. and honest Matrimony; this geal grieves the Spirit, and drives it out of

2. Unto death, as with them who burn with hatred 2the heart. gainft the true worship of God; as in Cain, the Scribes and

3. Devillifb; as of Turks, Fews, and Papifts, who are driven by the spirit of Satan to oppress the truth; but true is he who hath said, the gates of Hell shall not prevail against it, Mat.

To guide it aright, these virtues must still attend qeal : 1. The light of knowledge, that it may both begin and end

3. Sincere affection, abandoning all by-respects, besides the glory of God, desire of mens good, and conscience of the good duty it fels. Taylor on Tit. 2. 14. P. 529, 530. See Mr. Samuel Ward his Coals from the Attar.

A Prophet, the Son of Barachiah, Zech. 1. 1.
Touching febojada the Father of Zechariah ( whose Son was stoned with stones at the commandement of the King, 2 Chr. 24. 21, thought it to be the Zecharias mentioned by cur Saviour, Mar. 23. 35.) It's alledged for the justification of this opinion, that he had two names fignifying the same thing in effect. For Jehojada signifieth, acknowledged of the Lord; and Barachiab, bleffed of the Lord. By which last name he was called, because of the holiness of his life, and his excellent merits both of the Church and Commonwealth. And although his death was long before Christ, yet it is by him imputed to the fows living in the time of Christ. because they resembled the wicked lives of their Ancestors. Mat. 23. 35. Luk. 11. 51. Where he seemeth to speak of this, rather than any other of that name, because at his death he uttered these words, The Lord look upon it, and require it, 2 Chr. 24.22. As the blood of Abel is said to cry unto God) (requiring revenge upon Cain) Gen. 4. 10. 10 that which Chrift faith of Zachary flain by the Jews between the Porch and the Altar, agreeth well with that which is spoken of the Son of Jehojada, 2 Chr. 24. 21. Yet fome refer these words of Christ to Zachariah the Prophet, whose Fathers name was Barachias, Zach. I. I, 7. and the manner of Christs account seems to perswade to it; who reckoning up the innocent blood shed by the fews, begins at Abel, and ends in the last of the holy Prophets; whereas after the other Zechariah, many other Prophets and holy men were put to

Moreover, it feems to be without warrant to tern Jebojada's name into Barachias, or to lay Zechariab's Progenitors were Iddo, Barachies, febojada, feeing no fuch thing appears in the Genealogie.

Again, it feems not unlikely that that Zechariah, 2 Chr. 24. 20. was flain in the Court of the people, after he had preached unto them, ffanding in a high place among them, as the 20. & 21. verses seem to import. But the Zechariab in Matthew, was flain in the Court of the Priefts, viz. between the Temple and the Altar, whither (being affaulted) he ran for Sanduary, as others before him had done, though they were no Priefts, as it may be Zachariah the Prophet was

Some refer it to the Father of John the Baptist, whom Some reter it to the Father or your the Dapthir, whom (they fay) the few killed for the refimony he gave of Christ come in the flesh; and of Mary, after her bringing forth of Christ, remained a Virgin. So that Christ meant so name the first Martyr Abel, and the last, to wit, this Zecharish newly then killed. But this last is without ground. The first opinion is most agreeable to the truth, seeing it is no where recorded that the Prophet Zechariah was flain, as Christ faith, seeing the Temple and Altar were not repaired in his time. Many Greck Copies have Kararims, others Kararaio, and Karraio. The word comes not from the name of a place, as a maregrouser, but from 77, and 78 Po geal, from whence is Karrai, which with the Greek termination G, is directly Karrai G, a Zelote. The Syriack hath 2111, Kenge, which icems to be the version of Karrai G. The matter is clear that this Simon, Luk. 4. 15. & Act 1. 17. is called Znaornis, the Zelete, and Karriths and Znawths are as persectly the lame as Cephas and Harge, Tabitha and Abongs, and the like. Of these Zelots to tamous among the Jews, many mentions we have in facred Writ. Phinees is looked on as the first to whom that name was compatible, for his slaying the unclean pair in the very fact, which Mattathias in his dying speech calls his (nhows (nhoy, having Zeal, I Mac. 2.54. And after him Elias in his apprehending the Prophets of Beal, and flaving them, I king, 18. 40. which again Mattathias calls Canadau Cinon volus, baving Teal of the Law, verf. 58. And then was this Mattathias, and his Son Fudas, &c. which without any external calling took upon them to deftrey the Profaners of the Temple, and were thereupon called Maccabees, which signifies Zelots. In after-times, from these beginnings, great distempers and flames broke out; a multitude of men under pretence of being zealous for the Law, and honour of God, under the name of Znace-Tai, Zelots, committing all the riots and bloodiness imaginable, as folephone mentioneth. These imposed this name of Zelot upon themselves, as if their undertaking were good and honourable, and not (as indeed they were) emulous of the worft deeds imaginable, and even out-fripping all. These (as a Sect having its Original from Judas Gaulonita, and Sadducus) were pernicious to the fews, and did not only accelerate their total destruction, but withal made it so milerable and calamitous, when it came. There is little doubt, but that this Simon was himself one of this Sect, and so called by that name Simon the Zelot. Dr. Ham. on Mat. 10. 4. Annor. c.
